USE TO BACK ETO; GET NEW ETERANS' BILL

aucus Pledges 154 Supporting Votes.

enty-four senators yesterday sent a al robin to President Hoover pro- ing spinal a special session to con- London naval treaty. (Story on ge 4).

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Republicans numbering more than the required one-third of the Senate membership pledged themselves today to sustain a veto by President Hoover of the world war veterans' announcement late tonight of this result of a caucus of Republican house leaders climaxed the day's developments in the veterans' legislation situation. Early in the day the President issued another denunciation of the bill as passed yesterday by the senate, which is expected to go to the White House in substantially the same form within the next 48 hours. The President condemned the bill as "not bad legislation" and "no more in the interest of the veterans than in the interest of the taxpayer."

The pledge to sustain the veto was given by 154 Republicans and was contingent upon assurance by administration leaders that immediately after the veto is sustained a substitute bill making liberal provision for disabled veterans will be rushed through both houses of congress.

New Bill Cuts Cost.

The proposed substitute, as presented in tonight's meeting, would provide for pensions ranging from $12 to $40 per month and would cost about $400,000,000 the first year, or a little more than half the 102 million dollar annual cost of the bill passed by the senate.

The cost would mount within three years to $800,000,000, as compared with the maximum of 225 million dollars in the senate bill.

The pensions would be available to disabled veterans, whether their disabilities are due to war service or not, provided their incomes are not in excess of income tax exemptions for single and married men. The senate bill provides for compensation for service-connected disability rather than pensions and extends the prescriptive date for a long list of disabilities which might be attributable to service up to Jan. 1, 1930.

Statement Follows Caucus.

A committee composed of Speaker Longworth, Representative John Q. Tilson [Rep., Conn.], majority leader; Representative Royal C. Johnson [Rep., S. D.], chairman of the house veterans' committee, and Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.], like Mr. Hoover a war veteran, framed a statement which was made public shortly after midnight at the conclusion of the caucus, which lasted for more than three hours. The statement was as follows:

"The Republican members of the house met in conference this evening in order to prepare plans to assure the enactment of a satisfactory veterans' bill during the present session of congress. The conference, having considered and studied the defects and merits of all proposed legislation, has accepted a bill whereby all service-connected disabled veterans will receive compensation under the existing law and all disabled veterans failing to have service connection will be properly cared for in a new pension law carrying the salient features of the Knutson bill.

Announce New Program.

"In the event of a presidential veto of a bill which will take care of only the disabled veterans and ignore 150,000 totally disabled and needy men, this bill will be immediately taken up by the house. Speaker Longworth having stated that he would immediately recognize Representative Royal C. Johnson, chairman of the veterans committee, for that purpose.

"Therefore the plan is that within an hour after the presidential veto is announced—more than a sufficient time having indicated their willingness to sustain it—this well thought out plan, providing for all disabled veterans, will be considered and passed by both houses.

"It is further agreed that there shall be no adjournment of congress until the final enactment of veterans' legislation."

The total house membership is 435. If all are present 146 votes would be required to sustain a veto. The 154 votes to furnish eight more than are necessary.

President Hoover, in his statement which was issued at his semi-weekly press conference, again made it evi-

DOCTORS FEAR UREMIC POISON IN AGED PONTIFF

VATICAN CITY, June 24.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI., who is 73 years old and who has occupied the throne of St. Peter since Februrary, 1922, today was reported ill with acute bladder trouble and threatened by the possible setting in of uremic poisoning.

The report threw Vatican City and Roman official and social circles into consternation this evening. Officially, the first tendency was to discount the gravity of the illness because of the pontiff's vigorous appearance at services in St. Peter's on Sunday for the canonization of two saints. The pope went through the four hour ceremony with strong gestures and a firm resonant voice.

Takes Turn for Worse.

Consultation with doctors and members of the pope's intimate suite later revealed the fact that he had been not a little troubled in recent weeks, and that Sunday's services, which had been preceded by a thorough drainage, had proved a more severe strain than was anticipated.

The pontiff's condition is understood to have taken a turn for the worse yesterday and today, chiefly because he insisted on receiving numerous pilgrims from Spain and Italy.

In Vatican circles it is pointed out that, for a man who has just turned 73, difficulty in ridding the system of poisons is not uncommon. This would be particularly true of such a man as Pope Pius, who, after an active outdoor youth and middle age, has been constrained to a sedentary life.

Doctors Order Rest.

As sultry summer weather already has oppressed Rome and Vatican City, the pope's suite is taking extreme precautions to guard his health. The doctors have counseled rest.

Meanwhile, many Canadian and American pilgrims converging upon Rome for the canonization of the eight North American martyrs next Sunday are dismayed at the propects of the pope's having to forego pronouncing the decree of canonization. This function he cannot delegate to any other church dignitary, no matter how high.

The same holds true for a secret consistory next Monday and a public consistory on July 3, when he is to create five new cardinals.

ENDED ROMAN QUESTION.

Pope Pius XI., 261st pontiff, was born at Desio on May 31, 1857. He was ordained a priest on Dec. 20, 1879, appointed apostolic visitor to Poland in 1918, appointed nuncio in 1919, and promoted to the titular see of Lepanto in 1919.

He was created a cardinal June 13, 1921. He was proclaimed to that office five days later and promoted to the archdiocese of Milan as cardinal archbishop at the same time. He was elected pope Feb. 6, 1922, and crowned six days later.

He achieved the title of "the pope of the conciliation" when, after two years of negotiation with the Mussolini government, an end was obtained of the "Roman question," which for 59 years had restricted the pontiff's realm. The agreement restored the Vatican's temporal power, with rule over Vatican City.

TEST COURT RIGHT TO JAIL MEN FOR ALIMONY FAILURE

Federal Judge George A. Carpenter will be asked today to rule on the power of the state courts to jail husbands who fail to pay alimony. The question was raised in a habeas corpus petition filed yesterday in behalf of Oswald Mackie, a realty broker.

Mackie was sentenced to the county jail for six months by Superior Court Judge Charles A. Williams for not paying $700 back alimony. His counsel, applying for a writ of habeas corpus, contends his sentence for contempt of court is equivalent to imprisonment for indebtedness, a violation of the federal constitution. "Failure to do an impossible thing" reads the petition, "cannot be construed as contempt of court."

Mackie is represented by Attorneys Ronald Oldham and Barratt O'Hara.

U. S. Drys Raid Park Casino, Ritz Carlton

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—A dramatic raid by suave and gentlemanly prohibition agents netted 15 prisoners tonight in the fashionable Central park Casino following an earlier raid in the Ritz-Carlton hotel which had resulted in the arrest of eight employés.

Ten of the men taken at the Casino were patrons, most of them in evening attire. Sidney Solomon, owner, and Rene Black, maitre de hotel, two of their bell captains and their head waiter also were arrested.

Among the 500 guests in the Casino were, according to Rene Black, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Princess Obelinsky, a Mr. De Cordova, a Cuban government representative, and an attaché of the Brazilian government.

Dressed Like Business Men.

A number of the agents dressed like tired business men out for an evening of pleasure were scattered through the dining hall of the casino watching the other guests make merry. Cover charges here are said to be $15 per. According to their account, they kept an eye on all the patrons who had liquor on top of their tables or in buckets under the tables and singled out the ten who were arrested.

It was a dramatic scene. The band was playing soft music under the glowing lights and well dressed men and women were circling the floor when one of the agents arose and whispered to the band leader.

Apologizes For Raid.

"Gentlemen," said the agent, "I regret very much that I must do this."

The band leader spoke up.

"These men," he said, "are federal agents and I must ask you all to leave the floor and return to your tables."

A hush fell on the room and for a moment not a sound was heard but the clink of dishes.

Ten or twelve more federal agents came through the door. To the newcomers the erstwhile "patrons" pointed out the tables at which they said they had seen liquor passed or hidden. The agents walked to the tables and quietly informed the men in the party that they were under arrest. The women were not taken.

The raid at the Ritz-Carlton was carried out in exactly the same manman as the one at the Casino. The agents sat at the tables watching for men and women who were passing liquor or who had liquor under the tables and then rose at a signal from one of their number to announce their identity and make the arrests.

Thomas Sarvas was booked as manager of the Ritz-Carlton and charged with allowing his employés to sell liquor. Charles Williams, elevator starter, was arrested for selling liquor. According to Federal Agent O'Connell, who led the raiding party, Williams sold him a quart of champagne and a pint of whisky.

RAID CAPONE BREWERY.

Federal prohibition agents last night raided a large brewery at 4534 Cottage Grove avenue, said to belong to the Capone interests, containing nineteen 3,000 gallon vats and with 95 barrels of beer ready to deliver. Two men were found racking the beer. They gave the names of Steve Kasper and Paul Martin. The equipment was valued at $100,000 by C. Edson Smith, deputy prohibition administrator.

Planes Worth 2 Million Burn at City Airport

Three hangars and fifty airplanes, valued at more than $2,000,000, were destroyed early this morning by a fire of undetermined origin at the municipal airport, 63d street and Cicero avenue.

The flames were visible for miles and attracted hundreds of late driving motorists. A 3-11 alarm brought apparatus to the scene from stations throughout the south and west sides.

Blast Precedes Fire.

Witnesses said the first intimation was a flash and then an explosion in the forward part of the Universal Air lines' double hangar, housing twenty ships. Its frame roof burst into flame. Adjoining it was the Gray Goose line's hangar and next it the Stout line's hangar. These were the next to go. Hangars of other lines were saved by wetting the roofs.

The heaviest loss is said to have been sustained by the Universal line, most of whose ships were Fokkers with tri-motored Liberty engines, and valued at $55,000 each. The other two hangars housed smaller planes.

Night Crews Escape.

Night crews were sleeping in their quarters in the rear of each of the hangars, but had ample opportunity to escape. They fought the flames with buckets and hose until the arrival of the firemen. They were unable to save any of the planes.

The fire started at 1:30 and was not under control until 2:40.

3 Wisconsin Boys Drown When Motor Boat Upsets

Eau Galle, Wis., June 24.—(AP)—Three boys drowned in the Eau Galle river here tonight when a small motorboat, carrying seven lads, sank under its heavy burden. Those drowned were Leslie Larson, 14; his brother, Conrad Larson, 12, and Clarence Harmon, 19, all of Eau Galle.

Woman's Body Found in Lake; Mouth Bound

Her mouth bound with adhesive tape and her head tightly wrapped in cheesecloth, the body of a woman believed to be Mrs. Ida May Galbraith, 1318 Bryn Mawr avenue, was taken from the lake at the foot of Hollywood avenue early this morning. Identification was made from papers found in her purse, which had been strapped to her with the same kind of tape with which her mouth was fastened.

At Anderson's undertaking establishment, 5525 North Clark street, where the body was taken, the belief was expressed that there was no water in the lungs, indicating that she had not died from drowning.

Murder, Police Believe.

Police from early investigation were of the opinion that the woman had been slain and her body thrown into the lake. They pointed out that if it were suicide the woman had taken a strange method of ending her life.

The body was found by Edward Monaghan, 1218 Eddy street, who sighted it a few feet off shore. He notified the Summerdale police.

In her pocketbook were several papers bearing her address and telephone number as well as the name of Mrs. Lettie Stephens of the same address. Mrs. Stephens told the police that Mrs. Galbraith was a practical nurse, about [illegible] years old. Shortly after 6 o'clock she had started from her home to go to the Uptown theater. Mrs. Stephens had not heard from her after that time.

Bruise Over Eye.

Examination at the undertaking rooms revealed an abrasion over the right eye, that police said probably had been caused by a blow. This, in connection with the use of the adhesive tape, led them to incline to the theory of murder, although no motive could be discovered from either Miss Stephens or Mrs. Galbraith's brother, R. S. Galbraith, 4003 Greenview avenue, whose name also was found in the purse and who was summoned by the police to identify the body.

Mrs. Galbraith was dressed in expensive clothing. At times, Mrs. Stephens said, she had been in ill health, although she seemed in cheerful spirits when she left home last night.

DOWIE'S SON TO DEFEND YOUTH AT SMOKING TRIAL

Smoking, banned in Zion by the late Dr. John Alexander Dowie, founder of the church there, is to be defended by his son, the Rev. A. J. Gladstone Dowie, Friday morning in the court of Justice of the Peace Paul M. La Rose. He will appear as counsel for Francis Hurst, 19 years old, arrested three weeks ago as he was puffing a cigarette on the station platform of the North Shore electric line. The Rev. Mr. Dowie will contend that Policeman G. C. Miller, who seized Hurst, is guilty of false arrest because the state Supreme court ruled ten years ago that the Zion anti-smoking ordinance was unconstitutional.

Wrecked Plane Is Found by Utah Sheep Herders

Cedar City, Utah, June 24.—(AP)—Two sheep herders today reported they had found the wreckage of a plane and a folded parachute bearing the name "Maurice" in rocky waste country eight miles south of here. Belief was expressed that the plane may be that of Maurice Graham, air mail pilot who was lost last Jan. 10 while flying from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City. The wreckage was discovered by Ward Mortenson, 19, and Elburn Orton, 10.

Flying Blindly and Battling Fatigue.

BULLETIN.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 25.—(AP)—"Due east" was the bearing given Capt. Kingsford-Smith of the trans-Atlantic plane Southern Cross at 2:26 a. m. (Chicago daylight time) by the Cape Race radio station. This indicated that the Australian flyers had been circling the southeastern tip of Newfoundland for some hours in an endeavor to establish their position.

BULLETIN.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 25.—(AP)—The following was received from the Cape Race radio station at 2:15 a. m. (Chicago daylight time):

"At 6:50 G. M. T. (1:50 Chicago daylight time) first got plane and gave him bearing; signals very weak."

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune and the New York Times.]

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—Four gallant but weary flyers, under Maj. Charles Kingsford-Smith, were believed to be flying southwestward early today along the Nova Scotia coast, en route to New York, after more than twenty-four hours in the air in the Southern Cross, in which they took off late Monday night from Port Marnock, Ireland.

The New York Times radio station, which had been in direct touch with their plane throughout their perilous flight westward over the Atlantic, received a message at 12:20 a. m. [11:20 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time, Monday], after which for more than three hours the plane's wireless was silent. At that time Maj. Kingsford-Smith said he was trying to get bearings to enable him to push onward through the fog to his goal.

Last Direct Message.

The last direct message from the plane came just after the plane's flyers had reported seeing a faint streak of dawn in the northern latitudes when they were within 160 miles of Cape Race.

Afterwards communication between the Southern Cross and the New York Times radio station was interrupted while John W. Stannage, the wireless operator in Maj. Kingsford-Smith's crew, sought to get a radio bearing from land stations on the North American continent.

Then, shortly before 3 a. m., the steamship Transylvania reported through the radio station at Chebucto station, Nova Scotia, that she was assisting the airmen.

Hears Plane's Signals.

It was considered possible that in the thick fog over the terrain the Southern Cross had passed Cape Race unsighted and was pushing southwest in the direction of Sable island, about 480 miles away from Cape Race. At 12:45 a. m. New York daylight saving time [11:45 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time, Monday] the radio station at Sable island reported having heard the signals of the Southern Cross.

Also the Marconi wireless station at Glace Bay shortly after midnight was in communication with the plane. According to messages received there, the plane was flying at an altitude of 4,000 feet, with the fog reported as being exceptionally heavy, but the three Wright Whirlwind motors that had driven her across the Atlantic were working well. The Cape Breton Flying club wirelessed Capt. Kingsford-Smith offering him any assistance which might be necessary and also giving him the location of their flying field.

The fact that the plane was out of touch with the New York Times station for the unusual period of more than three hours did not occasion any alarm. It was considered probable that Stannage was busy seeking radio directions from land stations. Stannage had admitted in one of his earlier messages that the monotonous roar of the three motors on the plane "makes you tired" and he was having a "dickens of a struggle to keep awake."

Wireless Operator Sleepy.

Another probability was that after Maj. Kingsford-Smith had decided on the course he would follow along the eastern seaboard of the American continent the "dead tired" wireless operator was snatching a few winks of sleep

The Canadian press also reported that either the Minnedosa or the Transylvania was in communication with the Southern Cross, according to advices received by the Chebucto Head station, Nova Scotia. One or the other of the steamers—the Chebucto Head station was unable to determine which—told the Southern Cross she would keep her searchlight up.

Weather reports showed heavy fog still prevailing off the Newfoundland coast, but at Sable island the weather was fair and clear with a light southwest wind.

Off New Foundland Tip.

Although Stannage, who had kept the world informed of the progress of the ship since it started on its hazardous flight, reported at 11:02 o'clock last night that the plane was only 100 miles from the tip of Newfoundland, a later message, laboriously tapped out by tired fingers at 12:29 a. m., gave the position of the Southern Cross as 160 miles away, indicating that a corrected bearing had been received.

In that hour Maj. Kingsford-Smith, his co-pilot, Everet Van Dyk, and their navigator, Capt. J. Patrick Saal of the Irish Free State army, had been flying blind, trying vainly to communicate with shore to get new bearings.

It was believed that Maj. Kingsford-Smith had overestimated the progress he had made when the earlier message was sent. The air was cluttered up with interference.

Due in New York at Noon.

As the giant Fokker roared onward toward New York where it will arrive about noon today if all goes well, its motors spat flame through their exhausts so that Stannage reported "motors ringed with flames," a condition common in night flying.

The Southern Cross, whose engines have never failed in 73,000 miles of flying from California to Australia and from Australia to England, had done well on her first day out over the sea which so many brave aviators have attempted to conquer only to meet defeat. Averaging between 80 and 100 miles an hour against head winds and through fog, she was only 250 miles from Cape Race at 8:17 last night, Stannage reported.

RELIEF PLANE READY

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 25 [Tuesday].—[Special.]—At an airport in Scarboro, Me., a relief plane from New York was awaiting a call to refuel the Southern Cross, flying from Ireland to New York, if necessary, later in the morning. The refuelers are equipped with enough oil and gasoline to replenish the ocean plane's tanks and permit it to continue to Long Island if too much of the original store is expended in blind flying off Cape Race.

Due to the fact that the sun rises very early in the latitude in which the plane now is flying the flyers reported at 11:15 [E. S. T.] that they had sighted the "first break of dawn."

The hour of arrival which was set for as early as 10 o'clock today will be delayed. If all goes well after dawn, the Southern Cross should be able to make the last leg of the trip and arrive at Roosevelt field by noon.

Averaging between 80 and 100 miles an hour against headwinds and through fog, her commander chattily said, "No, thanks," when he was invited to land at Harbor Grace. A little later the Southern Cross reported that she was having difficulty in raising stations only a couple of hundred miles away, but the messages continued to pour into the Times' radio room uninterrupted.

The Southern Cross rode into headwinds, but cut through them at a fair speed.

Stannage reported he had had "a jolly decent supper and a cup of coffee royal." The "royal" made it good, he jested, "for it was Jameson's Irish, seven years old."

Radio Never Silent.

Eight hundred miles out of Ireland the Southern Cross began to chat with American radio stations. Previously she had maintained wireless communication with stations in England and Ireland. As the great three motors roared past the half way mark of her ocean crossing, the long dash of her unbroken carrier wave became audible to listeners in Halifax. Toward mid-afternoon the New York Times and CHICAGO TRIBUNE were receiving chatty messages direct from the Southern Cross.

The ship's messages indicated she was maintaining an average altitude of about 2,500 feet since rising from the sand runway at Fort Marnock, north of Dublin, at daybreak [10:47 p. m. Monday, eastern standard time]. For a time out in the mid-Atlantic the lightened ship averaged 105 miles an hour, according to a check on the different positions she gave.

MESSAGES RECORD FLIGHT'S PROGRESS

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune and the New York Times.]

New York, June 24.—The following messages were received by the New York Times radio station direct from the Southern Cross, telling the progress of the flight from shortly after the take-off. The time given is New York daylight time in each case:

TUESDAY.

2:21 a. m.—All O. K., but strong head winds.

2:40 a. m.—Head winds very strong but conditions good.

2:55 a. m.—Southern Cross just passed over a number of trawlers. Very cheerful to see other people out in this waste. Everything going O. K. Air speed 100 miles an hour. Revolutions 1,730 per minute. Altitude 500 feet. Air temperature, 48 degrees. Estimated ground speed, 75 miles an hour.

3:21 a. m.—Have just been having look at chart with Paddy. Seems everything is breaking our way. Plenty of ships on course from which to confirm our position by direction finder.

3:25 a. m.—Hope to be working steamships Albertic, Minnedosa, and Melita around midday. Getting hungry. Guess I'll have a nibble.

4 a. m.—Head winds still fair strength. However, we tanked for a 38 hour supply of petrol.

5:06 p. m.—The wind has dropped a bit more. Now about ten miles an hour.

5:20 p. m.—Latitude 49.50 N., longitude 38.20 W. Speed 85.

5:52 p. m.—Rather a cheerless sundown. We are just at the fringe of the Grand Banks and it is overcast and bleak, with fog almost down to the water. However, we are not cheerless ourselves, so it's all O. K.

7 p. m.—Very successful with bearings. Here's position ½:30 p. m.: Latitude 49.04 N., longitude 40.40 W. True course 252. Speed 80.

7:03 p. m.—Lovely sky over this inimitable sea of fog.

7:05 p. m.—Remarkable, the whole world is a peculiar blue and the sunset has flashed vivid red glare in the bowl of blue fog.

7:14 p. m.—It's getting quite dark now inside cabin. Cheerful glow of radio tube, with its cherry red plate, makes cabin look cozy. To complete the effect I think I'll wrap myself around another sandwich. Bi [stand by.]

7:26 p. m.—Well, that was a jolly decent supper, I think, for this ship. A snappy chicken sandwich and a cup of coffee royal. The coffee wasn't so good, but the royal is Jameson's Irish, seven years old. Not dark yet, but we're fairly high. Nearly 4,000 feet.

7:34 p. m.—To Clyde Devinna, Hernet place, Hollywood: Be along to see you shortly, Clyde, old man. Regards from mid-Atlantic.—John.

7:50 p. m.—Getting darker now. The outboard motors are shrouded in blue haze and each exhaust port has faint pink flame feathering from it. Very uncanny.

7:52 p. m.—The lettering on the starboard wing is embossed in gold as the last faint radiance from the western sky touches it.

8 p. m.—Must try and get a bearing [radio bearing] from Cape Race, N. F., now. Bi.

9:09 p. m.—At 8:17 p. m. the latitude was 48:12 N., longitude 45:5 W. True course, 254. Distance to go to Cape Race, 250.

9:11 p. m.—All quiet above the fog bank at 3,500 feet. Everybody happy and all O. K.

9:47 p. m.—Sorry to be such a long time. Can't raise VCE [Cape Race radio] on 600 meters under 300 miles. VCE, VCE, VCE [calling VE]. Please answer, 600 meters.

10:18 p. m.—Can't raise VCE [Cape Race radio] yet. Please take fifteen words: To Harbor Grace airport—Many thanks, but endeavoring to reach American territory before landing.

[The foregoing message appears to indicate the reception on the plane of an invitation to land at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

10:20 p. m.—Back again 600 meters. Get D. F. [direction finder].

11:02 p. m.—We're within 100 miles of Cape Race and cannot get the radio station there to respond to our call.

11:08 p. m.—We are calling all stations. Doesn't look as if we shall get a bearing just when we want it.

11:09 p. m.—We should be over Cape Race in another hour.

11:10 p. m.—Standing by, 600 meters now.

OTHER MESSAGES RECEIVED.

The following messages received from the Southern Cross at various points in England and Ireland fill in the chronological gaps in the record as received by the New York Times' radio station. The time on all the following messages is London daylight saving time, five hours later than New York.

5:10 a. m.—Will endeavor to be on your wave all the flight except when we occasionally have to go on 600.

5:30 a. m.—Splendid take off. We are still over land and can see the Atlantic. Southern Cross now 2,000 feet up, traveling seventy miles an hour.

12:50 p. m.—Air ministry, The Hague. Sending regards to Dutch people. Everything O. K.

1:03 p. m.—Keep on sending stuff over, as we are getting it well.

1:12 p. m.—To Anthony Fokker: Hello, Uncle Tony. Old Southern Cross is as good a Fokker as [word missing] and running perfectly. Hope to see you in New York tomorrow. Regards from Van Dyk and Kingsford-Smith.

1:15 p. m.—Slightly overcast. Ocean like mill pond. If conditions were always like this ocean flying would be easy.

3:30 p. m.—Atmospherics bad, wind south, fog. Going up. Pining for a smoke.

3:04 p. m.—Fading badly. Air speed 105 miles per hour.

3:15 to 3:25 p. m.—Flying blind in fog.

4 p. m.—Latitude, 51.90; longitude, 29, north-northwest.

4:05 p. m.—Direction finding. Still in fog.

4:13 p. m.—Still in fog. Bumping.

4:20 p. m.—Fog all gone.

[Reception interrupted for 5 hours by Rome broadcasting station.]

11:55 p. m.—Position 49 north, 40.4 west. Course 254. Speed 80 miles an hour.

AVIATORS ONLY 98 HOURS FROM FLIGHT RECORD

John and Kenneth Hunter, piloting the endurance plane, City of Chicago, at 2:40 o'clock this morning completed their 322nd hour in the air and were on their final 100 hour lap toward the world record of 420 hours established last year at St. Louis.

In notes dropped to their brothers, Walter and Albert, who are in charge of refueling contacts, they expressed confidence in the plane's ability to set a new mark. So well has the Wright J-6-300 motor functioned that they have not had to change a sparkplug.

They have already broken their own record of 262 hours, established last year at Sky Harbor with the same ship they are now using, but which was then known as the Chicago We Will.

SOUTHERN CROSS BEARS A LETTER FOR PRESIDENT

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

DUBLIN, June 24.—Capt. Kingsford-Smith is carrying with him on the Southern Cross a letter from President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State to President Hoover which Smith hopes to deliver in person at the White House. The contents of the letter were not revealed.

Just before starting the flight Smith wrote out a message which was cabled to his fiancée, Miss Mary Powell, in Melbourne, Australia. The message read:

"Safely on our way—home."

DIES AFTER FALL ON STREET.

It's called the Greatest Food Discovery in 25 Years

Delicious new cookie created by a group of doctors to guard child health

MOTHERS . . . here is a new cookie of vital importance to your child's health. Created by scientists at the Universities of Wisconsin and Toronto, who have studied the food needs of over 7,000 children!

These scientists saw delicate, not-quite-well children transformed into sturdy youngsters aglow with health . . . just by adding more vitamins and minerals to their daily food.

Why some children are not sturdy

Yet they knew this buoyant health is denied a great many children. Simply because, no matter how much mothers coax and plead, it's often impossible to get children to eat enough of the necessary healthful, wholesome foods.

Create delicious new cookie

And so that all children might have this opportunity for better health, these scientists took from wholesome foods the important food elements children need the most. And combined them into a delicious, crisp cookie which is called "SunWheats."

No more "coaxing to eat"

Consider what this new discovery means to mothers! By the old way children had to be coaxed, urged . . . often forced to make sure they ate all the necessary foods. Now with SunWheats harmful "coaxing to eat" is unnecessary. Give children only as much wholesome foods as their appetite craves. Then make up for any lack by allowing them to have all the SunWheats they want. Start at once to give your child the benefit of this added protection. Your grocer has SunWheats.

...LS OF ROTARY ...K FOR AMITY ...ONG NATIONS

...ace Aids in Good Will ...ld, President Says.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

...ion and invention are remaking ... world so radically and rapidly ... the problem of human relations ...ssed its character and become ... urgent question of the day. ...is in human relations that Ro... International seeks to function ...structive, world-wide way. Its ...ding philosophy, the changing ...ds of the times, and practical ...s for the future were discussed ...sident M. Eugene Newsom of ..., N. C., at the first plenary ... held in the Chicago Stadium ...day.

Human Relations Problem.

"...e rapid has been the progress ...e realm of transportation and com...unication," he said, "that today hu... relations rather than human sep...ations have become the most ur... problems of the day.

"If Rotary's increasing purpose in ... world cannot find unforeseen im...ns in the sudden realization of the ...unity of mankind, then human ...ions must seek the answer ...ugh motives other than friend...

"We must, therefore, recognize that ...ances no longer exist, that either ...dship or the opposing forces are ...e manifested in the relations of ...ations. Our real problem, there... lies not in finding the purpose ...Rotary's existence or in doubting ...e ability to transmit that motive ...the communities throughout the ..., but we are limited only by the ...ity of choosing that vehicle or ...e of conveyance which can serve ...e medium through which friend... can be interpreted and applied.

The Task for Rotary.

"Our task is one of administration, ...of being able to preserve for Ro... International the unity of pur..., without prohibiting the neces... channels which make possible ...nal and local adoption, a way ... permits freedom to accept with... sacrificing national pride and loy... under traditions and customs that ...e to be respected.

"Almost unbelievable is the prac... ...ly certain use of television in con...ion with the approaching World's ... in Chicago. There it is proposed ...e great exhibitions interesting to ...e people of Spain will be flashed ...r 3,500 miles of land and sea and ...e perfectly visible to natives of Ma... in their capital city.

"Within recent months it has been ...dicted that sounds originating hun...ds of years ago may be distinguish... to the human ear."

President Newsom suggested that ...time even our thoughts may be ...mitted to readable records, and ...old of some of the things that ...ary has done in a practical way to ...g the nations together.

Good Will Envoy in Ar.

"A past president of Rotary Inter...tional flies from Cuba to British ...duras, Nicaragua, San Salvador, ...Mexico to carry Rotary's message ...Fellowship and understanding.

"Rotarians from the countries bor...ing on the Pacific gather together ...der the southern cross to explore ...s of developing international un...standing.

"An English speaking director of ...ary International learns Spanish ...at he may carry Rotary's mes...e to Spanish speaking people in ...e own language.

"A smallpox epidemic raged in a small city in a Central American republic. Vaccine was needed. The Rotary club was appealed to and through the coöperation of teh international secretariat the needed vaccine was rushed to the city by airplane.

"During the month of May a young Mexican student took the receiver off the hook at Vera Cruz and spoke to an American student in the city of Chicago. By sponsoring this conversation Rotary drew the youths of two nations together.

Phone Across Ocean.

"In an hour of time a club in California can be in communication with another club in Australia through the telegraph and cable.

"On May 19 Viscount de Casa Aguilar, director of Rotary International, telephoned from Madrid, Spain, to Santiago, Chile, and conveyed a message of Rotary to Honorary Commissioner Eduardo Moore and others.

"In March of this year Honorary Commissioner John Innes of Leeds, England, addressed a gathering of business and professional men at Nairobi, Kenya colony, Africa, concerning the aims and objects of Rotary. In January of this year Special Commissioner Carvallo broadcast a Rotary message from Bogota, Colombia. We now find ourselves communing through the radio with the cities of the world."

Visions Future Expansion.

While the majority of Rotary clubs at present are American, the time may not be far distant, Mr. Newsom pointed out, when other nations, through the program of extension and expansion, may find themselves in the majority among the delegates. The convention is the supreme authority.

He spoke of the area administration resolution before the convention, by which it is hoped that the clubs of Great Britain and Ireland will be united more closely with Rotary International. He urged support of this plan as making possible a more well defined and coördinated procedure within a given area.

Paul P. Harris, president emeritus, the Chicago lawyer who is known as the founder of Rotary, appeared at the convention during the morning and made a brief speech of welcome. His more formal speech was read for him, as he has been in ill health.

"Can anything good come out of Chicago?" he asked. "The primitive conception of Rotary came out of Chicago, and then a vision opened up, a vision of an immeasurably expanded and useful Rotary founded on friendship, that attribute of mankind which had so nobly proved its dependability on the proving ground of Chicago.

"Rotary must be creative and not merely receptive. The genius of big business men must be directed to the task of finding new ways and means of making practical the term 'the brotherhood of man.' Rotary's internationality places us in a splendid strategic position for participation in activities not yet dreamed of in a manner adapted to our present program."

Hoover Sends Message.

President Hoover sent a message to the convention. This read:

"I send cordial greetings to the convention of Rotary International. The impressive attendance from so many countries is renewed evidence of the spirit of international good will which is so significant a development of our times and in the encouragement of which Rotary has played such a useful part."

The formal business sessions began yesterday. There were more than one hundred occupational assemblies under way during the day. One interesting session was the vertical session of the woolen trade men. They were all there, from the sheep raiser to the retail clothier, to find out how their problems looked to each other. If this session bears the fruit expected it will be followed by other vertical assemblies.

Thornton to Speak Today.

The place of modern industry in improving international relations is to be discussed today by Sir Henry W. Thornton, president of the Canadian National railways, who arrived yesterday.

Many dinners were given during the evening. The most important one was the reunion of Latin-American Rotarians, at which Viscount de Casa Aguilar presided. The Ohio and Illinois governors were entertained by their state clubs.

ROTARY SESSION A MELTING POT FOR MANY RACES

Guests Tell Impressions of Chicago Visit.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Fish distributor and architect, real estate dealer and professor of medicine; Malayan and Mexican, Panaman and Norwegian—they assemble and chat together under the cedar branches of the "House of Friendship," headquarters of the silver jubilee convention of Rotary International in the Stevens hotel.

An afternoon spent in the "overseas lounge" yielded conversations with as cosmopolitan a group as could be found anywhere, perhaps.

J. F. Habrich, who with his wife, Marie, came from Osijek, Jugo-Slavia, where he sells real estate, is on his first visit to America. He finds the chief difference between Americans and his people is that the latter "take life more easily, tasting it slowly instead of swallowing it in a few mouthfuls."

U. S. Drinking Puzzles Him.

"It is hard for me to understand, now, why Americans get drunk at clubs and at parties. In our country we drink a little with each meal, but I never see any one get drunk."

R. Alvarez Espinosa, Mexico City, architect, spoke of the beauty of Chicago's skyscrapers, saying that America has thrown off foreign influence and is creating her own form of architecture. Señor Espinosa recently was awarded a commission by the Mexican government to make a design for completion of the National theater, begun in Mexico City in 1905 and abandoned in 1910 with the beginning of the revolution.

Discusses India's Problems.

Herbert E. Watson, Calcutta, managing director of the Statesman, which has the largest circulation of any newspaper in India, said: "The cure for India's troubles is to get more of the intelligentsia of India interested in politics. But the Indian is a sensitive creature and easily offended and the politician needs the hide of a rhinoceros."

"Gandhi," he said, "is not a leader, but a tool; an idealist who believes the world too civilized and wants to see western civilization dropped, to go back 100 years." It is Gandhi's asceticism, his starvation of himself, his life, comparable to that of a Hindu saint, which appeals to the illiterate masses, Mr. Watson said.

Father of Girl Flyer.

John William Johnson of Hull, England, a fish distributor, preferred to talk about his daughter, Amy Johnson, British aviatrix, who completed a flight from London to Australia on May 24. She will leave Australia next week and sail to Egypt, from where she will fly to London, he said.

Michael Devlin of Dublin, newsprint paper distributor, the only representative of Ireland at the convention, has been deluged with invitations since he arrived in Chicago. He came prepared to disbelieve the reports which represented Chicago as a city of casual bloodshed, where hotel guests were likely to be peppered by machine guns as they slept. Ireland, also, he said, has suffered from grossly exaggerated reports.

Tells of Ireland's Gains.

"Ireland 'has turned the corner' and I think it is in better condition than most the countries of Europe, and Great Britain," Mr. Devlin said. "The River Shannon now generates elecertcity for the hamlets in a state project. What Ireland needed was a little brightening up. And the state has installed a huge broadcasting station in the Midlands. Our industries are in better condition than they've ever been, and a government loan of 6,000,000 pounds [about $30,000,000] last month was oversubscribed by 730,000 pounds in a week."

Dr. Francesco Lasagna, professor of medicine in the University of Parma at Parma, Italy, president of the Italian delegation, is here with his wife, Margherita. He spoke of America's strides in medical research and of Premier Mussolini's interest in research. Italian universities lack money, however, he said.

Jaro Podhajsky of Prague-Hostivar, Czecho-Slovakia, a steel furniture manufacturer, governor of the 66th district of Rotary, said western Czecho-Slovakia has become industrialized after the American manner.

ARREST DOCTOR FOR SEX TALK IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., June 24.—[Special.]—What is expected to be a second "Tennessee monkey case" is developing in the arrest here of Dr. M. Sayles Taylor, son of the famous whisky manufacturer of Kentucky, on the charge of operating a disorderly house The arrest is the result of Dr. Taylor's presentation of a lecture, "Love and Marriage," in a local theater.

Dr. Taylor will fight the case into the highest courts. The Civil Liberties league is expected to take up the battle, and it was indicated that Clarence Darrow, famed criminal lawyer of Chicago, will come here, if necessary, for the court battle.

Dr. Taylor, nationally known lecturer on sex matters, was arrested shortly after noon as he was going into the Maison Blanche building to broadcast his usual daily talk. He was lodged in parish prison, where he was held for bonds of $1,000.

Home Guards Kill 1 Bandit, Capture 3 Bank Robbers

Toledo, Ill., June 25.—[Special.]—A 60 mile chase for four bandits, who this morning held up the First National bank of Noble, ended tonight in the capture of three of them and the killing of the fourth when he engaged in a gun battle with a posse of 200 farmers and deputy sheriffs.

The posse had surrounded a woods three miles north of here in which he and a companion were hiding. The two attempted to flee down a road, but were halted. One surrendered peacefully, but the other drew a gun and started shooting, wounding Everett Woolen, Toledo druggist. The posse then opened fire, killing him.

Pursued for Hours.

The four had been pursued since 9:30 in the morning, when they engineered the holdup. George Teller, assistant cashier, and Charles Coen, teller, were alone in the bank when they entered. They covered them with sawed off shotguns and scooped up $10,000 in cash and $30,000 in negotiable bonds. They overlooked $50,000 in the vault.

Noble, a town of 1,000 population, some months ago organized a home guard for just such contingencies. Members include all the business and professional men along its single main street. As Coen elevated his hands he pressed a button in the floor, which sounded an alarm in the Bank of Noble, across the way.

Fired On by Home Guard.

The holdup was completed in five minutes. But as the bandits left the bank they beheld men with rifles, shotguns and revolvers aiming at them from a score of doors and windows. The first volley greeted them as they raced for their car.

Nine miles away, Chief of Police Fred S. Newton of Olney had received word of the holdup. When the bandits' car roared through his town he and his men gave chase. They were within overhauling distance of it, when the bandits turned into a barn, letting the pursuers pass them.

However, further north, Sheriff David Glenn of Cumberland county was on the job. He had hastily organized posses and enlisted the aid of officials from five surrounding counties. All roads were patrolled. The bandits caught sight of a line of men barricading the road and leaped to the ground.

A squad of Sheriff Glenn's deputies, hiding nearby, arrested two of them without a struggle. Two hours later the third man surrendered and the fourth was killed. Most of the loot was recovered.

Visit Two Iowa Banks.

Strawberry Point, Ia., June 24.—[Special.]—Three men this afternoon held up the First National bank here and obtained $11,000 after forcing three women employés into a vault.

24 SENATORS JOIN IN PROTEST OVER TREATY SESSION

Send Round Robin to White House.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Insurgency against the program of the Hoover administration to rush the navy limitation treaty to ratification in a special session of the senate took a new turn today.

The President received in his mail this morning a petition signed by 24 senators, urging him to abandon the plan of a special session and allow consideration of the treaty to be postponed until after the November elections.

This is the round robin with the circulation of which Senator George H. Moses [Rep., N. H.], president pro tempore of the senate, was prominently identified. It is said to be signed not only by Senator Moses and other opponents of the treaty, but by many senators who expect to vote for the London agreement, but are averse to hasty action thereon.

No Vacation in 18 Months.

The principal argument submitted to the President was that the senate has been in almost continuous session since the first week of December, 1928, as a result of which fact senators are worn out with their public duties. In addition many senators it is asserted, have been compelled to neglect their rivate affairs.

The petition suggests that it is asking too much of the members of the senate to require them to remani in Washington for a special session at this time.

Whether Mr. Hoover will be moved by this appeal remains to be seen. So far he has refused to budge from his declared intention of convening the senate in special session on the treaty unless it should be acted upon in the present session, which it now seems likely will come to an end next week. The President's professed reason for desiring immediate ratification is that it will stabilize the navy programs of the powers and clear the international atmosphere.

Johnson Has Another Theory.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson [Rep., Cal.], leader of the treaty opposition, said in his radio speech that the President's real reason for rushing the pact to ratification is to make political capital for the administration in the congressional elections. The President, according to this theory, has been unfortunate politically of late, has suffered a loss of popularity, and is hard up for an accomplishment to revive his drooping political fortunes.

Administration leaders indignantly repudiate such imputations and assert that the President's insistance on immediate action on the treaty is a prudent course to defeat plans of the opposition to get consideration of the pact postponed until the short session next winter, in which it would be possible to defeat the measure by a filibuster.

OCHS WARNS FEELING OF HOSTILITY AGAINST U. S. IN EUROPE GROWS

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Among the passengers who arrived today on the White Star liner Majestic was Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, who returned from a two months' tour of England, France, Germany and Czecho-Slovakia, accompanied by Mrs. Ochs.

Commenting on conditions in Europe as he had observed them, Mr. Ochs said:

"I fear we do not appreciate the seriousness of the feeling of irritation against the United States throughout Europe. There is a popular superstition that we are attempting an attitude of dictation, while we are assuming a position of isolation; building high tariff barriers against the interchange of commodities.

"Just after the war Europe was exhausted, prostrate, and on the brink of financial and economic ruin, and consequently in sore need of help and in no position to quibble about terms. They were almost supplicant and most considerate of the United States, almost to the point of obsequiousness, but they are getting rapidly on their feet and gaining hope, strength, and becoming assertive."

LIVES WITH TWO WIVES IN SAME HOUSE 4 MONTHS

Omaha, Neb., June 24.—(AP)—Dan Hitchen lived peacefully with two wives under the same roof for four months, but last night a domestic tiff landed his marital difficulties in jail.

Today police undertook an investigation of the strange marital arrangement under which Hitchen and his first wife both remarried without first obtaining a divorce.

Mrs. Hitchen the first, it developed, married Albert Friedberg, a cigar salesman in Chicago. Two years ago after leaving Hitchen here, she wrote telling hi mthat she had obtained a divorce and had remarried.

Meanwhile Hitchen had married Miss Naomi Bowles, 22, of Cabool, Mo., without obtaining a divorce.

Last February "Mrs. Friedberg" returned here and took up her abode with her husband and his second wife. All was rosy until last night, when Mrs. Hitchen No. 2 told police the original Mrs. Hitchen sought to oust her from the home. She called police, and both Mr. and Mrs. Hitchen the first were arrested.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE FROM EX-PROFESSOR

Mrs. Ethel Kesner Synnerdahl, 644 Wrightwood avenue, yesterday won her long fight for a divorce from Joseph M. Synnerdahl, former professor of astronomy at Loyola university. Superior Judge Sabath ended the contested suit after Attorney Thomas Green, counsel for Synnerdahl, failed to appear in court when the case was called.

When informed that Attorney Green was ill, the judge ordered the hearing to proceed without him, remarking that the attorney had caused postponements three times previously by his failure to appear. Synnerdahl said he could not present the case and the judge ordered the decree drawn up for his signature.

Mrs. Synnerdahl charged cruelty.

LEGISLATURE TO PASS 31 STRAWN TAX BILLS TODAY

Both Houses Expected to Adjourn by Afternoon.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—Everything was put in shape today to adjourn the special session of the Illinois general assembly tomorrow with its two major aims—the submission of a tax amendment of the constitution to the voters and the enactment of financial relief legislation for Chicago and Cook county—both accomplished.

This situation was brought about late today when the senate advanced to third and final reading of all of the bills on the Strawn citizens' committee program. At that stage, since they already have been passed by the house of representatives, they are ready for final passage and it is predicted they will be on their way to Gov. Emmerson by noon tomorrow.

Lincoln Park Bond Issue.

With the constitutional amendment adopted last week this will clear the calendars of both houses except for two measures. One, the bill for the establishment of an artillery range at Camp Grant, was advanced one stage in the house, where it will be up for final action in the morning. The other, a Lincoln park $1,000,000 bond issue measure, is too far behind for enactment if the plan for the sine die adjustment is carried out.

The outstanding fact about the senate's action today was that the lead in the movement for immediate approval of the Strawn bills was taken by the two downstate members of the special committee which spent the week-end going into the needs of the local governments of Chicago and Cook county. They were Senator Victor P. Michel of Peoria and Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield.

"I went to Chicago believing these bills should not pass," said Michel, "but what I learned convinced me most clearly that there is an acute emergency there.

"Cook county must not be anarchy ridden. We must not let the red flag be hoisted on the Chicago city hall. Government is in the balance.

"The situation is so full of dynamite that what the next month or six weeks will bring forth unless this relief is granted is beyond the power of any man's imagination."

Senator Searcy followed with similar remarks and Senators Adolph Marks and James J. Barbour of Cook county urged the passage of the Strawn measures. On the roll call upon advisement the vote was 28 to 0. There were four Chicagoans who did not vote—Senators Thomas J. Courtney, Herman J. Haenisch, Joseph Hendel, and Harry W. Starr.

Camp Grant Bill Sure.

Votes on eight amendments to the bill to permit the purchase of less than the 6,000 acres prescribed in the $600,000 appropriation of last year for the creation of an artillery range near Camp Grant were taken during this morning's session of the house of representatives. All the changes demanded were defeated and proponents of the measure said the roll calls showed sufficient votes for the passage of the bill in this chamber tomorrow. It already has passed the senate.

Opposition to the measure of the 6,000 acre limitation was led by Representative, Leroy M. Green and David Hunter Jr., both of Rockford, the county seat of Winnebago county, in which Camp Grant lies. Their arguments centered around local objections to the range, the opportunity to save $600,000 of state funds, and the absence of military necessity for the range.

Green introduced seven of the amendments. His first effort was to repeal the appropriation voted last year. His talk at this point included an attack on the military qualifications of Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commanding officer of the Illinois division.

Keehn Praised by Igoe.

"If the Thirty-third were called to duty today," he said, "the first thing the government would have to do would be to replace the commanding general."

Representatives Thomas J. O'Grady and Michael Igoe of Chicago, in reply, praised Gen. Keehn's qualifications and his work for the state's troops.

"Many another man has been O. K.'d by the federal government if he had the wires to pull," answered Green. "And it is true the governor is given the last word on the purchase of the property, but if you pass this up to him you'll give him one of the hottest babies he's ever handled, one that may cost him the friendship of 98 per cent of the people of the district."

On roll call this amendment was defeated by 25 to 80. Seventy-seven votes are required to pass the bill tomorrow.

WHITE HOUSE PUTS ALL WINE AND RUM GLASSES IN STORAGE

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Several hundred fancy colored wine and whisky glasses which once played an important rôle at White House dinners and receptions in prohibition days have been gathered together and packed away by members of President Hoover's domestic establishment.

Inquiry today disclosed that the glasses had been placed in storage. They represented the tableware of many past administrations.

The glasses have been taking up space in the White House china closets for years. They are stored in packages of dozens so they may be counted more easily at the annual inventory.

DIAL TELEPHONES DIVIDE SENATORS FROM VIRGINIA

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—Virginia's two Democratic senators have broken on the dial telephone question.

Senator Glass' resolution calling for removal of the new phones from the senate wing of the capitol and senate office building has just been complied with.

Saying he preferred both dial and manual telephones in his office—the dial apparatus for his secretary—Senator Swanson offered a resolution today to authorize reinstatement of the dial phones where senators want them.

THOROLD DOCKS WITH BIG CARGO OF NEWSPRINT

Tribune Vessel Is Latest in Lake Craft.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The latest word in lake craft, THE TRIBUNE'S motor vessel Thorold, the first Diesel engined, oil burning ship of its type on the great lakes, brought its first cargo of newsprint into the port of Chicago last night and docked where the Pottawattomies in early days beached their canoes near the Kinzie home.

It brought a cargo of 3,362 rolls, or 2,290 tons, of paper from THE TRIBUNE'S mills at Thorold, Ontario, part of which will be at the breakfast tables of TRIBUNE readers this morning serving up the news of the world. The arrival of the new ship had a modernist setting. Off to the south of Grant park bombs and rockets flared, and lighted airplanes flitted across the sky like fireflies as the Thorold turned in the river and backed into its berth under its own power. Tugs bellowed a welcome and power boats dashed by with horns blowing, to which the new ship replied with blasts on its horn which sounds like a magnified moose call.

Start Unloading Cargo.

A battery of flood lights went on at THE TRIBUNE dock, the two hammer head cranes ran out, the tarpaulins were stripped off and the hatches raised, and the cargo of newsprint began to pour from the belly of the ship. It was put on trucks which dashed to the Tribune Tower, around the corner a block or so away where the maw of the presses was gaping, always hungry for print.

Three or four acres of spruce land on the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the experts estimated, were fed out of the boat into the presses for this morning's TRIBUNE readers.

The crew stood on deck and watched the fountain playing in Grant park, the flights of army and navy planes and the war show pyrotechnics as the customs officers made their visit. The lights burst out in the Chicago skyline and capped the towers with silver and crystal crowns, and as the first load was hoisted from the hold, army flyers made two flashlight pictures of the Tribune Tower by night, flashes which made spectators blink for ten minutes.

"Big Night on the River."

Capt. George Ferguson remarked, "It seemed to be quite a big night on the historic Chicago river."

The Thorold, which was built in Hull, England, and its Diesel engines in Switzerland, left the Tribune paper mill at Thorold on the Welland canal Friday night. Its running time was approximately 100 hours for about 900 miles. It is expected to lower this time. The cargo of 2,290 tons will last less than a week, the presses are that voracious. All the newsprint used by THE TRIBUNE is to be brought to Chicago by water during the 1930 season, giving a first hand object lesson in water traffic.

Other Boats Carry Logs.

Two other boats, the Chicago Tribune and the New York News, are in the pulpwood traffic, bringing the logs from the timberland on the Gulf of St. Lawrence to the mill at Thorold, and the new flagship of THE TRIBUNE fleet, the Thorold, completes the transportation chain, feeding spruce logs into printing presses. New handling devices by Fred Vander Horst, foreman of the Chicago paper warehouse, have reduced injury in handling the paper rolls.

The Thorold was launched on Jan. 18 at Hull, Eng., and was christened by Miss Eileen Battle of Thorold, who was selected through a personality contest conducted in Thorold and St. Catherine, Ont. The ship arrived in Montreal on May 21, with a cargo of china clay from Cornwall, Eng., part of which was delivered in Milwaukee on June 1.

Takes Cargo of Grain East.

The vessel then went to Fort William and took a cargo of grain to Buffalo and loaded up at Thorold with newsprint. It is a new type vessel of special design for carrying paper. It is 256 feet long and has a 43 foot beam, and the sides are built up above what would be ordinary deck level to let it carry enough rolls of paper to sink the ship to the depth at which it gives most efficient service.

It is expected the Thorold will require about 20 hours to discharge cargo, and today it will be at the dock on the north side of the river, 309 East North Water street.

BREAK GROUND FOR $5,000,000 HIGH SCHOOL

MOVE FIRST DIRT FOR NEW LANE TECH BUILDING

Celebration Marks Start of Construction.

Amid the fanfare of trumpets and the rolling of drums from bands of Chicago high schools a steam shovel bit into the thirty acre prairie at the southwest corner of Addison street and Western avenue yesterday afternoon and the first step was taken in the construction of the new $5,000,000 Lane Technical High school.

Ten thousand persons, students of Lane, their parents, civic leaders, and interested spectators, cheered as Ald. John J. Hoellen [47th], chairman of the council school committee, pulled the lever to lift the first shovel of dirt.

Parade Around Field.

A parade several blocks long, led by Lane band, circled the field. Other schools represented by bands were Tilden, Crane, Austin, Lake View, Senn, and Schurz. The cadet corps, commanded by Lieut. Col. E. S. Pearsall, instructor, and Cadet Col. Fred Schultz, stood at attention as the Lane band played "The Star Spangled Banner," while a color squad raised the flag.

Schoolboard officials and civic leaders spoke from a bunting draped stand with a public address system carrying their voices to the crowd. Grant Beebe, principal of Lane Technical High school, introduced each speaker.

"Lane has taken a place in the educational system that is national and international," Mr. Beebe said. "We long ago outgrew our facilities, and now our needs have been answered. The place a technical school fills in American civilization is shown by the records of our graduates."

Part of Larger Scheme.

William Saltiel, city attorney, represented Mayor Thompson.

That Lane Technical High school is part of a larger scheme for a better Chicago was emphasized by President Caldwell of the board of education and Supt. William J. Bogan. The school will present a cafteria plan of education, they said, in which the individual differences of students will be acknowledged. Ald. Hoellen told of the work of men who made the dream of a great technical school possible.

Franciscan Student Is Drowned in Quarry Pool

Martin Berles, 24 years old, a student at the Franciscan Fathers college in Lemont, was drowned last night when he went swimming in a stone quarry pool near the institution. Berlec had no relatives in this country. He had come from Jugo-Slavia a year ago to attend school.

SWANSON SHOWS 7 VICTORIES IN SUPREME COURT

State's Attorney Swanson yesterday announced that his assistants had successfully prosecuted seven of eight appeal cases before the Supreme court during the June term. He received the report from Assistant State's Attorneys Edward Wilson and John Holman, who are assigned to the brief department of his office.

"The fact that my assistants have been thoroughly instructed on how to avoid the pitfalls of what is called reversible error is responsible for the good showing of my staff," said the prosecutor. "My knowledge obtained while on the bench as to what instructions should or should not be given in criminal cases and other errors to which assistant prosecutors are apt to resort to obtain convictions helped out considerably in training the members of my staff. We have our staff trained now so that about the only question before the Supreme court on appeal is on a question of fact rather than of law."

Among the cases affirmed was that of Lafon Fisher, Leonard Shadlow, and Leon Brown, colored murderers of Martin French, a bank guard. They are to be executed. Julius Becker must serve a life term for robbery, while two old time members of the Saltis gang, Earl Herbert and Stephen Oswald, must serve terms for burglary and assault to murder.

TWO SENTENCED AS DRY VIOLATORS.

Springfield, Ill., June 24.—(AP)—Charged with violation of the national prohibition act, Jack Riddle, Madison, Ill., and Arthur Barry, Quincy, were sentenced today in federal court. Riddle was fined $250 and given two months in the city prison. Barry was fined $300 and sentenced to six months in the city prison.

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN TO DECREASE JULY 4 FIRECRACKER TOLL

In an effort to enforce the city ordinance prohibiting the sale and display of fireworks, two local organizations yesterday started a campaign to interest the public and enforcement agencies in decreasing the casualties from illegal Fourth of July celebrations.

The Chicago Safety council yesterday placed twenty thousand posters in schoolrooms, on the beaches and on the public streets. Each poster carries an illustration and the caption, "The firecracker's bite is worse than its bark."

A bulletin issued by the council directs attention to the city ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks except by licensed dealers, and prohibiting their use except in public displays under supervision of the fire department.

The City Club of Chicago sent a letter of protest to law enforcement officials demanding that the fireworks law be obeyed.

DAUGHTER READS FATHER'S BOOK ON LAW; IS FINED

Miss Anna Catherine Hurd, 20 years old, 932 Edgemere court, Evanston, appeared before Police Magistrate Harry H. Porter in Evanston yesterday charged with speeding. Policeman Hubert Kelsch testified he arrested her because she drove 36 miles an hour in Forest avenue. Miss Hurd was about to protest against such a law when the justice spoke.

"This offense," he said, "is in violation of section 223 of the motor vehicle law, as set forth in Smith and Hurd's 'Revised Illinois Statutes.'"

"Let me see the book," the defendant said. She read the law and then remarked, with a sigh, "Father helped write the book, so I guess it must be right."

She paid a fine of $5 and costs. Her father is Attorney Harry Boyd Hurd of the law firm of Pam & Hurd.

AUTO GAS FATAL TO YOUTH.

Richard Nelson, 16 years old, 6716 Chappel avenue, died yesterday at the county hospital of monoxide gas poisoning. He collapsed on Saturday morning in the garage at his home after he had started his automobile motor while the garage doors were closed.

DOCTORS STAMP VETERANS' BILL AS COMMUNISTIC

Dispatch Views to Hoover and Congress.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—[Special.]—President Hoover and the congress of the United States were memorialized today by the American Medical association on the subject of war veterans' relief, the physicians taking the stand that the policy of furnishing hospital care to the ex-soldiers borders on communism.

A formal resolution stating these decided views went forward to the President this afternoon.

Assembled here in its eighty-first annual meeting, the association also glossed over the matter of prohibition, some aspects of which it considered in secret session this afternoon.

President Elect Dr. William Gerry Morgan of Washington delivered parts of an address dealing with medicinal liquor which were deleted from his open remarks yesterday, but the printed statement handed to reporters after the meeting noted that "no action was taken by the house of delegates except to discuss these questions in order to clarify the views of the members concerning them."

Dr. L. E. Schmidt Arrives.

Other events during the day included the arrival from Chicago of Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, the celebrated surgeon, whose dismissal from the Chicago Medical society because he was indirectly affiliated with the Public Health institute, which advertised its social disease treatment, evoked a storm of criticism.

After the dismissal order was upheld by the Illinois State Medical society Dr. Schmidt's appeal to the judicial council of the American Medical association is still pending. He had expected that it might be given out at this meeting, but will return to Chicago tomorrow after learning that no announcement will be made during the convention. When a decision has been reached it will be sent to both Dr. Schmidt and the Chicago Medical society.

Dr. Schmidt would not discuss the merits of his case before the final decision from the high court of medicine is given, but he did make clear his purpose in coming to Detroit.

"It is no more than fair that I should have been here in case they wished to talk with me further," he said.

O. K. Medical Bureau.

The delegates today adopted a resolution which would create a semi-lobbying group of five physicians to furnish to members of congress information relative to medical science and conditions. A national bureau of economics to study the costs of medical care and another committee to consider the matters of motion pictures of medical and public health subjects, with a view of taking the lead in the regulation of standards on such pictures, particularly talkies, were also provided for.

Tonight, twenty past presidents of the association were presented with gold medals at a banquet in the Masonic temple. There, President Elect Morgan delivered a long address, which among other things fell in line with yesterday's remarks of President M. L. Harris of Chicago, who rapped the tendency toward "socialized" or governmental medicine.

Dr. Morgan chose to approach the subject under the term of "Paternalism":

"There has never been a time in the history of our republic," he said, "when the medical profession has had greater need of seeing the whole and looking to the end. Indeed, certain paternalistic tendencies of the times give the same challenge to the story foundations of our system of government, and the problem which the medical profession is facing in reality forms part of the great problem which the nation as a whole faces—the slow moving, stealthy, vigor sapping specter of overlordship which, for want of a better term, we shall call paternalism."

Citing the fact that motor vehicle fatalities in the United States in 1929 numbered 31,000, or 93.8 per cent of the total traffic fatalities, the house of delegates agreed that every individual driving a car should be required to present to a motor licensing board in each state a certificate from a board of physical licensure in each county, or a similar board for several counties, consisting of two general practitioners and one ophthalmologist, which shall meet at stated intervals and have final decision in all cases.

BOY SCOUT LOST 4 DAYS SLIDES DOWN 10,000 FT. MOUNTAIN TO SAFETY

Riverside, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—Harold Johnson, twelve year old, lost on Mount San Jacinto, remembered his Boy Scout training, and today, while 150 searchers vainly combed the district, he trudged into Snow creek fish hatchery at the foot of the mountain.

For four days the boy crawled and slid down the side of the 10,000-foot mountain, which has been scaled only three or four times in the memory of nearby residents. He was smiling gamely, despite bruises and tattered clothing, when he knocked at the door of the hatchery and asked for bread and milk.

The boy had not eaten since last Friday when he became lost from a party of scouts hiking up the mountain.

"I just went to look at something," Harold said, "and when I tried to go back I got lost." But he didn't get panicky. He started picking his way down the deep ravines. At night he slept under rocks. He found drinking water in streams and didn't bother about food.

After resting at the hatchery the boy was taken to Banning. There his overjoyed parents joined him.

HOUSE TO UPHOLD VETO; GET A NEW VETERANS' BILL

Night Caucus Pledges the 154 Required Votes.

dent that he would veto the bill if it reached him in the form passed yesterday by the senate, but indicated he would approve a more moderate measure.

"In this problem we are dealing with sick and disabled veterans," said President Hoover. "Except for some marginal cases the government has long since generously provided for the men whose disabilities arise from the war itself. These cases before us, except for a comparatively small number of marginal ones, are in reality men disabled from incidents of civil life since the war.

"The whole matter is one that must be approached in a high sense of justice and utmost sympathy. But this veterans' bill is just bad legislation. It is no more in the interest of veterans than in the interest of the taxpayer. The financial burdens, the amount of which has again been reaffirmed by Gen. Hines [and they were even increased by senate amendments yesterday] do constitute a serious embarrassment to the government and to the country, but there are other objections even more serious.

"Wasteful, Discriminatory."

"This bill selects a particular group of 75,000 to 100,000 men, makes provision for them in the most wasteful and discriminatory way conceivable and entirely neglects the equal rights to help over 200,000 more veterans who are likewise suffering from disabilities incurred in civil life since the war. Futhermore, the very basis of the bill sets up an untruthful, and according to our physicians, a physically impossible 'presumption' and predicates its action upon this. For instance, a man who has served a few days in the army in his home town or in camps, and afterwards enjoyed 7 to 12 years of good health, then after all that time incurs an affliction, is thereby declared to have a disability due to the war and is to be compensated or pensioned on the same basis as the man who suffered in the trenches and from actual battle. It contains many other discrepancies and injustices.

"These things violate not only the fact but the very integrity of government. It is a sad thing for our government to set standards of subterfuge to our people. It is unfair to all other veterans who have become disabled in civil life. It is unfair to the whole spirit of the world war veterans.

"Emergency Cases Cared For."

"There are emergency and marginal cases which I have insisted should be cared for and which will be cared for, and there is the additional necessity for us to study the broader subject exhaustively before we plunge.

"The American Legion presented a bill designed for emergencies which has had the earnest support of many administration members, but their views have been overridden. The sensible thing is either to take care of these emergencies or marginal cases and then soberly determine future action, or alternatively, to make the beginnings of sound action now on such foundations as will contribute to the ultimate settlement of the problem with real justice to veterans and with generosity in solution for the future. Such action can be taken within our present financial resources, and I believe the nation would support that."

Representative J. E. Rankin [Dem., Miss.], one of the active supporters of veterans' legislation, issued a statement questioning the administration's estimates of the cost of the senate bill.

"Instead of the bill costing 102 millions of dollars a year, a close analysis will show that the outside expenses of the measure for the first year will be under $74,000,000," said Mr. Rankin. "The indications are that the bill will cost between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 a year. It will relieve the suffering of 77,000 ex-service men who are now uncompensated. Many thousands of them owe their disabilities to their services during the world war. Especially is this true of the tubercular men."

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Maj. Newbold Morris, member of one of the oldest American families, retired lawyer, financier, and president of the Metropolitan club, who died Dec. 20, 1928, left an estate appraised today at $7,321,066 gross and $6,942,798 net, of which $4,972,100 was in securities and $1,674,281 in real estate.

Maj. Morris gave his personal property, $10,000 in cash, and a life interest in the residue, to his widow, Helen Schermerhorn Morris, 1081 Fifth avenue. Upon her death it goes to her three sons, George L. K. Morris, Stephanus V. C. Morris and Augustus Newbold Morris.

AUTOPSY FAILS TO SOLVE YOUNG LAWYER'S DEATH

An autopsy yesterday failed to reveal the cause of the death of Millard M. Skome, 27 year old attorney, 7301 Sheridan road. He died early yesterday at the Billings Memorial hospital without regaining consciousness after being stricken in his home Monday morning. Deputy Coroner Henry M. Laffan continued the inquest until July 9 to permit of a chemical analysis of the vital organs.

The young attorney's father, Leo Skome, 1337 Fargo avenue, a retired real estate operator, told the police he had been summoned to his son's apartment early Monday morning and found him unconscious.

Aristocrat to DENVER

It is the West's great train.

Its installation six months ago marked an important advance in rail transport. And today it stands as a symbol of Western achievement.

"The Aristocrat" implies new travel luxury—expressed in matched Pullmans; adjustable seats done in pearl-green and rose; a reading lamp in each berth; cushion-spring mattresses.

Its lounge car has the appointments of a town club . . . radio, sun-porch, buffet, soda fountain, card room, magazines, newspapers.

The deluxe chair car is a revelation in non-Pullman equipment. Deep-cushion seats, reclining chairs that can be turned to face the windows . . . artistic merit in design and decoration . . . electric fans, and a surprising new feature . . . radio reception during the day and evening. The seats are free.

It is the West's great train.

POLICE INQUIRY DROPPED, ALCOCK IS READY TO ACT

Stormy Session Is Held by Aldermen.

"The policeman who isn't ready to face all the dangers of his occupation has no place on the force," said Acting Police Commissioner Alcock last night in announcing his own readiness for whatever comes in the battle with organized gangsters.

He had received praise during the day from members of the city council committee on police. The department as a whole had been lifted from under clouds of suspicion and ridicule in a proceeding termed a whitewash by one alderman. The proposed investigation of "police connivance with criminals" was terminated by the aldermanic council.

Shakeup Order Nearly Ready.

"We can go ahead now," Alcock stated. "Here's the order"—lifting a rubber-banded roll of twenty or thirty sheets of paper. "If I have time to dictate for two or three hours tomorrow to a stenographer I'll have the right policemen in the right places. The fight is on."

The council committee decided an investigation of the police by the aldermen would be a waste of time and money, and was unnecessary. If any investigating is to be done the state's attorney and grand jury should do it, they concluded. The investigation had been proposed by Ald. Arthur F. Albert [42d], following the murder of Alfred Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter, and accompanied by demands that Commissioner Russell and Chief of Detectives Stege be eliminated.

Ald. Walter Morris [18th], was appointed by Ald. Thomas J. Byrne [35th], as chairman of a subcommittee of the police committee, of which Ald. Byrne is chairman, to make recommendation on the police inquiry. The discussion, in part, follows:

Ald. Morris: "We should consider ways and means to get results and not to tie a can to any one man. The mere calling of a policeman here as a witness would place an odium on him."

Ald. John Toman [23d]: "Commissioner Alcock is able to conduct his own investigation and the state's attorney and grand jury also have powers we have not. Meeting here and putting on a grand stand play doesn't mean a thing."

Ald. R. R. Jackson [3d]: "He is the best chief the city has ever had and if he is not hampered conditions will really be made good."

Ald. Frank H. Landmesser [38th]: "I think he should be given a fair chance."

Ald. Toman—"I never saw an investigation which bore fruit and the taxpayers always paid dearly."

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th.]—"The department has been shaken as never before. If Commissioner Alcock is allowed to go on he will get the crooked copper and he won't bother with the civil service commission. It will be a case for the grand jury and the Criminal court."

Ald. Landmesser.—"I suggest that we get the coöperation of the courts and that we ask Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court to come here and advise us."

Ald. Frank E. Konkowski [31st.]—"Judges always render their decisions on the evidence presented."

Ald. Bowler.—"Not always."

The subcommittee then returned to the room where the full committee was in session.

Ald. Morris.—"The subcommittee has decided the best method of action will be for us to place this inquiry in the hands of other law enforcing agencies and to coöperate with them."

Ald. Albert—"The whole thing can be described in one word—'whitewash.' The whole city council directed this committee to make an inquiry and now this subcommittee tells us we will hamper the police department. No one here is going to stop the investigation. We have the power and authority and we are morally obliged to go head. We can call in any policeman and if he refuses to testify we can run him to hell out of Chicago. People have been telling me 'such and such a police captain borrowed money from me a few years ago and now he owns a building costing thirty or forty thousand dollars.' We are the ones to go ahead with this."

Ald. Toman—"It will cost too much of the taxpayers' money and the state's attorney can do a good job."

Ald. Albert—"All you antagonists are exaggerating the point of putting people under oath. We should drive ahead openly, publicly, in town meeting if necessary and find out what the public should know. I'll be frank to say I have no confidence in the state's attorney."

Chief Justice Olson arrived at the meeting at this point.

Ald. Bowler—"Judge, we want to know why sixteen gangsters arrested with guns in their possession were discharged in the Municipal courts?"

Judge Olson—"Most of those cases showed that the guns were in the rear seats of automobiles in which the defendants were riding. The Supreme court ruled that defendants in such cases must be discharged. I don't approve of this ruling but I must abide by it."

Ald. Albert—"I have information that in some of these cases the police officers tesified falsely—gave the hoodlums a break."

Judge Olson—"If the court should find that to be true the officers would be guilty of perjury and would be punished."

Ald. Albert—"Do you think the courts would be harmed by an investigation?"

Judge Olson—"No, I don't. But I have known of times when spies of reform organizations took notes in court for purposes of adverse criticism. The judge should throw such spies in jail and see that the organization to which such spies belong is wrecked. Such spying means contempt of court. Chief Alcock is the best man I have seen in the job in my thirty-four years of office. He will improve the situation, I'm sure."

Ald. Albert—"Let's take up the Rockola slot machine case. All the charges against the captains were nolle prossed because one witness exercised his constitutional right and refused to testify."

Judge Olson—"The state's attorney should have forced him to testify."

Ald. Albert—"Do you think this committee should find out what collusion there is between the police, gangsters, and politics? Or do you think the state's attorney should do it."

Judge Olson—"There would be advantages both ways."

Ald Bowler [41st]: "We should protect the policeman against unjust publicity. I won't stand here and listen to any one say 'all policemen are crooked.'"

Ald. Albert—"I don't want to hurt any honest policeman. I'm not afraid of any one and I'll pass out of politics pretty soon but while I'm here I'll not stand this petty personal abuse."

Several aldermen—"We have no personal argument with you."

Ald. Albert [weeping]—"Last week some one called my mother, sister and other relatives and told them I was assassinated. I can't be scared or bluffed by any one."

Ald. Konkowski: "Ald. Albert, have you any idea as to how we should proceed?"

Ald. Albert: "Yes, a very definite idea, but it seems to me the rest of you want to drop the inquiry. Actions speak louder than words."

Ald. Bowler: "I move we advise the state's attorney and grand jury we will coöperate with them in every way."

Ald. Byrne: "The motion is carried unanimously. The meeting stands adjourned subject to the call of the chairman."

RED KISSANE GETS MAXIMUM TERM FOR GUN TOTING

McGurn, on Trial, Claims Illegal Arrest.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Fred Walton, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; William Krisolsky, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Walter P. Steffen.

Lewis Brinkley, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Frank Pickens, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Anthony [Red] Kissane, gangster, received the maximum penalty for carrying a concealed weapon from Judge Daniel P. Trude in the Criminal court yesterday when a motion for a new trial was overruled. His sentence was one year in the county jail and a fine of $390 to be worked out at the prevailing rate of $2 a day unless it is paid.

Kissane was convicted by a jury last week. When Attorney George Hans saw that he would not win a new trial on the question of former jeopardy, he announced that the conviction would be appealed to the Appellate court. Kissane was allowed his liberty on bond pending the appeal. His case previously had been dismissed in the Municipal court because of supposed illegal search and seizure.

Policeman William Drury, who arrested Kissane, swore at the trial that Kissane had told him he was working for Alfred J. Lingle, murdered TRIBUNE reporter.

McGurn Also on Trial.

While Kissane was being sentenced Jack (Machine Gun) McGurn was facing a jury in Judge E. I. Frankhauser's Criminal court across the hall. McGurn also was making a technical defense of illegal search and seizure of his revolver by Policemen Drury and John Howe.

The only defense of McGurn was that he did not have any record of any previous conviction for any crime. Attorneys Thomas D. Nash and Michael Ahearn proved this bit of testimony by making a surprise move and calling Assistant State's Attorney Wilke Ham, the prosecutor in the case, to the witness stand.

Policemen Drury and Howe testified that they arrested McGurn and Tony Accardo on the day that Julius Rosenheim was murdered by gangsters. They said they saw the men riding in a taxicab at Dearborn and Harrison streets and that when they started to search McGurn he said: "Don't get excited; it is in my right pocket." Howe said he found a revolver in the pocket.

Ordered to Nab Hoodlums.

The policemen were asked if they had any suspicion that either McGurn or Accardo had committed any felony or misdemeanor. They replied that they arrested him because Capt. John Stege, their superior at the time, had instructed them to arrest all hoodlums.

Defense attorneys contend that the Supreme court has held that it is necessary that the police have some reason to suspect a man before a legal arrest and search can be made.

The detectives brought McGurn back from Miami after he became a fugitive when the indictment was returned against him.

The case will go to the jury today, later on."

BEWARE OF 'TAX FIXERS,' SWANSON WARNS PUBLIC

A warning to taxpayers of Cook county to beware of "tax fixers" was issued yesterday by State's Attorney Swanson. The prosecutor said he had learned that certain tax fixers are seeking clients who wish to have their personal property tax reduced.

"According to my information," he said, "the outlying banks in Cook county, as well as many business houses, are being told by these fixers that they can save money by allowing their 1928 personal property taxes to become delinquent and waiting for the state's attorney's office to start suit. I understand that these fellows even go so far as to claim that they have influence with my office.

"No one has any influence with this office on these matters. My advice to the people is to pay their taxes now or be prepared to pay them in full with court costs added to their bills later on."

You Made Him What He Is Today—

What Will He Be Next Year?

That boy of yours—you hold him in the hollow of your hand. How he grows from year to year—how he gains in energy and manhood—all depend on how you feed him. Even the way he thinks and looks upon life is controlled largely by his food.

Make him robust and hearty. Give him the energy and ambition to win a place in life. Give him food that builds strong bones, sturdy muscles, firm flesh—food that digests readily and does not make him logy.

Have you ever tried Thompson's Chocolate Malted Milk? Authorities agree it contains all the food elements growing children need. In fact, that very Principle-of-Growth—butterfat—is present in its most easily digested form. Small wonder Thompson fed children have made famous progress.

Your boy's progress should be compared to average. You should keep him above it. You need Thompson's Life Line Chart hanging on the wall. Measure him from time to time and keep a record of his weight and growth.

The Chart will tell you whether he is growing at the vital Life Line rate. Send now for this Chart. It's free. Use the coupon below.

KASKEL & KASKEL DUNLAP

We're not professional snoopers, but you know how difficult it is not to hear things at the exclusive lunch clubs. Anyway, we did hear a conversational bit which we have since concluded must have come from the three wise men of 1930. "What price for head comfort these hot days?" asked one. "Without price," answered the second. "A Dunlap 'Comfit' straw hat at six dollars," said the third. Most important of all, these three sagacious men all wear the famous Dunlap, a "Comfit" straw. We recognized the little soft strands of straw next the crown which give them the lightness and resiliency no other straw hat has.

MORROW FORCES A WET PLANK IN STATE PLATFORM

Lays Down Law to Chiefs of G. O. P. in Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., June 24.—[Special.]—Dwight W. Morrow, amateur at politics, who astonished New Jersey with a 304,000 senatorial landslide a week ago, today put spurs to the Republican machine. He forced wabbling state leaders to accept a blunt prohibition repeal plank—thus assuming the leadership his unprecedented victory implied.

It was an unexpected move. Early intimations all had been that Morrow, considering his office national rather than local, would leave to state leaders building of the platform on which he will run.

State leaders and timid local candidates opposed an outspoken wet stand. They argued for a vague modification plank, or for a referendum. Morrow had offered no hint of his position. But five minutes after Gov. Morgan F. Larson, United States Senator Hamilton F. Kean, and other machine bosses met with the ambassador in a preconvention conference at the Stacy Trent hotel here this morning, Morrow had made his point clear.

Conference Lasts Hour.

"He laid down the law to us," said one conferee upon leaving the meeting, which lasted an hour and a half.

But if Morrow, political novice, was adamant and outspoken behind the conference doors, he was smilingly conciliatory in the state convention, which met at noon. Holding out the olive branch, he cheerily announced the Lindbergh addition to the Morrow household.

"I'm a grandfather now," was his first greeting. The crowd roared.

"Hence I consider myself an old man," he continued. The assembled Republicans cheered and laughed.

The candidate—speaking after his defeated rivals, former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and Representative Franklin W. Fort, Anti-Saloon league champion—declined to discuss the issues. He was silent on prohibition.

View Challenged by Fort.

Morrow's stout advocacy of a wet plank, paraphrasing his Newark speech grew out of a belief that he had been nominated as a repeal candidate. That view was challenged by Fort, who, it was assumed, spoke for the dry section of the convention.

"I am still unconvinced that the issue in the primary was prohibition," said Fort, who pledged support to Morrow. "Nor do I believe that the result in the primaries is attributable to that issue."

Fort hailed Morrow's nomination as a "victory for good government."

Democrats Outline Issue.

While Morrow, having won the platform victory, was receiving the acclaim of his partisans, former State Senator Alexander Simpson, his opponent, outlined his campaign before the Democratic state convention, also in session today in Trenton.

Simpson keynoted his fight on the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, the London naval treaty, unemployment, and the world court. He will center his fire on the Hoover administration, he said.

Grasp of Statecraft.

"Let us admit that the candidate on the Republican ticket for this office is all that his friends and admirers and some newspapers say he is; that he has imperial intelligence, impeccable integrity, a grasp of statecraft which is almost supernatural, but these things will not determine this election. This election will be determined by the people of this state, who by now know what Republican control of the national government means."

TORNADO TEARS INTO NEBRASKA; 1 MAN IS KILLED

Lexington, Neb., June 24.—(AP)—One man was killed, several persons were injured, and damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a tornado which swept the foothills south of the Platte river between Gothenberg and Lexington, Neb., tonight.

Henry Roper, 55, was killed when the wind destroyed the home of his son-in-law, seven miles southwest of Lexington.

Dr. J. H. Quinn and Ella Pickering, 13, daughter of James Pickering, farmer, were injured seriously.

The tornado damage was confined to the south side of the river. North of the river rain and hail damaged crops, but no buildings were destroyed and no fatalities or injuries were reported.

IOWA, ILLINOIS TOWNS DISCUSS ROAD WIDENING

Clinton Visits Sterling; Compare Notes.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sterling, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—Clinton, Ia., came here today, asking Illinois to help widen the Lincoln highway from Chicago to Omaha, Neb. The occasion for the visit was a meeting under the auspices of the Chicago Motor club on its program for Illinois to widen 870 miles of pavement in 1932 and 1933.

"Commercial and pleasure traffic on the Lincoln highway," said George H. Steele, president of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce, "demand a four lane pavement. The forty foot pavement is needed to save lives and to save time. If Illinois will continue the forty feet across the state, I am sure Iowa will carry on west of the Mississippi."

George Barton, motor club engineer, said that his organization contemplates the widening of Illinois 6, Roosevelt road, from Geneva to Clinton, but that in 1932 and '33 the funds are sufficient for widening only as far west as Sterling.

The motor club program also calls for the widening of ten other Chicago radial highways and for the construction of grade separations at all busy highway intersections in the metropolitan area.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the club, described some of the benefits of the proposed road improvements. He pointed out that it will bring the farm closer to its biggest market, Chicago, and that it brings Chicago closer to its most favorable residential areas, the hills and meadows around the city.

At the close of the meeting, Mayor H. E. Burkholder of Sterling introduced a resolution addressed to the 1931 general assembly, calling for an appropriation to extend the widening of Roosevelt road westward through Sterling, 117 miles from Chicago. The resolution was passed unanimously.

State Senator Harry G. Wright presided. Among the speakers was Dennis Collins, candidate for state representative.

U. S. LEGISLATIVE BODY HUNTS NEW REVENUE SOURCES

Seeking ways of reducing the general tax burden, the public relations committee of the national council of state legislatures closed a two day session last night in the Hotel Sherman. Claude McKenzie, a Minnesota state senator, chairman of the committee, presided. Fifteen midwestern states were represented.

The committee decided to form subcommittees in the states to disseminate tax information and to find new tax sources to relieve those now bearing the burden.

"Taxation has reached the saturation point on important levies," said Mr. McKenzie yesterday. "Values have been taxed out of property, especially on the farm and home, resulting in large areas of farm lands being abandoned to the state, and an increase in rental values in homes in cities which is largely borne by labor. Values have depreciated on all property due to confiscatory taxation."

Mr. McKenzie recommended a 50 per cent reduction in the general property tax. He suggested either a state gross sales tax or a state income tax or both, and declared the inheritance tax should be left entirely to the states.

The state subcommittees, according to the plan approved, are to include one representative of the state legislature, one from the organized farm group, one from organized labor, and one from mercantile and industrial interests.

ALL INDIA JOINS TO SHAKE FIST AT SIMON REPORT

Hindus, Moslems, Parsees Attack Proposals.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, India, June 24.—From every section of India comes scathing condemnation of the Simon report, which, combined with the rapid extension of the repression of Nationalist activities, brings Indian temper to a high pitch. The report intensifies the Nationalists' demand to boycott the London round table conference in October unless Great Britain promises a prior declaration to discuss ways and means for dominion status. The chief objection is that India would have no control of its army, while the powers of the executive would be increased should the recommendations be followed.

The reaction has barely been expressed so far, and only in the foreign press of the large cities, since thousands of native newspapers are suppressed. Such comments as have appeared lash the report bitterly.

All Races Rise in Protest.

Hindus, Moslems, and Parsees join in condemning the report, but public protest meetings are banned, while the continuous rainfall has prevented street demonstrations and the burning of effigies of Simon commission members as planned.

Pandit Nehru, acting president of the all-India national congress, today basically demanded the boycott of the report.

"We are not paying the slightest attention to what is recommended or not recommended, having fully disposed of that issue while the commission was here," he snapped.

M. A. Linnah, leader of the Independent party in the legislative assembly, said:

"The recommendations are not acceptable to either Hindus, Moslems, or Indian Nationalists. If India wishes to obtain freedom it must reject the Simon report before entering the London conference."

"Proposals Aggravate Situation."

"The recommendations, instead of easing the tense situation, are likely to aggravate it," said Sir Chimanlal Harilal Setalvad.

V. J. Patel, resigned speaker of the legislative assembly and Gandhi's successor as "revolt" leader, said:

"They are recommendations such as no sensible Indian can approve."

The Indian Daily Mail editorially asserts that the outstanding feature of the report is "its conscious or unconscious hypocrisy." The Bombay Chronicle in a bitter denunciation states that "India is to remain Great Britain's milk cow," styling the report as a calculated affront.

One of the most bitter comments on the report is made by H. M. Mehta, influential Indian. He said:

"There is to be no Indian army, no power over the purse, no fiscal freedom, no curtailment of the arbitrary powers of the government, nothing the people have been demanding for years."

45 SLAIN AND 71 WOUNDED IN INDIA PRISON MUTINY

Police Halt Riot in 2 Hour Gun Fight.

RANGOON, Burma, India, June 24.—(AP)—One of the most serious prison mutinies in recent Indian history occurred here today in the Rangoon central jail. Before the police and wardens subdued the rioters in two hours of firing, 45 persons were killed and 71 wounded.

The dead included two sentries, two military police, a prison truck driver, and 40 convicts.

The armed forces of the law poured volley after volley into the ranks of the stubbornly resisting prisoners, literally mowing them down. Many of the injured were not expected to survive.

Simon Report Enrages Prisoners.

One report attributed the outbreak to indignation among the Indian convicts over the findings of the Simon commission. Authorities said that all indications pointed to a well organized plot for a jail delivery.

Some hundred convicts, both Indians and Burmans, working in the jail shops, suddenly attacked and killed two sentries. In an instant other convicts had thronged to the mutinous cause. They raided the armory, seized all rifles and ammunition, attempted to break down the prison gates, and some succeeded in scaling the walls.

Troops Mow Down Rioters.

The military police arrived on the scene in answer to hurry calls from within the prison. They went into action immediately. The convicts retreated, but rallied and resumed the attack as soon as the first weight of the warden's onslaught had diminished.

The convicts then attempted to rush the authorities, firing as they advanced. They melted away before the return volleys. The mutinous prisoners then took refuge in the workshops, where they were surrounded.

INVOKE SENATE CLOTURE TO PASS BOULDER BILL

17 Sign Petition to Head Off Filibuster

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Cloture was resorted to in the senate today to frustrate an anticipated filibuster by Senators H. F. Ashurst and Carl Hayden [Dem., Ariz.], against the $10,660,000 appropriation included in the pending deficiency supply bill to begin construction of the Boulder canyon dam project.

Limit Hour Debate Each.

Submitted by Senator W. L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], chairman of the senate appropriations committee, the petition for limitation of debate on the Boulder dam appropriation—signed by seventeen senators, one more than necessary—will be voted on at 1 p. m., Thursday, and its adoption, insuring passage of the bill not later than Friday, is regarded as certain.

Under cloture each senator will be held strictly to one hour discussion of the bill and all amendments.

Senators Ashurst and Hayden are fighting the Boulder dam appropriation chiefly on the ground Arizona's right to an adequate supply of water from the Colorado river for irrigation purpose is not safeguarded in the project and they have attacked the validity of contracts for the distribution of electric power generated at the dam.

Ashurst Assails Cloture.

Surprised by these submissions of the cloture petition, Ashurst indignantly protested against the attempt to "gag" the senate and denied that he or his colleague had intended a filibuster. In a vehement denunciation of the appropriation, he repeatedly referred to the plan "to strip Arizona of its rights for the benefit of California," and remarked on the fact that the appropriation was approved by "a president from California, a secretary of the interior from California, and a commissioner of reclamation from California."

Ashurst's protest against diversion of water from the Colorado watershed for the benefit of Los Angeles and other California coastal cities aroused Senator Otis Glenn [Rep., Ill.]. The latter sarcastically asserted he was shocked to hear that Senators Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], Arthur Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], and J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], all of whom have been bitter opponents of Chicago's diversion of Lake Michigan water, had voted for a similar diversion in California.

JURY DISAGREES IN BELAK WIFE SLAYING TRIAL

Testimony of Child Is Shaken.

A jury in Judge Harry B. Miller's criminal court could not decide yesterday as to the guilt or innocence of Andrew Belak, 40 years old, on the sole testimony of his 10 year old daughter, Harriet, who was the only eye witness to the killing of Mrs. Mary Belak, divorced wife of the defendant. The jury was discharged last night after deliberating most of the day without reaching any agreement. The jury stood 8 to 4 for conviction throughout the deliberation.

Conflict in Testimony.

The testimony of the youngest of six children of the defendant was considerably weakened when Attorney Thaddeus C. Toudor, for the defense, showed that the girl at the inquest had told a story to the effect that a man named George, supposed paramour of her mother, had done the killing. This was the contention of the defendant.

Attorney Toudor also argued to the jurors that the child was a victim of the efforts of the prosecuting officials to convict her father and that she had been influenced to change her story.

Defended by Other Children.

Mrs. Genevieve Kepelkey, 18 years old, one of the married daughters of the defendant, and several of the other children tried to overcome the testimony of the youngest child by testifying for the father. They said the mother sold moonshine and threatened to kill the father.

Air Mail Pilot Graham's Plane Reported Found

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—Western Air Express officials reported tonight receipt from Postmaster Lutze of Cedar City, Nev., of a communication in which he said two sheep herders found what apparently is the plane of Maurice Graham, air mail pilot, missing since Jan. 10.

FISHER, RICHBERG IN DEBATE ON CAR FRANCHISE

Argue Over Ordinance at City Club.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The City club debate yesterday noon between Walter L. Fisher, supporting the transportation ordinance, and Donald L. Richberg, opposing it, brought out several issues.

"My chief objection to the ordinance is that we should not give a valuable public franchise to men unworthy of public trust," said Mr. Richberg. "Samuel Insull and associates have sold gas for light and heat, electricity for light, heat, power and transportation, all at excessive charges, which have burdened the masses and made huge fortunes for these utility operators. They have participated in the systematically organized control of public officials for private profit. It is perfectly ridiculous to discuss whether it is desirable to give Mr. Insull and his associates a perpetual franchise.

Responsibility of People.

"Is it possible that the people of Chicago, in view of all the evidence which has been laid before them during the last 15 years, do not realize their increased responsibility for misgovernment and the unchecked spread of crime, when they increase the power of the Insull interests in public affairs? Is it possible that the people of Chicago can read their daily papers and yet remain ignorant of the interlocking relations between public utility control and corruption of government and the political protection of crime?

"The close relationship between Jake Lingle and the police department has been published in the Chicago papers. Out of town newspapers describe Lingle even more bluntly as having been 'the unofficial chief of police of Chicago.' But Lingle was also strangely intimate with Al Capone, our most notorious gangster.

Richberg Puts a Question.

"Surely all Chicago knows that Ettelson, Mr. Insull's political lawyer, who is corporation counsel of Chicago, is also the chief operator of the city government. Thompson is only a figurehead. Are we to believe that there existed an unofficial chief of police, associating with the most vicious gang in Chicago, without the knowledge of Mr. Ettelson, who is neither deaf nor blind, but on the contrary has a reputation of knowing everything worth knowing about city hall affairs?

"Newspapers [outside Chicago] have reported in detail an enormous income obtained by Lingle from unknown sources—perhaps a natural result of being 'an unofficial chief of police' and a friend of gangsters plundering the town.

In reply Mr. Fisher said: "I hold no brief for Mr. Insull nor any of his enterprises. Mr. Richberg finds an emotional response to his attacks on Mr. Insull. But look the facts in the face.

"Mr. Insull controls the elevated roads which have franchises for a number of years. If you want a consolidation of the surface and elevated roads you must deal with Mr. Insull. Suppose Mr. Richberg picked out men he considers trustworthy to whom to grant a franchise, how could he prevent untrustworthy men buying the stock of the company? He could not do it.

"Mr. Richberg in effect says that Mr. Insull is a bad man and the only way to get back at Mr. Insull is by hurting ourselves. By his plan we must go on tolerating an intolerable transit system until Mr. Insull passes on. Because of his position Mr. Insull could not demand anything in the ordinance to which he is not entitled. I warned his representatives that on any such demands he would have to yield."

Mr. Richberg charged that the indeterminate permit is perpetual franchise. Mr. Fisher answered:

"It is no more perpetual than a term grant in which the unamortized capital account is protected, and without that protection you cannot sell transit securities."

CHIEFS TO CALL LABOR TO VOTE CAR FRANCHISE

Street Car Men Urged to Reject Ordinance.

Labor leaders will wind up their campaign for the transit ordinance with a series of massmeetings at which all trade unionists will be urged to vote for the franchise on July 1, according to Michael J. Kelly, president of the Cook County Wage Earners' league.

Mr. Kelly announced that a meeting of the league will be held this afternoon in the Woodlawn Masonic hall at 6115 Cottage Grove avenue and a group of labor speakers headed by Ald. Oscar F. Nelson will explain the proposed franchise. Mr. Kelly said labor's support of the car settlement was virtually unanimous and pointed out the minority opposition is voiced by individuals not associated officially with the Chicago trade union movement.

It was said at the headquarters of the Wage Earners' league that the organization represents approximately 50,000 trade union members.

See Boon to Workers.

Mr. Kelly said the unions realize that the ratification of the ordinance on July 1 will mean an improvement in workers' living standards by providing better transportation. He also called attention to the probability that extensions of elevated and surface lines will give the workers an opportunity to build homes in unsettled neighborhoods. He emphasized particularly the effect of the project in relieving unemployment.

Mr. Kelly said the Wage Earners' league is coöperating with the Building Trades council, the president of which is Patrick F. Sullivan, an ardent supporter of the transit ordinance. Among the union officials who back their followers are backing the league's activities are:

Michael J. Kennedy, electricians; Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; John Stretch, bricklayers; Jerry Horst, flat janitors; Thomas F. Flynn and Charles H. Sand, carpenters; Arthur Wallace, painters; William Roohey, sheet metal workers; William McPetridge, school janitors; George Ross, roofers; Henry Biehl, cement finishers; William Quinlan, William Huber, L. D. Bland, and Joseph Kehoe, street car men; William McClenathan, railroad employés; Michael Galvin, John Sheridan, and Michael Artery, Chicago teamsters; Patrick Berrell and Jerry Donovan, international teamsters; George Brown, stage hands; John Durkin, steamfitters, and Edward Moore, hoisting engineers.

President Sullivan of the trades council estimates the adoption of the traction ordinance will launch a billion dollar building boom.

Urge Vote Against Franchise.

An appeal to street car employés to vote against the ordinance was made yesterday by William H. Holly.

"If there are any among the street car employés who expect they will receive the benefits of a pension system of life and health insurance to be furnished by the companies under the proposed franchise, they had better prepare themselves for disappointments," Mr. Holly wrote.

"Those provisions of the ordinance are wholly beyond the power of the city to enact. They are put in the ordinance simply as a bait to catch the votes of suckers.

"The city council has no more authority to direct the transit commission what to do than has the mikado of Japan. The transit commission is a creature of the legislature, from which it gets its authority.

"Charged to Operating."

"The money to pay the pensions, death and life insurance, if these systems were established, would come out of the car riders. The benefits are to be charged, according to the terms of the ordinance, to operating expenses.

"No transit commission will ever fix a rate of fare high enough to pay the profits of the company and a pension to the employés."

Rodney L. Mott issued another statement yesterday attacking the valuations of the surface and elevated lines. He said the $260,000,000 valuation represents $55,000,000 "of water."

Dawes Urges Its Adoption.

Charles G. Dawes, U. S. ambassador to Great Britain, yesterday urged support of the ordinance. In his statement he said: "The time for argument is now over. The time for action is here. The passage of this ordinance is an absolutely essential condition to the material and social advancement of Chicago for the next two decades. A vote for the ordinance is a vote for Chicago. A vote against it is a vote against Chicago."

HOUSE VOTES INQUIRY INTO CAMPAIGN COSTS IN FALL ELECTIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Investigation of campaign expenditures by candidates for the lower house of congress was approved today. A resolution sponsored by Representative B. H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], which authorizes the appointment of a special committee was adopted without opposition.

The resolution provides that the committee shall report to the house not later than Jan. 1, "the campaign expenditures of the various candidates for the house of representatives in both parties, the names of the persons, firms, associations, or corporations subscribing, the amount contributed, the method of expenditures and all facts in relation thereto . . . including the promises or use of patronage."

Representative John J. O'Connor [Dem., N. Y.], inquired if the committee would have authority to compel witnesses to answer questions. He referred to the refusal of Bishop James Cannon Jr., to answer questions before the senate committee. Representative Snell assured him that the committee would have full power.

Representative Snell told the house that it was not the purpose to have the committee investigate any of the primary contests, but to be in readiness in case there are any charges of irregularities in the election campaign. There was a similar house committee two years ago. Senatorial primary as well as election contests are already being investigated by a special senate committee.

SCANDINAVIAN GROUPS ASSIST AT WAR SHOW

Consular representatives of Sweden, Denmark, and Norway were guests of Maj. Gen. Frank Parker at the military show and exposition last night at Soldiers' field and groups of Scandinavian patriotic and choral societies staged a colorful pageant.

The three consular representatives are Dr. Otto Dardel, Sweden; Roumund Bauman, Denmark, and Olay Bernts, Norway. Other guests were Judge William Helander and United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson. Tonight a battalion of sailors from the Great Lakes Naval Training station, led by the station band, will participate in the show.

Next Sunday will be American Legion day and fifty drum and bugle corps of Legion posts will participate.

Greater Pressure Roils Roseland Water Supply

City Engineer Gayton received complaints yesterday that the water supply in Roseland and Beverly Hills was of a brownish color. Mr. Gayton explained that an additional pump had been turned on in the Roseland pumping station. The increased pressure, he said, stirred up sediment in the pipes. The water will become clarified if permitted to flow a while, he said.

Benjamin Bradley Estate Set at $300,000; File Will

The will of the late Benjamin Bradley, broker, was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. The entire estate, estimated at $300,000, is left the widow, Mrs. Margaret M. Bradley, 310 Oxford road, Kenilworth. Mr. Bradley, who died June 5, was a member of the firm of Hulburd, Warren & Chandler.

FRANCE AND ITALY "UNFRIENDLY"; NAVAL TALKS OFF

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 24.—The relations between France and Italy are too strained to permit the resumption of pourparlers over naval strengths, it was decided to day.

Foreign Minister Briand conferred with Count Gaetano Manzoni, Italian ambassador, in an effort to clear up some of the Franco-Italian differences and reopen conversations as agreed in London when the naval treaty was signed. After a lengthy examination of the situation, the diplomats concluded that it was impossible to examine the problem in the proper atmosphere now and the question was adjourned sine die.

Failure to reopen the negotiations, it is believed, will make another postponement of the league of nations' preparatory disarmament commission, which is scheduled to reconvene in Geneva in October, certain, as when the date was fixed last month it was expected that conversations between Rome and Paris would go on during the summer.

Count Manzoni today conveyed Premier Mussolini's personal apologies to M. Briand over the recent anti-French outbreaks in Italy, especially the incident at Bari.

Britain Views with Alarm.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 24.—The British government, it is learned, views with alarm the grave state of Franco-Italian relations. London has been privately informed that the French government considers the entire nation solidly united in opposing what they term Premier Mussolini's "browbeating tactics."

If war broke out only on the Franco-Italian frontier, England would remain indifferent, but should a clash take place between the two Latin countries it is almost inevitable that it would be staged in the Mediterranean, in which lies all the British imperial routes, guarded by the British navy and fortresses from Gibraltar to Egypt.

Would Menace Ship Lanes.

The British admiralty considers that should war break out in this area, nothing would remain but to transfer the British lines of communication around the cape of Good Hope and the withdrawal of battleships to safer quarters. The unpleasant alternative is to use the British forces to oblige all parties to maintain peace.

Public opinion here, which has for a long time been favorable to the Italian demand for naval parity with France, is now slowly but surely veering around, under the provocation of Premier Mussolini's inflammatory language, which radicals and Socialists consider violates all rules of decency.

CHINESE BANDITS RAID SCHOOL AND KIDNAP 50 PUPILS

Parents Raise $100,000 of $300,000 Ransom.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
SHANGHAI, June 24.—Chinese bandits who last week kidnaped the entire student body, consisting of 50 boys and girls, of a primary school at Hsuchowfu, northern Kiangsu province, have demanded ransom of $300,000. The parents of the children have raised $100,000, but are unable to raise the remainder. Troops are trying to discover the bandits' lair and free the students are being held.

Reports from Hsuchowfu said 200 bandits entered the school premises, looted the teachers and marched the entire student body away before an alarm could be raised. The kidnaping occurred a short distance from the scene of the Lincheng bandit affair in 1923, when an express train was wrecked and many foreigners were transported to the mountains, where they were held for ransom for several weeks.

Manchurian Chief Intervenes.

Reports from Japanese sources today said Gen. Chang Hsueh-liang, head of the Manchurian government at Mukden, has decided to intervene in the civil war situation and has sent telegrams both to Nanking and Peiping urging a truce and withdrawal from the front lines.

The report said Gen. Chang sent telegrams both to Gen. Yen Hsi-shan and Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang, leaders of the northern coalition, asking them to state their war aims for the information of the Chinese public, in order to provide a basis for discussion, leading to a peaceful solution of the situation.

Both Sides Stocked, Is Report.

While the central government is silent on the purported peace moves, a Chinese newspaper Sin Wan Pao today published a dispatch from Mukden alleging that Gen. Chang had decided actively to intervene and support the central government, the principal reason being Mukden's fear of victory by the northern coalition would result in the establishment of a regime favorable to soviet Russia and detrimental to Manchurian interests.

The Sin Wan Pao said the Chinese-Russian conference in Moscow is hopelessly deadlocked, due to the refusal of the bolsheviks to continue the discussions unless Mukden is willing to change its affiliations with the central government. It is stated that Moscow is betting on a northern victory in the Chinese domestic conflict, which would place Gen. Feng in a dominant position, opening the way for a resumption of Chinese-soviet diplomatic relations.

Evacuate City of Tsinan.

Japanese reports tonight also state that central government forces are evacuating Tsinan, capital of Shantung, which will be occupied by the Japanese shortly.

With reference to the situation in Honan province, a report from Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's headquarters at Nanking claims victories in the vicinity of Kaifengfu, which Gen. Chiang hopes to occupy shortly.

GREAT BRITAIN BOWS TO POPE AND 'FIRES' PREMIER IN MALTA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, June 24.—Prime Minister MacDonald today announced in the house of commons that, out of consideration for the troubled conditions in Malta, the British government had decided that it was not desirable to hold general elections at present and had no alternative but a temporary suspension of the Maltese constitution.

Suspension of the constitutions, political observers say, is a bitter pill for Great Britain to swallow, for such action, they add, means capitulation to the Vatican in the bitter religious strife that has raged in the island for eighteen months. Rome has already stated emphatically that the whole situation would be cleared up immediately if Lord Strickland, prime minister of Malta, was no longer in office.

Lord Strickland, who has been conferring with the government here, has stubbornly refused to resign, declaring he would fight to the end "the intervention of the Vatican in the temporal affairs of the island." On the other hand, the British government has not the power to recall the premier, who was recently the victim of an attempted assassination, since he was elected under the Maltese constitution.

Thus the only alternative remaining was the suspension of the constitution, which means that Lord Strickland automatically loses his job.

Prime Minister MacDonald stated today, however, that the existing ministry would remain in office in order to be available in a consultative capacity "so far as the governor chose to make use of their services."

SEVILLE FACES STATE OF SIEGE; NEW RIOTS RAGE

1 Dead; 250 Injured; See Revolt Plot.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
SEVILLE, Spain, June 24.—A state of siege will be declared in this usually carefree capital of Andalusia tomorrow morning unless the general strike of 40,000 workers which has paralyzed the city and left it in a state of terror for two days is called off.

This ultimatum was delivered by civil and military authorities tonight to the strikers' committee after an emergency meeting of the Berenguer cabinet at Madrid issued a warning that order must be had at all costs.

This move followed a second day of disorder in which one was killed and 160 more wounded, seven seriously, in street fighting. At least one barricade was raised today and was stormed by the police. The total wounded in the two days of rioting exceed 250. New arrests exceed 100.

Call It Revolutionary Plot.

Charging that the walkout was a revolutionary plot engineered by local anarchist and syndicalist elements, the Seville authorities warned the strikers that a state of siege in Spain is no joke as it means that whoever is caught carrying arms goes before a firing squad. Two regiments of infantry, a regiment of cavalry and two batteries of artillery are massed outside the city.

The workers countered with a demand that the civil governor, Count San Luis, resign, and that the olive oil workers, who started the whole mess, get their demands as a condition for cessation of hostilities.

Police Fire on Mob.

Mobs of strikers clashed repeatedly today with the Guardia Civil—state constabulary—and regular police and each time shots were exchanged. Attempts to run street cars armed with guards aroused the ire of the strikers and at noon they stormed a car with cobble stones and commenced to wreck it. Police dispersed the mob with gunfire and a boy was killed. Two passengers in the car, a man and a woman, were seriously hurt.

CONGRESS VOTES ILLINOIS STATE WATERWAY BILL

$7,500,000 Fund Passed by Both Houses.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Final legislative action was taken today on the rivers and harbors bill which includes authorization for a $7,500,000 federal appropriation for completion of the Illinois state waterway. The bill is now ready for the signature of President Hoover, who is expected to approve it, although displeased with some of the amendments added in the senate.

Latest estimates show that the bill authorizes the expenditure of more than 135 million dollars on projects which if completed will cost in excess of 300 millions. Actual expenditures must be made from the lump sum annual appropriation of $55,000,000 at the disposal of the army engineers.

Is Speeded Through.

Instead of having the house concur in senate amendments it was decided to send the bill to conference. Both houses appointed conferees, who after a brief meeting agreed upon the bill exactly as passed by the senate. The conference report was submitted to the senate, which approved it without discussion, and then was transmitted to the house, which also approved it after a brief explanation by Representative S. W. Dempsey [Rep., N. Y.], chairman of the rivers and harbors committee.

Representative Carl R. Chindblom [Rep., Ill.] urged that the bill be amended to provide for an earlier date for a report by the chief of engineers to congress on the amount of water needed for the Illinois waterway, but Representative Dempsey insisted that action on this matter could be taken later.

Diversion Report in 1938.

The bill as it will reach the President contains the Blaine water diversion proviso just as approved by the senate.

Under the terms of the bill the chief of engineers will report by Jan. 31, 1938, on the water diversion question, the final reduction in flow under the Supreme court decision in the lake levels case being scheduled to become effective on Dec. 31, 1938.

REOPEN 'TORSO MURDER' INQUIRY; REALTY MAN HELD

After a lapse of three months, investigation of the killing of a woman whose dismembered torso was found in the ashes of a burned cottage at Deep Lake, in western Lake county, was reopened last night.

At the request of State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county, Policemen Dave Levine and Julius Siegan of State's Attorney Swanson's staff took in custody Max Weiner, 44 years old, a realty dealer, at his home, 5258 North Kimball avenue.

The purpose of Weiner's detention was not divulged. Prosecutor Smith said he ordered Weiner seized on advice of a private detective agency which he had commissioned to investigate the case. Mr. Smith asserted he had no new information on the woman victim's identity nor the possible motive for her murder.

I AM AFRAID OF HELL

And so are you!

The fear of Hell was driven into us, and only a full, free, and outspoken discussion of the whole religious question can save the coming generation from our fear. For that reason I hail with joy the bravest, most pungent and powerful book in years:

THE TRACTION ORDINANCE. V. UP-TO-DATE TRANSPORTATION FROM NOW ON.

The opponents of the traction ordinance which is to be voted upon July 1 make a great deal of the fact that the company is to have what is called an indeterminate franchise. They say the city is giving away the streets in perpetuity and getting nothing comparable in return.

This sounds alarming. It would be a disastrous mistake to fasten upon the city for all time its present transportation facilities or anything remotely resembling them. If that were the certain or even possible result we should oppose the ordinance, but we are convinced that no such danger is inherent in the plan.

The old type of franchise ran for a stated period of years. There was one serious weakness in this scheme: It made the security behind the company's stocks and bonds shaky. Accordingly it was difficult to obtain capital at moderate rates for investment in rails and cars and it became particularly difficult to obtain new money toward the close of the franchise term. The result was expansion in the first years of the grant followed by long years of inactivity. Chicago's present antiquated and inadequate transportation system is an exhibit of the operation of the fixed term franchise.

The fixed term does seem to offer one important advantage. It seems to make it possible to be rid of an antiquated transportation system at the expiration of the franchise. Practically, it does nothing of the sort. The courts will protect the investment even after the franchise has expired and, even if the courts would not do so, the community must. It has to have transportation and it cannot improvise it. Therefore it must negotiate with the owners of the existing system.

There are good indeterminate franchises and bad ones. A bad one gives the city no means of ridding itself of obsolete equipment or incompetent management. This ordinance avoids both these pitfalls.

If the city is dissatisfied with the management, a new company may be formed to which the grant may be transferred. During the first ten years a premium of 10 per cent must be paid; after that the premium is reduced 1 per cent a year and after twenty years no premium is required. Those who complain that the company cannot be dispossessed for misuser or nonuser fail to note that the company can be dispossessed for those derelictions or for nothing at all. The requirement that the owners receive a premium in the first years of the franchise is intended to give security to the investment, which might otherwise be regarded as too risky. If the city granted a straight twenty year franchise the company could not be dispossessed for misuser, nonuser or anything else, in less time, premium or no premium. At any time the city itself may take over the lines without premium. This right can hardly be exercised under existing constitutional limitations upon the city's borrowing power, but at any rate it is there for use should those limitations be modified.

The voters need not fear that an incompetent management cannot be changed. And they have no reason, either, to fear that the equipment of the company will be allowed to fall behind improvements in the art of transportation. Of the two dangers, we regard the second as much the graver. It will be to the interest of the company to give as much service as it can with its equipment, for only in increasing the use of the lines will it increase its profits; but it might not be to the interest of the company to replace its equipment as rapidly as improvements were invented.

Suppose that the new trolley buses which the surface lines are trying out prove to be faster, more comfortable, more convenient and far quieter than street cars. The car riders would then want those buses installed, wherever pavements permitted, on all the surface line routes. Most street car franchises make it to the advantage of the company to delay such improvements as long as possible or at least until existing equipment is worn out. Then and only then reserves set up for depreciation will be sufficient to buy cars of the newer type. This ordinance goes farther and provides that reserves shall be set up against obsolescence as well as depreciation, recognizing that many kinds of equipment ought to be junked long before they are worn out. The ordinance offers a means of replacing outmoded equipment and an incentive to the company to do so. Improved equipment encourages car riding and adds to the company's profits; obsolete equipment has the reverse effect.

This provision for obsolescence must be regarded as a most important check upon the indeterminate franchise. No matter how long the company's tenure of the streets may be, the car riders are assured that the kind of transportation offered will be up to date.

THE NAVY TREATY BEFORE THE SENATE.

The naval treaty is out of committee and before the senate with a report favoring it submitted by Senator Borah and fifteen other senators. The minority reports against it will be signed by Senators Johnson of California, Robinson of Indiana, Moses of New Hampshire, and Shipstead of Minnesota.

It is a state department treaty supported by the administration as such. That is, it has other objects than the maintenance of a navy designed with relation to American requirements, possessions and trade routes. The administration reasons for it and the state department objectives have not been disclosed. The government records have been refused to the senators.

It is opposed by the great majority of naval officers who were called upon for their opinion by both senate and house committees and who have been rebuked by spokesmen for the administration for having given it.

At Geneva the American delegation stood for the eight inch gun cruiser required by the American navy and was supported by the Coolidge administration. The delegates at London withdrew from this position and submitted to the British formula. The change of policy is apparent. The reasons for it are not given although they may be inferred.

After the Washington conference the British delegates confessed that they were dumfounded to discover that they were about to be given so much more than they had planned to take. A year or so from now Mr. MacDonald may likewise admit that it came more easily than he had dared to hope when he first talked to President Hoover.

America, however, does not gain much from this post-conference candor from successful British negotiators.

BOULDER DAM IN THE COURTS.

Two irrigation districts in Arizona have filed suit to restrain the secretary of the interior from spending any of the money appropriated for Boulder dam. Another suit is to be started, this one by the state of Arizona, as soon as congress has passed the deficiency bill voting $10,000,000 for the construction of the dam.

The appeal to the courts was inevitable. Much of Arizona and southern California is desert land. It can be rendered habitable only if given a water supply and there is not enough water to go around. If Los Angeles gets the water, Arizona's potential population and crop yields will be held down; and if Arizona gets the water the growth of population in and about Los Angeles will soon cease.

The go-getters of Los Angeles are on top, to date. There has been enormous speculation in desert lands in southern California based on the hope of an ample water supply from the Colorado river. It is that speculation, and the propaganda which it has generated, which has induced congress to appropriate for the dam. It remains to be seen whether the courts will uphold the speculators.

Certainly the Boulder dam appropriation seems to be vulnerable. The act sets forth as one of the objects of the appropriation the improvement of the Colorado river as a navigable stream. No greater absurdity could be conceived. The Colorado is not now navigable, never was navigable in the modern sense of the word, and will not be of any appreciable value for commerce if, as is unlikely, the building of the dam permits a flow of water sufficient to float barges.

CHAMPIONS BY CLINICAL EXAMINATION.

Primo Carnera came through with his fight with George Godfrey intact financially although bunged a little physically, a matter of small consequence to his future. Godfrey has been forced by circumstances to regard himself carelessly. In his best days he had everything that might make a champion except the tint. The championship doesn't run in his color any more. He is now old George with a lot of craft and a professional indifference for the art as viewed in the larger way. It may be the milk fund to others, but it's pork chops for him. At the moment when it seemed the best thing to do he fouled the Italian behemoth. That was satisfactory to all concerned. It was in keeping with the best traditions of the modern ring and it preserved the investment which has been built up in Primo. He is still usable and he may yet be champion.

Mr. Schmeling of Germany has the title now medically, it having been given to him thus by Mr. Sharkey. It is apparent that the third man in the ring should not be a referee but a doctor, and the handlers and the men in the corners should be internes and hospital orderlies. The championship is a clinic product and the game is becoming really scientific. The doctor used to tape up the loser. Now he picks the winner.

Editorial of the Day

ETHAN ALLEN'S PORTRAIT.

[Washington Post.]

Incredible as it may appear, an exhaustive, three year search by John Pell, new associate editor of the North American Review and biographer of Col. Ethan Allen, has failed to disclose any authentic portrait of the hero of Ticonderoga. Even the statues in the United States capitol and the Vermont statehouse are not authentic, having been posed by Allen's nephew. It is believed, however, that several portraits of Allen were made by the journeymen painters who went from door to door with canvases on which the body had already been painted and which awaited only the head. As such pictures were done by Copley of Allen's wife and her mother, and of his brother, Ira, as well as of many of his friends and associates, it is unlikely that the man who, according to his latest biographer, was "an astute publicity man, particularly fond of making an impression, of wearing bright uniforms, and of saying and doing dashing things," should fail to have one done of himself. Mr. Pell hopes that at least one contemporary portrait can be unearthed of the hero of Vermont and for that purpose offers a reward to any one making the discovery. The picture would be included in the collection of relics treasured in the Fort Ticonderoga museum.

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

AYE!

The brand new traction ordinance
Will solve our street car woes;
No longer will fat ladies
Be parked upon our toes.
At last we're going to see fulfilled
The wish of every wisher;
We're for the ordinance when we read
Its praise by Walter Fisher.

BUT—

That street car thing will never do,
We've got to vote it down;
'Twill rob our children yet unborn
And ruin Chicago town.
These gloomy thoughts they come to stick us,
When we read Harold Le Claire Ickes.

ADD ETIQUETTE DEPT.

The American Railway association declares that the common, or garden, variety of napkin is not big enough for large, fat American travelers to tuck into their collars and keep their neckties, shirt bosoms, and weskits from showing traces of soft boiled eggs, cherry pie, and coffee, and so they've ordered special napkins 400 square inches in size. Which is all very well as far as it goes, but a gentleman who tucks his napkin under his chin and spreads it out all over his front needs more protection than that. What about that noiseless soup spoon which has long been promised, and what about putting a dull edge on knives so that a feller can eat pie without danger? And what about a knife with little ridges in it so that the traveler can eat his peas without their rolling off all over the place? Yessir, these things should be attended to at once.

THE ALDERMEN are busy drafting a law forbidding corner lot golf. That's fine! Those corner lot golf demons must be suppressed. Now, next let the city fathers suppress the fiends in human form who play croquet in the parks, and after that the ruffians who brazenly sit out on porches and play chess. Maybe some day the aldermen may do something about racketeers and gangsters. But get the corner lot golf demons first.

CALL MONEY dropped yesterday to 2 per cent. But as Mr. Shakespeare has so well said:

I can call money from the vasty deep.
Why, so can I, or so can any man;
But will it come when I do call for it?

YOU SAID IT!

That's right . . . you said it . . . naw, I don't talk about it myself either . . . yeah, sure, everybody's getting tired of it. Ain't we got plenty of big national issues without bringing that in . . . sure, it don't make no difference. You and me can get all the stuff we want . . . you said it—why, say, I betcha there are twenty speakeasys in this block, alone . . . oh, no, I ain't for the saloon coming back, neither—but if the government would just take over the control of it . . . sure, it's a good idea . . . well, I'll say it's worse than when we had saloons . . . you said it—it sure is easy to get . . . certainly the bootleggers don't want the country to go dry. . . yeah, it's worse than that—it's poison . . . I think there is a big change sweeping over the country, too. Lookit the literary digest poll . . . well, I'll tell the whole world I voted . . . yeah, sure they drink wet and vote dry . . . I'll say it's hypocracy . . . well, that's me, too—I don't try to impose my will on others . . . sure—if a man wants a drink that's his business, and if he don't want a drink, that's okay with me . . . they aint no moral wrong in taking a drink . . . sure . . . you said it—it's right up to the individual himself . . . no, you can't legislate against peoples morals. We always had liquer and always will have it. . . sure . . . I'll tell the world they're grafters . . . why, certainly—if a man could go and buy a bottle of whisky at a store, and then have some kind of a law that he couldn't drink it any place but in his own home . . . yeah, sure—just like canada . . . well, so long . . . yeah—I'm glad I saw you, too. See you again sometime . . . yeah, sure.

WE ARE STILL standing with reluctant feet where the brook and river meet turning back the combined assault of the best shock troops the automobile industry has got. It is not that we are terrified by the number of accidents or the narrow highways leading out of Chicago or the large number of people learning to drive. No, none of those things. What scares us is reading all the advertisements of the many kinds of automobile oils. Every oil claims to be the best and we wouldn't know which one we ought to use on our auto. So we're playing safe; we won't buy a car until we can find out which brand of oil we ought to use.

LEGEND.

(From the Hebrew of J. Fichman.)

On the shores of Kinnereth,
A tranquil garden grows.
Within it stands a palace
No mortal ever knows.

Who dwells there? Young Messiah!
And hidden as a bird,
He learns from Elijah
The Torah's radiant word.

Hush—let no wave ripple,
Birds, all cease your flutters,
Stay and drink the wisdom,
This holy youngling utters.

CHILDREN AND SPASMOPHILIA.

A VERY considerable proportion of the children belong in the group which physicians say have spasmophilia. By this they do not mean that the children have a definite disease, for spasmophilia is not in that class. It is a certain makeup, a certain way of reacting, rather than a disease. If the child is sick his illness is likely to take a certain turn; if he is well he has certain peculiarities. The children of this type are nervous and jumpy. They are generally regarded as frail. They catch cold easily. In fact, they catch whatever there is to catch.

Some of them are dirt eaters. Most of them have poor appetites, or are fitful eaters. Some have night terrors. When they get sick they are liable to develop spasmodic symptoms of some kind, possibly general muscular convulsions; possibly a spasmodic disorder of some organ. They are the croupy children, and this is the best illustration we can use. When they get a cold on the chest the cough tightens up at night, and attacks of spasmodic croup are liable to develop. If it is not croup, then it may be bronchial asthma.

This spasmodic diathesis may be responsible for the persistent vomiting of infancy. This may go to the point of a spasmodic stricture of the stomach, for which an operation may be required. Back of this diathesis there lies a lime deficiency. The treatment consists in getting lime into the system. If this can be done the diathesis proposition takes care of itself, and the croups, night terrors, dirt eating, and such do not call for special attention.

Life in the sunlight and open air is about the best remedial procedure. To paint the skin with a good tan may be the only treatment required. Of the medicines which help out the work of sunlight and fresh air, cod liver oil and viosterol are good. Iron is sometimes of service. Physicians frequentiy use some preparation of phosphate of lime. A quiet life, freedom from excitement and from overexertion are valuable aids. They are a part of the treatment which almost equals sunlight and air in beneficial effects.

RAW EGGS AND DISEASE.

T. Y. writes:

1. Are raw eggs injurious in any way?
2. Do chickens have tuberculosis?
3. Does one run a risk of catching tuberculosis from eating raw eggs?

REPLY:

1. To most people raw eggs are wholesome. They seldom carry any disease producing bacilli to human beings.
2. Yes, and their eggs may carry avian bacilli and the germs of white diarrhea.
3. No. Human beings in America are not subject to avian tuberculosis. White diarrhea is a disease of chicks but not of humans.

TUMORS AND OPERATIONS.

M. C. D. writes: Is a tumor operation serious? What causes tumor? How can one tell when there is a tumor?

REPLY:

There are many kinds of tumors ranging from cancer to simple fatty tumor of the scalp. Tumors may be in any location.

The symptoms of a tumor depend on the location. Aside from symptoms due to location tumors are silent. This is almost true of cancer and it is altogether true of benign tumor.

The seriousness of an operation for tumor depends principally on its location and partly on its nature.

What we do not know about the cause of tumors would fill an almanac.

We know of no express rule of law on the point, but since tracing a criminal often depends upon a careful search for clews, it is clear that there should be no unnecessary meddling with the articles surrounding the crime. Where there is nothing to indicate that a crime has been committed, we see no objection to private parties moving the body. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 25, 1865.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Gov. Oglesby was notified that the 93d Illinois infantry was mustered out at Louisville yesterday, paid off, and started for Chicago. The 112th Illinois left Goldsboro, N. C., for Chicago.

NEW YORK.—A military order was promulgated announcing the dismantling of the field works which compose the defenses of Washington, north and south of the Potomac.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A South Carolina delegation visited President Johnson and heard some plain talk from him. He told the delegates that the slaves went into the war as slaves and came out of it as free men of color. He said that slavery is gone as an institution in the United States and that there was no hope that the people of South Carolina could be admitted into the senate or house of representatives until they afforded evidence by their conduct that they realized this truth. He declared that while the war has emancipated slaves it also has emancipated a large number of white men.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gen. Hurlbut, for the last year commanding the department of the gulf, has demanded a court martial to investigate charges made by the commissioners sent to investigate affairs of that department. The investigation will necessarily involve the whole history of the department of the gulf under its commanders, Gens. Butler, Banks, and Hurlbut.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gen. Grant's monthly pay, income tax deducted, is $1,062.70. This is exclusive of commutation of rations, etc., which amounts to nearly as much more.

NEW YORK.—The Tribune's Montreal correspondent, speaking of Gen. Dix's visit to Canada, says that Dix will see the governor general at Quebec to inform him that the abuses of right of asylum, so long practiced by the Canadian government in behalf of rebel agents, must be reformed.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 25, 1900.

CHICAGO.—A. G. Spalding of the firm of A. G. Spalding & Bros. was married in San Francisco on June 23 to Mrs. Elizabeth Mayer, formerly of New York. The news was received in Rockford by Mrs. Fanny Moffat, a sister of the bride. It reveals a romance in the life of the baseball magnate. Mrs. Moffat said Mr. Spalding and his bride were schoolmates and lovers in their early youth, when Spalding lived in Rockford, but became estranged.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The navy department issued this bulletin: "A telegram from Admiral Kempff, dated Cheefoo, June 24, says: 'In an ambuscade near Tientsin on June 21 four of Waller's command were killed and seven wounded.' A force of 2,000 is going to relief of Tientsin today.'" The secretary of the navy ordered Admiral Remey at Manila, in command of the Asiatic squadron, to go with the Brooklyn to Taku and to offer to Gen. MacArthur conveyance of any army troops the Brooklyn can carry.

CHICAGO. — Forty-one deaths by train wrecks occurred yesterday. At McDonough, Ga., on the Macon branch of the Southern railway 35 lives were lost, not a person in any of the cars other than the sleepers escaping alive. The wreck was caused by a washout. Many were burned to death. At Depere, Wis., a special freight train and an excursion train on the Chicago and North Western railroad collided. Six persons were killed and 53 injured.

LONDON. — Lord Roberts reports that more Boer towns have been taken by the British under Gens. Sir Redvers Buller, Ian Hamilton, and Hunter.

CHICAGO.—"Fighting Joe" Wheeler is now in Chicago and after today will be in command of the department of the lakes. Gen. Wheeler declares the war in the Philippines is practically ended.

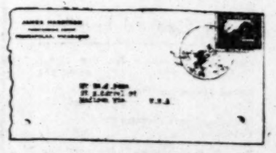
10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 25, 1920.

LONDONDERRY. — Gen. Carter Campbell held a conference with the city magistrates, half of whom are Unionists and half Nationalists, and mapped out plans for restoring peace in this riot stricken city. There is now an adequate military force to picket the city and prevent the assemblage of crowds. A report from Belfast says that six motor lorries filled with armed troops left there for Londonderry. So far a total of 17 persons have been killed and 29 wounded in the fighting between the Nationalist and Unionist factions.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by William C. Dean, 216 North Blair street, Madison, Wis.

"The village of Prinzapolca, from whence the inclosed letter was sent, is on the eastern coast of Nicaragua, about 150 miles north of Bluefields, the principal seaport on the eastern coast," Mr. Dean writes.

"Prinzapolca itself was a flourishing seaport a few years ago, but was in the heart of the territory held by the Sandino revolutionists, and for about two years was practically closed to outside communication. Last reports state that the wharves are deserted and the buildings dilapidated.

"The writer of the letter, James Harrison, has been in business there for several years. The letter gave information regarding the death of his former partner, Capt. Frank Williams, a native of Wisconsin, and at one time a resident of Beloit and Williams Bay, where he was known as Fordyce, son of Festus Williams and grandson of Capt. Israel Williams, the first settler at Williams Bay.

"The principal exports from Prinzapolca are mahogany, redwood timber, and bananas. This was the business that Harrison and Williams were engaged in prior to the uprising."

$3.28 A DAY.

Chicago, June 23.—A kid cousin of mine, 17 at enlistment, severely gassed before he was 18, lost his compensation two years ago and is about as well as a man who has just been drawn through a macerator. Personally, I have no just complaint. I was the first of four brothers to enlist, all in the world war, and it was just too bad that I had to go and get all messed up, causing the doctors a lot of trouble in having to amputate my legs below the knees, and now the veterans' bureau pays me $3.28 a day for life. As for getting a job to add to my income, there are too many unemployed who still have their legs, thank the Lord. Hoover objects to any kind of pensions, it seems. He says, "Get a sound plan and I will approve it." His engineering brain should be able to think up a plan, if he really is sincere. Meanwhile the poor saps pass out daily, many from nothing more than hunger, disease, and the embittered and broken hearts. Sounds dramatic, doesn't it? Just the plain truth. Hoover finds a plan for the naval disarmament pet of his, but can't be bothered with a plan for the vets.

Somehow I do not get that old time thrill when the flag passes me by. Maybe I'm getting senile.

CYNICAL EX-SERGEANT.

LONG-AWAITED PENSIONS.

Chicago, June 23.—Now, wouldn't it be a shame if our rich people had to pay a little more income tax in order that our ex-service men can get their long-awaited pensions? They've waited eleven years now for their pensions. Isn't that long enough? DEBUNKER.

A CROP WHICH CAN'T BE OVERPRODUCED.

Des Plaines, Ill., June 20.—I believe that the only practical way of giving relief to the farmer is to lessen the number of acres producing standard farm crops.

One crop which will never be overdone in this country is timber. In the United States there are many million acres useful only for growing trees. In Illinois, which is a particularly rich agricultural state, a careful survey shows five million acres whose greatest and almost only use is to grow trees. Trees will grow on poor soils. If ten million acres of the poorer lands in Illinois were growing trees, that would be taken from wheat and corn production.

The details of forestation would necessarily be worked out by experts, but a suggestion is that as fast as the land owner had the proper number of live trees of approved varieties, which could be furnished at cost by state nurseries, he might borrow from the government, state or national, sufficient to cover the cost of planting, and that each year for a certain period of nonproduction he might borrow a small sum as rental, perhaps one dollar per acre. This loan could be repaid to state or national government at the time of harvest. If it were necessary for the state to take over this land for the loan it would be a profitable investment.

Knowing your interest in forestry and knowing that you realize the value of forests to the country, I am offering you these suggestions.

RANSOM KENNICOTT.

GOLFING IN THE PARK.

Chicago, June 19.—How can we expect ever to have an honest city government when we find graft in so petty a thing as the Garfield park golf course? It is a common occurrence for a foursome to beat a two hour wait by the payment of twenty-five cents apiece to the fellow in charge. If the thing happened only occasionally, it wouldn't be so bad, and perhaps the poor fellow needs the money. But when foursome after foursome is crowded in ahead, their numbers never called, and the waiting time is materially increased, the park officials should do something.

THE SALVATION OF GOLF.

Chicago, June 19.—I read your editorial, "The Salvation of Golf." The obvious step you refer to has already been taken. I was at a little "all turf" course the other night. There you can get pop or a barbecued chicken served on a table under a big umbrella, right close to the course. JOSEPH G. DAVIS.

ROCKFORD'S STAND ON THE ARTILLERY RANGE.

Rockford, Ill., June 22.—Gen. Ke... in his answer to an editorial which ... peared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE ... days ago on the proposed artillery range near Rockford says that the public ought to know the facts about the range matter. It doesn't occur to ... that Gen. Keehn has stated all the facts.

In the first place, is a state-owned range necessary? There are but ... states in the Union which have ... owned ranges—Michigan and Texas—and these ranges are located in wilderness country, with no schools, churches, and no roads, and the surrounding country for miles is devoid of human habitation.

Our representatives are fighting for a range on the proposition that the United States government provide a suitable artillery range at Camp Mc... Sparta, Wis., for the training of Illinois artillery units, we do not have a range at all. But, as Representative Green stated, "owing to a powerful military-political lobby, the range bill was passed in the 1929 session," and since it was passed they are trying to locate that range in a section where the least damage will be done.

That was the idea of the amendment to the present bill, which provides for 6,000 acres be purchased for $... or an average of not over $100 per ... This would necessarily place the ... in a section farther removed from the city and on cheaper land.

What the military department wants is an amendment which will allow them to buy less acreage, 3,000 or 4,000 in the present, in a thickly settled section of rich farm land, and not 9½ miles from the city, but just six miles from the present city limits.

Our representatives are both ex-service men. One of them, Mr. Hu... was commissioned captain during the late war, was twice wounded, and was rated for distinguished service, and while they may not know all about military matters, they have a knowledge of local conditions and of what the people they represent want.

It is certainly not fair to the farmers living in the area surrounding the proposed range to have their taxes boosted. It is estimated, 16 per cent, and ... farms depreciated, in many instances depending on location, to 50 per cent of former value. Gen. Keehn does not seem to take this side of the proposition into consideration.

Gen. Keehn also stated that the present camp of over 3,000 acres is not large enough. There are several hundred acres which still have their trees, holes and are covered with ... weeds that, as far as I have been able to observe, have never been used for training purposes since the war.

C. V. NYMAN.

A NATION EXILED.

Chicago, June 19.—Perhaps it never occurred to the drys that this year they succeeded in driving the entire population out of the country for a day. The Canadian government issued an official statement that sixteen million Americans entered Canada by automobile during 1929. This did not include those who entered by boat, rail, air or ferry. Estimating that the total number who crossed the Canadian border was twenty millions, and that they stayed in Canada for an average of five days, we find that the equivalent of one hundred million Americans spent a day in that country.

Adding the 400,000 who spent an average of six weeks, or 16,800,000 days, in Europe, and the estimated five million who spent a day in Mexico, Cuba, Central America, the West Indies, etc., reach the total of 121,800,000 days.

At the conservative figure of ten dollars per day we find that 1,121,800,000 U. S. dollars found their way out of this country during 1929, and the figure will probably be exceeded during 1930. What price prohibition?

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is impressive about the coming visit, because she had received, just before sailing, a letter from Germaine Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam suggests that she was ill.

Catherine is met at Mme. Bender's apartment. Catherine is treated coldly by the servants. Mme. Bender's maid, tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the day before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and she tells him of her vague fears. He is puzzled, too.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner. There she sees a man she had noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in Catherine's apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and a number of pictures conspicuously missing. Jeanne says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme.

Geoffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He secretly put an investigator on the case. He asks her to marry him, but she wants to be certain of her feelings. Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister at Fontainebleau. Her maid discovers Blom, the mysterious person seen around the Bender apartment, is now a possible heir to the Bender fortune. Shortly after this discovery Blom's card is sent to Mme. Baron, Miss Cushing's milliner, a widow, whose maiden name is identically the name of Mme. Bender, is announced.

A fire breaks out in Mme. Bender's apartment early in the morning and she is burned to death. Most of the building is saved. Catherine had returned suddenly to Paris the day before. The servants deny to Geoffrey that she came to the apartment. Geoffrey questions Ricardo, the butler, to Blom's office. He sends for his investigator to watch Blom. Don calls on the commissariat de police, who assigns Inspector Bazin to the case. Catherine did return to Mme. Bender's apartment. Before retiring she smells smoke and finds it is coming from her cousin's room. The door is locked. She dashes to get help and arouse Jeanne, who fights with her to prevent her from opening madam's door. She sees the butler, carrying a heavy candlestick—and then a crashing blow on the head robs her of consciousness.

Geoffrey's sister Elspeth meets him at the Bender apartment. She looks over Mme. Bender's belongings and finds a hat Catherine wore on her visit at Fontainebleau. Geoffrey receives a telegram signed by Catherine, stating she is well and would telephone in the morrow. After the first shock of joy he becomes doubtful about the message. He sees the inspector to watch, from a room across the street, the Bender apartment.

Regaining consciousness Catherine finds herself securely bound.

TRAPPED IN A WEB.

Opening her eyes wide, Catherine glanced curiously around, wonder growing to find her room so strangely altered. What was this thick material hanging beside her, cutting off the air? Why, it was a curtain—heavy, red velvet. Her bed had no curtains. The windows, too, were covered in red, as were the walls—crimson damask, all alike. With the light showing through the cracks the entire place had the look of being suffused in blood.

All at once it dawned on her that this was not her room at all, nor yet one she had occupied at Fontainebleau. No, it was some new bedchamber she had never seen before. In the hot glow she spied a walnut dressing table, its oblong mirror touched by a shaft of sun which by reflection threw a brilliant patch upon the opposite wall. There were chairs with red cushions, a sofa, and a stand filled with books in yellow paper covers.

Her baffled cogitations occupied but the fraction of a second. Almost immediately recollection rushed upon her, and in a vivid flash of horror she saw again the picture last witnessed with her waking eyes—Jeanne's dark face close to her own, Eduardo's swarthy, furious features, the glitter of the candlestick in his lifted hand, and round her swirls of gray smoke.

She tried to scream, but there was a tight gag between her teeth; to spring up from the bed, only to find herself securely bound so that she could neither hand nor foot. All she could do was to struggle into a sitting posture, an achievement which tore her hair away from the material beneath with a sensation of pain. Turning to see the reason for this, she saw that it had been lying upon a folded bath towel on which were dark stains. That meant she had been wounded. This stickiness contracting her forehead and brows was blood, dried into a cake. How badly was she hurt? She could not loose her hands to explore the injury.

"How did one dispose of bodies?"

At a little distance lay her new green hat, crushed and blood smeared. It came to her that it was probably due to that protective covering that she was alive at all, she felt having deadened the blow which had struck her down. The hat had saved her—but for what? Yet surely some one would discover her, help would come soon.

She felt she must not waste a minute, but make a desperate effort to free her hands, get the choking gag out of her mouth so that she could shout for some one heard her. For a short time she fought with might and main, then presently, forced by exhaustion to give up the attempt, she fell back limp and panting. The villains had done their work thoroughly. Not only were her wrists tied, but the hands, which seemed to be strips of linen, encircled her body layer after layer up to her elbows. Similarly her legs were swathed in mummylike wrappings, while the knot which fastened the gag was so well contrived that without the use of her fingers it was hopeless to think of removing it. The struggle had left her weak and dizzy. Nausea overcame her, the room swam before her in a red haze.

When at last she recovered enough to think with some clearness, she mustered her faculties and tried to determine her whereabouts. Round her was unbroken stillness, and such sounds as came from the out of doors were muffled and faint—only distant motor horns, nothing to indicate whether she was in the neighborhood she knew or another locality altogether. However, the street noises were so far away that she concluded the room must be at the rear of a building. Beyond this she could decide nothing at all.

She must have been faint from loss of blood, for every now and then the scene clouded over and she was unable to concentrate. When, after one of these intervals of semi-stupor, fear roused her afresh, she noticed with a shock that the light, instead of increasing, was fading rapidly away. The sun was gone, swallowed up in a deepening twilight. So it was not morning, but late afternoon. Night was coming on. In a little while she would be in total darkness.

It was Saturday evening, then. A swift calculation told her she must have been here about seventeen hours. What had happened about the fire? Germaine was dead. There could be no doubt of that. The memory of the dead face lit by flickering flames came before her poignantly. Well, then, the thing could not be hushed up, the news by now must be in the papers. Did Geoffrey know? Then she remembered that he had planned to drive to Fontainebleau soon after lunch, consequently if he did not hear what had happened before that time there would be nothing to stop him. The Hardys, too—what had they thought when she failed to meet them this morning? They were on their way to Italy hours ago. In all Paris there was not a person who would miss her till it was too late.

Her brain revolted from the obvious conclusion. Shivering in every cramped muscle she lay still and strove to pray.

It was darker now. She could just make out the shapes of the furniture, and the pale rectangle of the mirror dimly visible. Alone, powerless to move or cry out, here she would have to lie like a rabbit in a snare and wait how long? Perhaps till reason deserted her. As to her ultimate fate she entertained no delusions. Since last night she was a dangerous witness, and such must be suppressed. Those murderers could not afford to let her live. No, they had killed their mistress.

How did one dispose of bodies? Safest and surest way—the Seine, that swift flowing tide which yearly carried away a toll of victims! Or would they carry her to some remote corner of the Bois de Boulogne, or the Bois de Vincennes, there to leave her for the police to find? No, they would hardly attempt that. Drowning was so much simpler.

Thus she lay with cramped body and tortured brain, freezing and burning alternately, till a merciful coma engulfed her senses and she grew indifferent to what awaited her. Hours passed and she knew nothing.

What was this new sound penetrating her consciousness, calling her persistently to reality? Music—a violin playing, not far away. She listened, straining her ears to catch the high, pure notes. Silvery and fine they soared, above a faint piano accompaniment, and with a measured rhythm. She knew at once for that of the Albeniz Tango. Where had she heard it played like that, with that identical phrasing, and with the lilting ritardando at—where she knew it would come?

Then she remembered.

Tears sprang to her eyes, her dry throat contracted as a voice whispered that this was probably the last time she would listen to music, and that never again would she feel the embrace of Geoffrey's arms. At the same time certain portions of her brain registered the knowledge that she was still within hearing range of the unseen violinist, consequently she was not far removed from her former dwelling.

Desperately she could make a noise, break a window, knock over a piece of furniture—anything! As the tango drifted on to its final cadence she began a frenzied struggle, battling hard to shift her body toward the edge of the couch. It was worse than useless. She was far too weak, nor could she move her arms to get sufficient leverage.

Ravinia Wins Fresh Laurels for 'Butterfly'

Critic Acclaims Singing of Mme. Rethberg.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

With "Madama Butterfly" Ravinia's unfailingly stimulating organization went last night into what is perhaps the most popular of Puccini's unfailingly tuneful list of lyric entertainments. Certainly it is about the most frequently sung. An appearance in the name part of "Madama Butterfly" ranks among the sopranos about like an appearance in the name part of "Carmen" among the mezzo-sopranos. But when Elisabeth Rethberg is present to do the performance as she was at Ravinia last night, why should any one look farther?

It is a joy to listen to her voice, the tone of it, the certainty and expressive quality of it, and an extra special joy when it is concerned with the luscious tunes that Puccini served up so plentifully when he wrote this score.

Perhaps you may object to the way the John Luther Long story and the David Belasco play drips and splashes in sentimentality. Puccini's music does, too, but it manages to sound better in music than in literature, and you are quite likely to forget the sentimentality and realize only the beauty when it is reproduced by the Rethberg voice.

This was the season's first appearance of Armand Tokatyan, who came before the audience in the ducks and cap of the naval lieutenant, Pinkerton. He has made quite a transformation in himself since last summer, and it has gone principally in the direction of better singing. Last night he was one of the best, direct, straightforward, ringing, of fine quality, in voice and bearing, an excellent example of the naval lieutenant in the far east. It is true that he did not look entirely American, but then Mme. Rethberg did not look entirely Japanese, so the two facts may perhaps balance and cancel each other.

Ina Bourskaya as the maid, Suzuki, and Mario Basiola as the consul, Sharpless, were the others of the main quartet of the music drama. Both were excellent, particularly Mr. Basiola, who improves in vocal demeanor each year. There was further able assistance from Lodovico Oliviero, Paclo Ananian, Giuseppe Cavadore, George Cehanovsky, and Philine Falco, and Gennaro Papi conducted in a way that let no worthy melody escape the attention of the audience.

Librarians Predict Short Existence for "Jazz Age" Fiction

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—A short life for "stark realism" in literature and for "shocking" fiction was predicted by two of the 1,500 delegates assembled here today for the annual convention of the American Library association.

L. L. Dickerson, head of the Indianapolis public library, told the gathering the greatest demands of the reading public were, in order of their popularity, for biographies, philosophy, psychology, and scientific literature which has been sufficiently humanized.

W. W. Foote, head of the library at Washington State college said: "Fiction of the day is written to shock its readers, and the more it shocks them the better they like it. I believe it is a jazz craze in literature and there is very little of it that will last."

Camp Algonquin Prepares for Big Doings on July 4

There's excitement in Camp Algonquin these days. It doesn't take news long to get around there, and the latest bulletin from Chicago has set the tenement children counting the days until July 4.

For there's to be a big celebration on Independence day. The camp will be in holiday attire, mothers and children will be dressed in their Sunday best for the parade in the morning, the party in the afternoon and, most important of all, the fireworks display at night.

For the parade children will make red, white and blue paper caps, and will carry flags. Afterward Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities which conducts the camp, will give a talk. There will be visitors from Chicago and special refreshments.

At dusk all will go to the slope overlooking the Fox river. There the 200 mothers and children who occupy the upper camp, the 200 undernourished children who will arrive in the lower camp on June 30, and the staff of counselors and camp helpers will view the fireworks spectacle.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday another 200 mothers and children will leave the crowded tenements for a two weeks' vacation in the camp. Just before they leave, the first contingent which opened the camp a week ago will return to Chicago better equipped to endure the heat of the city. It takes money to give these vacations. Your $10 will give a mother or child a first vacation away from the city. Send your gift to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

After hearing stories of Chicago's gang murders, were you anxious or backward about coming to Chicago?

Where Asked.

Convention of Rotary International.

The Answers.

Henry Clark, London, tailor—The British delegation were not a bit afraid of coming to Chicago. We regarded the tragedies that are taking place as being confined to a small circle of criminals and hope that they will soon be brought to justice. Such a wonderful city as Chicago will no doubt take steps to eliminate this bad element.

Miss Maude E. Cummard, Mesa, Ariz., teacher—I was anxious to come to Chicago but am disappointed that I haven't even seen a gangster and the worst shooting I have heard has been at the war show. From reports I rather expected to see or hear of a big murder every day I was here but it's been everything but that so far.

Elmer M. Awe, Santa Barbara, Cal., estate management—No reason why I should be shot at but I wore a tall hat just for safety. I will come to Chicago any time I get the chance and no doubt will be here for the World's Fair. We have a murder in California once in a while and I have even heard of gangsters out west.

G. C. Richardson, Brownsville, Tex., manager of Brownsville Chamber of Commerce — The stories about the Chicago gang murders had no effect whatever upon us. We are for Chicago and believe it will work itself out of this difficulty and overcome its unwarranted worldwide crime publicity. I was born in Chicago and am for the old town 100 per cent.

Guy Bogart, Beaumont, Cal., newspaper man—Although a citizen of California for eighteen years, my earlier knowledge of Chicago and faith in its progress led me to view the gang situation without alarm. My expectation of seeing a clean, orderly and friendly city is more than realized.

Dean Mathews Finds Key to Understanding of Philippine Islands

A key to the understanding of the American problem of the Philippines and England's difficulty in governing India was suggested last night by Dean Shaller Mathews of the University of Chicago divinity school. He spoke before Scottish Rite Masons at a commemoration service of St. John the Baptist at the Scottish Rite cathedral, Dearborn street and Walton place.

Dean Mathews pointed to the Jewish revolution against Roman rule in Palestine 1900 years ago and said that the rule of imperial Rome had brought prosperity to a people that never had been prosperous when they tried to govern themselves.

"Whenever a nation, unable to govern itself, falls into the receivership or control of some imperialism that brings prosperity for the first time it immediately begins to feel abused," said Dean Mathews. "This was true of the Jews in the first century and it is true of India, Corea, the Philippines, and other peoples today who, after having made failures of self-government, have come under the control of stronger nations."

THE STAGE

JUDITH ANDERSON, who was the Nina Leeds during most of the run of "Strange Interlude" at the Blackstone last winter, has been engaged by the Dramatic League of Chicago and its affiliations. She will be assigned to the leading rôle in Pirandello's "As You Wish Me." The league adds that it is having trouble in finding an American adaptor for this Italian play. Five well known dramatists have declined the commission, one of them excusing himself with the remark: "I have too much to lose! Pirandello is too clever for me!"

The league has added to its long list of English imports the names of Owen Nares and Lillian Braithwaite. The former has been a star in London for more than a decade, but has never acted in the United States. The latter appeared in Chicago three seasons ago as the mother in Noel Coward's "The Vortex." Under the league's auspices she will act with Ivor Novello's company in "A Symphony in Two Flats."

Incidentally, the Dramatic league wishes to explain why it has announced the acquisition of some twenty-seven plays when its season here requires only six. This organization is geared into similar subscription-plan schedules of plays in various other cities. At least thirteen plays are needed to carry out the plans for Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston; and the idea is to be extended into Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati and other promising points in what New York managers insist on calling "the road." "Topaze" and "Death Takes a Holiday," notable successes of the last season in New York were recently added to the schedule.

The Dramatic League of Chicago is the local manifestation of a "pool" of subscription-plan play productions, in which a number of the well established commercial managers of New York are interested. Lee Shubert is its general director. A title covering all of its activities is lacking; but that will come, no doubt, after the movement is well intrenched in its various strategic locations.

Florenz Ziegfeld, who has been out in Hollywood helping in the filming of "Whoopee," is now headed toward New York. He plans to give Broadway two new shows in the fall—"Tom, Dick, and Harry," featuring Marilyn Miller and the Astaires, and an addition to the interrupted "Follies" series. Mr. Ziegfeld will also send "Simple Simon" on tour, with Ed Wynn as its star.

Fritz Leiber's invasion of New York with the Chicago Civic Shakespeare society's company last winter has aroused an interest in the classics. Four Shakespearean productions have been announced for next season. Jed Harris will put on "Othello," with Lillian Gish as Desdemona; Eva Le Gallienne is talking about adding "Macbeth" to her repertory; Mr. Lunt and Miss Fontanne will lead a Theater Guild production of "Much Ado About Nothing"; and Jane Cowl, who was a famous Juliet four or five years ago, will play the rôle of Viola in "Twelfth Night."

Viña Delmar's novel, "Bad Girl," is now being dramatized. A New York première is scheduled for Sept. 5.

A group of members of the Lambs club have decided that the stage needs them even though the managers haven't offered them contracts. So they have formed a company called The Satirists and are rehearsing a revue to bear the title "Who Cares?" This entertainment will begin an engagement at Chanin's Forty-sixth Street theater, New York, July 7. In the cast are Florenz Ames, Frank Allworth, John Cherry, Arthur Hartley, Percy Helton, William Holbrook, Grant Mills, Robert Pitkin, Ralph Riggs, George Sweet, Sibylla Bowhan, Marjorie Seltzer, Elinor Meeker, Leonie Richter, and Jane Bowers. Chicago Women Hail Pioneer in Suffrage Fight

Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout Feted on Visit to City.

Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, to whom her friends credit the victory of women's suffrage in Illinois, came to Chicago yesterday to find herself, eleven years after, still a heroine of the suffrage movement.

Mrs. Trout, now of Jacksonville, Fla., was the guest at a luncheon of the Chicago Woman's club. She was applauded by 300 women as she revived anecdotes of the years when women fought for their rights. She also discussed prohibition, women in public office, money spent by senatorial candidates, Chicago, and gangsters. Before her remarks she was praised for her "intelligent, efficient, and persuasive work" by former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Treadwell, who presided, and others.

After declaring that she is "proud of what women have accomplished with the ballot during the last decade in the arts, professions, and business Mrs. Trout turned to the enumeration of a dozen reasons why candidates for the United States senate need to and should spend large sums in their campaigns.

"The hue and cry that has gone up in recent years over the money spent by senate candidates is positively funny," said Mrs. Trout. "If we did not want them to spend money, why did this country in 1912 adopt the seventeenth amendment, which provides for direct election of senators by the people rather than by state legislatures. That amendment was for the specific purpose of eliminating the evils of the old caucus and the arbitrary dictation of political bosses.

"How can candidates reach hundred of thousands of voters with campaign literature, rent halls for meetings, pay traveling expenses, stenographers, pay for postage, long distance telephone calls, radio hire, without spending either their own money or somebody else's?

"Dwight Morrow had to spend between $40,000 and $50,000 to reach his constituents in the little state of New Jersey. A candidate in Illinois has seven times the territory to cover that Morrow had. If a student of high finance can show how a candidate can reach the electorate of a great state without spending money it would be a most interesting study in economics. And we would like to apply it to the management of our homes and business."

Remarking about the crime situation in Chicago Mrs. Trout said that the citizens apparently have been so busy building the city that they have forgotten how to vote.

"But I am not worried over Chicago, knowing its 'I Will' spirit," she said. "When its best citizens and the press do become thoroughly aroused, as they are now, things will be settled in a satisfactory way."

Christianity Needs a New Crusade, Convention Told

Kewanee, Ill., June 24.—(AP)—The Christian world needs a twentieth century crusade against indifference, inertia and materialism, Dr. Byron L. Pontius, president of the Illinois council of religious education, said today in addressing the 38th annual convention of the Illinois Christian Endeavor society here. Rodney H. Brandon, Illinois director of public welfare, summarized his views of delinquent youth with the statement that there "has never been a Boy Scout" in Pontiac reformatory.

Noted Rembrandt Etching Is Placed in Art Institute

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Odd bits of great worth crop up at this season of the year in the current Art institute exhibits. The famous etching by Rembrandt known as the "Hundred Guilder Print" has just been hung in gallery 16 in the print rooms. This etching is probably the best known of all Rembrandt's etchings.

The actual title of it is "Christ Healing the Sick," but the descriptive caption, "Hundred Guilder Print," was bestowed upon it because when Rembrandt sold impressions of it from his plate, it brought the sum of one hundred guilders, which was an enormous price to pay in those days for an etching.

A hundred guilders is equivalent to about sixty dollars in our money. Today a good first state proof of this etching is worth $50,000. Rembrandt was one of those rare artists who met with triumphant success as an etcher as well as a painter.

Frederick Wedmore, to quote an authority, says of his work with the etching needle: "If the painted work of Rembrandt did not exist at all, and if his drawings were unknown, the three hundred etchings which he wrought during some forty years of labor would assert for him, amongst all capable judges, a claim to that place, precisely, which he is now permitted to occupy." And, as all the world knows, that place is very near the top in any list of famous artists.

During the absence of Albin Polasek, head of the department of sculpture in the Art institute school, Ruth Sherwood, who has been assistant instructor in modeling since 1921, will have charge of the day and evening classes. Mr. Polasek is leaving for Italy where he has accepted the honor and the position of being visiting professor in the American academy in Rome.

The Needlework and Textile guild of the Art institute will close its departmental activities on July 1, and resume them the first of October. In the autumn the offices of the guild will be at the north end of Allerton wing. The instructor for next year will be Miss Josephine Christie, of the Royal School of Needlework, London.

The Chicago No-jury society of artists has sent in its list of officers for the current year. Vinol M. S. Hannell is president; Fred Biesel, vice-president; Hazel Johnson Hannell, secretary, and Charles H. Cooke, treasurer.

Becomes Bride of John F. Cuneo

MRS. JOHN F. CUNEO.
[Stein Photo.]

The marriage of Miss Julia Reed Shepherd, daughter of Mrs. Josephine Morris Shepherd of Milwaukee, to John F. Cuneo took place yesterday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel church, with Msgr. Joseph J. Casey officiating. The bride and bridegroom departed for a wedding trip in the east. Mr. Cuneo, who is president of the Cuneo Press, Inc., was graduated from Yale university in 1907. He is a former commissioner of Lincoln park and a member of several Chicago clubs. Miss Shepherd is a granddaughter of the late Edward S. Shepherd, president of Crerar, Adams & Co. After Aug. 1 the Cuneos will reside at 3300 Sheridan road.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Burt J. Denman of Wilmette announce the engagement of their daughter, Bernice Lenore, to Howard Snow of Yonkers, N. Y., son of Dean Charles Henry Snow of the College of Engineering of New York university and Mrs. Snow. The announcement was made at a bridge luncheon at the Denman residence yesterday. Miss Denman attended Ferry hall, and was graduated from Mount Holyoke college this year. Mr. Snow attended Phillips academy at Andover, was graduated from New York university, and took postgraduate work at the University of California. The wedding is to take place in the fall.

Hop on Band Wagon, Gals; Long Skirts Are in Fashion

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Some of our little girls between the ages of 16 and 60 seemingly are unaware of the fact that knees are out of style and have been out for some months past. Which seems pretty unforgivable in a race that prides itself on being right up to the minute on everything.

Perhaps the skirts haven't hems that can be let down. Some of them have, though. I've seen the hems, myself, and the knees and sometimes a touch of pink panties which, in last year's landscape, was accepted philosophically enough. But why so far behind the times? Or why, to serve our beauty argument better, neglect the golden opportunity to look the season's chic? Those ultra short, knee protruding skirts are not chic. They're dowdy, as any last year hangover is apt to be dowdy.

Gestures go out of style, too, just like slang. That fumbling with the abbreviated skirt, hitch-hiking it this way and that, is an outmoded gesture. Quiet is the least that is asked in the current mode. Modesty without primness. Just an agreeable eye rest is what is asked of the 1930 summer girl.

Those knees never were restful. They were too knobby, as a rule, to do anything but make an observer wince.

Without any more scolding from us—why not drop the hemline and hop on the band wagon while the hopping is good? Cover up a few inches of the calves while at it. If they're of rare shapeliness, they'll still be suspected of their beauty with a teasing screen of tweed or chiffon. If they're not symmetrical, grab the opportunity to hide 'em away.

We're not imploring you to blossom forth in a Victorian sedateness of dress and demeanor. Just be nice, sweet looking 1930 girls, not too good for human nature's daily food—but GOOD—to look at.

A little modesty does go a long way in masculine appraisal of the femme. And if it isn't for him you're doing all the cheek tinting and figure remolding—then don't ask me to decipher for whom all the beautifying is going on. Call it feminine or what you will, but the new lure must have as an ingredient a bit of the old niceness of demeanor that men are born to expect from women.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. George, wife of Maj. Charles P. George Jr., U. S. A., and the daughter of Vice President Curtis, who with her daughter and son, Anne and Curtis, has been visiting her father, has gone on to her summer home at Siasconsett, Mass., where Maj. George will join them in another month.

Representative Fred A. Britten and Mrs. Britten of Chicago were the principal guests at a dinner given tonight by the Nicaraguan minister and Senora De Sacasa.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Berand B. McMahon have taken an apartment for the summer at 1107 Sixteenth street. Lieut. Col. McMahon is in Chicago, engaged in research work, after having been assigned for duty at De Pauw university during the winter. He has been designated to take charge of the training camp at Fort Meade, just outside Washington, and will report there on July 6.

Mrs. Frederick McCormick-Goodhart has out invitations for Thursday afternoon when she will entertain about 200 soldiers from Walter Reed hospital at a garden party at her country place, Langley Park, on the Riggs road.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parsons Erwin, formerly of Chicago, closed their place, Arbremon, and departed today for their summer home on Mackinac island, accompanied by their two small daughters, Eileen and Hope. Mrs. Erwin's mother, Mrs. Delos A. Blodgett, formerly of Grand Rapids, will close her home in a fortnight and open her smaller home at Mackinac adjoining that of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

V. M.: PROTECTIVE APPLIances over the bunion will relieve the irritation. They may be purchased in a shoe store, or may be made of felt with a hole cut in the center opposite the painful area of the bunion. The felt should be just thick enough to relieve the pressure. Tucks in Bathing Suit Simulate the Bolero

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—While Paris is hesitating between the long and short for skirt styles, beach clothes are overwhelmingly in favor of the shorts. Nothing, absolutely nothing, below the knees except beach shoes. With all this brevity—which is after all a masculine quality—Paris couples the truly feminine details of tucks and ruffles to leave no doubt that however brief the apparel, fashion is a lady.

The best bathing suit I have seen in Paris to date is the Jane Regny outfit that is shown in the sketch. The bathing suit is a one-piece with a square cut decolletage allowing you to tan evenly. It is made of hand knitted tricot that is tucked diagonally on the blouse to simulate a bolero, and down the sides of the short trunks. The tricot belt is also tucked by hand.

Over this suit, which is the exact green of the sea in color, Jane Regny places a darker green tricot beach coat. The coat has no sleeves, but it has extra wide revers from top to bottom and a little handkerchief pocket in the left rever. Big patch pockets are tacked on to the sides at the hip line. A belt gives the pinched-in-at-the-waistline effect that is so smart in the best coat circles this season.

A hat as big as a cartwheel is the smartest of beach millinery. The hat shown is given a brim that is quite narrow in front and extremely wide in back, to cover the defenseless neck against the kisses of the sun. It's trimmed with a knitted band rolled into a sort of cable and tied at the back.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Society Plans Vacation Fun for Children

BY THALIA ——.

The grown-ups in Lake Forest aren't entertaining so intently on their own occupations that they forget to provide entertainment for the children during vacation time. There is a great deal of time and attention paid to planning outdoor parties and activities for the youngsters.

Knollwood Country club is to give a children's party this afternoon with the attractions that are dearest to childish hearts, and there is to be the usual children's horseshow at the home of H. Niblacks' place on the Fourth of July, always a popular event with the young equestrians. There is a swimming every afternoon at the Winnetka, and there will be a children's meet sometime toward the Fourth of July, so that the young athletes may race and dive and display for the delight of their parents their prowess in aquatics.

The Knollwood party this afternoon is to begin at 2 o'clock when about 75 children of members and their guests will gather in the sunken garden for a show with a magician "and everything." Among those who will attend are Parker Wyman, the Everett Wymans' son; Louis and Pauline Thompson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Thompson Jr.; Mary Ann Ward, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Ward, have been at Cambridge for the last ten days to attend Mr. Ward's class reunion; Barbara Eddy, Evan Williams, Thomas E. Wilson's grandchildren; John O'Leary Jr., Earl, Robert, and Claude Reedy, and Jane and Peggy Somers.

The Woman's National Republican club is to hold a members' outing and all-day luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Turicum. Mrs. Rockefeller-McCormick's Lake Forest estate. Ruth Hanna McCormick and Cornelius J. Doyle, chairman of the Republican state central committee, are to speak at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Harry C. Holloway is chairman of the outing committee.

Mrs. W. W. Kimball, chairman of the ticket sale committee for the Oak Brook Polo club's game on Sunday afternoons and holidays, announces her assistants—Miss Dorothea Blackman, Miss Eleanor Cook, and Mrs. R. L. Hurst. The women are working in the interests of the Hinsdale Infant Welfare society, which receives the proceeds of the games. Mrs. Eldredge Murray heads the publicity committee, with Mrs. George M. Jackson, Mrs. Rosa W. McKinstry, Mrs. Ward Castle, and Mrs. W. C. Taylor working with her to promote interest in the games.

Chicagoans who have been at Baden-Baden, the health and pleasure resort in the Black forest of southern Germany, recently include Mrs. Moses J. Wentworth of 1240 Lake Shore drive and Mrs. Lawrence Williams of 6 Scott street. Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney has been taking the cure recently at Carlsbad.

Mrs. Boyd Hill of 21 East Elm street and her small daughters, Joan and Caroline, are to depart tomorrow for the east. They are to share a house at Nonquitt, Mass., with Mrs. Charles H. Fargo and her family for the summer months. Mr. Hill is to join them about July 20 for a month.

The William B. Greenlees of 70 Scott street and their daughter, Miss Isabel Greenlee, have left for the Greenlee ranch, Prado Verde, at Albuquerque, N. M., to be there for the summer.

Mrs. William B. ReQua of 200 East Chestnut street and their daughter, Miss Eloise ReQua, who have been in Europe for the last year or so, most of the time in Switzerland where Miss ReQua has been studying, landed in New York City last week. Miss ReQua, who is a Bryn Mawr graduate, stayed in the east for some visits with school friends before coming on to Chicago. The ReQuas plan to remain in town for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van Steenderen of Highland Park announce the birth of a son on Saturday last at the Highland Park hospital. Mrs. Van Steenderen was Miss Mary Kimball before her marriage, and is the daughter of the Curtis N. Kimballs.

WEDDINGS

Miss Elizabeth Condict Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Sheldon Lee of Evanston, and Gerrit David Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paterson Foster of New York City, are to be married at 8:30 o'clock this evening at the First Presbyterian church in Evanston, with a reception at the Evanston Country club following.

Miss Margaret Lee is to attend her sister as maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Virginia Tingle, Miss Ruth De Young, Miss Laura Gundlach, Mrs. George D. McConnell, Miss Mary Kroehle of Cleveland, and Miss Mona Shimmin of Phoenix, Ariz. J. H. Sheldon Lee Jr. will be best man for Mr. Foster. Allan and Winston Healy, Creighton Miller, Austin Pickard, George D. McConnell, Boyden Kinsey of Cincinnati, and Dean Marvin of New York City are to usher.

The marriage of Miss Pauline Sophia Wolff, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Wolff, to William K. Meyers, son of Mrs. Joseph Pierce Algire of Middletown, Del., will take place at 8:30 o'clock this evening at the Fortnightly, with the Rev. Walter E. Pond officiating. Miss Wolff's attendants will include Miss Margaret Sinclair as maid of honor, and Miss Georgianna Whitcomb, Miss Mary Bowes, and Mrs. Donald La Chance as bridesmaids. John McDowell is to be best man for Mr. Meyers. The ushers will be John Joseph Wade Jr., Malcolm Allen, Frank Tyson of Detroit, and Howard Wolff. W. Sterling Maxwell Jr. is to be the ring bearer.

There Is Still Time, Kids, to Try for an Invitation from Sally

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If you haven't already composed a letter that will win you an invitation to my first party of the season which is to be at White City on July 3—that's a week from tomorrow—you still have time to do so because I will not make the selections until tomorrow morning.

Do you know what you must do to be among the group of one hundred boys and girls who are to be my guests? You must write me a letter telling why you'd like to go to this party and, if you can convince me that it is the sort of grand and glorious affair that you especially like, your name will be in the list of winners which I shall print in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. It won't be hard to convince me either, because if you feel the way I do about White City you are just as anxious as you can be for Thursday, July 3, to arrive.

From the moment we arrive at the south side park until we reluctantly drag ourselves away from it there will be nothing but fun and hilarity. The park is crowded with the most thrilling rides and the funniest and most exciting places you can find anywhere. The Crystal Maze alone is an attraction that will keep you in hysterics. It is a conglomeration of doors both real and deceiving, through which you have to try to thread your way. When you get to the end you are greeted with the strangest collection of mirrors you've ever gazed into. You'll appear long, short, fat, thin, wobbly, or a bit futuristic in them.

O, it's going to be a glorious party and I don't want one of you to miss it, so get busy and write the letter that's going to let me know how much you want to be one of the lucky hundred boys and girls. Each candidate must write his or her own letter and it should include your name, address and age. Have it reach THE TRIBUNE tomorrow and then see next Sunday's paper for the list of winners.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Eugene Van Renssaelaer Thayer has returned from Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Coe and Miss Natalie Coe are eastward bound passengers on the Berengaria.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Archibald Murray returned home today on the Majestic from England, where they passed some time with their son-in-law and daughter, the Earl and Countess of Moray.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thumbull Marshall announce the birth of a daughter, Priscilla Alden Marshall, named after her great-great-great-grandmother.

Miss Eugenia Morris will depart this week for Bar Harbor to visit Miss Alice Vanderbilt Morris and will remain there until after the Fourth of July.

Marion Montgomery Becomes Bride of David Corkran Jr.

Miss Marion Montgomery, first garden bride of the season, wore a gown of eggshell satin trimmed with rosepoint lace from her mother's wedding dress for her marriage yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock to David Hudson Corkran Jr. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Montgomery of Hubbard Woods. The attendants wore long chiffon frocks in the pastel colors, and picture hats of horsehair tied with taffeta streamers, and carried bouquets of garden flowers.

Mrs. John Chappell Crawley of New York City, the matron of honor, and Miss Phyllis Bartlett, the maid of honor, wore green and orchid. The bridesmaids, Miss Betty Rogers of Allandale, Fla.; Miss Betty and Miss Barbara Harrison of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. John R. Montgomery Jr., wore blue, green, and orchid.

A LETTER FROM A MAN WHO HAS SEEN OVER TEN THOUSAND PICTURES

Dear Folks:

I've been in the show business and looking at pictures for nineteen years. I've been telling the public in Chicago about them on this page for eight years. Everybody will understand that seeing this number of pictures continually is apt to make one pretty hard-boiled and critical. The emotions do become calloused.

When they showed me the next picture at the Woods, "The Richest Man in the World," I was surprised to find myself so deeply stirred that the usual methods of copy-writing failed me; so tomorrow I am going to write a personal letter on this page to the theatre-goers of Chicago, and hope that you will read it.

These Interesting Toys Substitute for Old Time 'Busy Work'

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A booklet on Sex Education will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Today is devoted to a type of plaything that is quite the opposite of yesterday's. Instead of playthings that allow great physical activity we are going to list playthings for quiet times.

But these are not in any sense what used to be called "busy work." They are playthings which encourage mental activity and inventiveness, and at the same time require deftness and give children a chance to experiment. As many as possible will be mentioned some of which I am sure will be familiar to you. Of these, some are expensive, some are inexpensive. For the former several mothers might join forces and purses.

Large wooden beads—be sure they are large—in various colors can be strung on a shoe lace with a stiff tip. The bead must slip on easily—young fingers and budding patience must not be taxed. Of course, one end is knotted. Miss Garrison, whose book was reviewed in this column, says if you can't find the right shoe string use a length of tape with a two inch bodkin sewed at one end. Leave the children free to make their own color arrangement in stringing the beads.

The large pegboard [the small ones are an irritation] and the Montessori insets are also suitable for nursery and kindergarten children.

Older kindergarten and primary children enjoy handling and making designs with stone tiles—the kind used for floors. Tiling companies make these in different shapes, sizes and colors. The shape best liked seem to be the hexagonal and half hexagonal tiles. They can be bought in boxes.

Color cubes are interesting to young children, but must have only a word, since the toy stores are showing several good varieties of them.

The average commercial picture puzzle for even the oldest of this group [the first grade children] is a total loss—it gives a vivid demonstration of the effect of confusion and frustration on a child—but the home made ones are fine. Choose an interesting picture, paste it on a piece of compo board, press it till dry, cut it with a jig saw, shellac each piece. Cut some of the puzzles into two pieces, some into three, etc., letting the child master the simplest ones first.

One rather different puzzle is the clock puzzle made of wood and in pieces which fit together to make a clock face and hands. This is for first graders.

A box of large wooden letters is enjoyed by kindergarten and first grade children.

Other excellent play materials of this group will have to be merely listed. Among these are a printing press, a typewriter with large type for children, rubber stamps, pictures, reading and number games, and musical instruments for children's use.

Many mothers and teachers will find trouble in locating places where many of these playthings can be bought. Names and addresses will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

No Candy for Her.

Having seen a cute little girl that I was dying to meet around the hotel, where I live, I finally managed an introduction, so of course I asked her to go out with me that night. She accepted and we had a marvelous time until we arived back to the hotel. It being the night before pay day I was rather financially embarrassed, but we had been to a movie and had a lunch and I just had a lean nickel in my pocket.

I went up to buy a morning paper and asked the girl friend if she wanted anything [trying to make good impression] and you can imagine my embarrassment when she said she would have a nickel candy bar and I had but 3 cents to pay for it!

Food Talk

Oranges and lemons. They're excellent fruits—taste good and have a pleasing appearance, you'll agree. Sugar is the base of all of our sweet foods. Well, then, isn't it logical that a combination of these three things would result in a delicious sweet?

But on several sides we hear protests, "I don't like orange marmalade. It's bitter. The tough particles of orange and lemon spoil it for me."

Then, on the other hand, some discriminating person will say, "Orange marmalade when properly made is simply marvelous." And here we have suggested the reason why many people dislike orange marmalade. Too often it is not of high quality. Marmalade that is properly made gives us a clear, amber, quivery jelly, with transparent bits of orange and lemon peel suspended in it.

The first essential for success is to have a sharp knife ready for use. Select three medium sized oranges and two medium lemons. The oranges should weigh about 14 ounces and the lemons 7 ounces. Wash and dry the fruit. Cut lengthwise into sixths. Then slice the fruit crosswise into slices as thin as possible. (We like to do our slicing on a dough board.) Thick slices do not yield the maximum amount of pectin (the substance that causes the mixture to jell) and do not become transparent, and are tough.

Add five cups of water to the fruit. You may then proceed to cook up the mixture immediately, or allow it to stand over night.

Add the juices of one lemon (3 tablespoons) to the water mixture of the fruit and put on the stove to cook. Boil gently for about fifty minutes. In this time the fruit will become tender. While the fruit is cooking measure out six cups of sugar, wash seven jelly glasses and place them on the stove in a pan of water to sterilize, and place two or three small plates with teaspoons on them in the coldest part of the refrigerator. These spoons will be used as a simple test for the gelation point of the marmalade.

After the fruit pulp has been cooked remove from the fire and measure. You should have about 5 cups. If not, add water to make up this volume.

Add the sugar and stir until it is completely dissolved. Return the mixture to the stove and bring to a boil. Boil fairly vigorously, but not so hard that the mixture foams, for about twenty minutes. Remove from the flame, and test to see if marmalade is cooked sufficiently. Half fill one of the spoons which have been in the refrigerator with the marmalade. Replace in refrigerator. After five minutes take a spatula or knife and turn over the portion of marmalade. If the under side has jelled, the marmalade is done and is ready to be poured into the sterilized glasses.

If it does not jell heat the marmalade to boiling and boil three minutes longer. Repeat this test until the marmalade jells satisfactorily on the spoon. If you have a candy or jelly thermometer test with it also. The temperature of the marmalade should be about 219 degrees F. when the mixture is done.

Pour marmalade into sterilized glasses. As soon as the surface has begun to jell pour a thin layer of paraffin over the top. After the marmalade has cooled add a thicker layer of paraffin, taking care to completely seal all around the edges.

Wise Wife Doesn't Attempt to Clip Her Hubby's Wings

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Life is just one disillusion after another, is it not?

Now, we've always nursed the idea that the crickets were one happy family and that that was how they managed to keep up that merry chirp of theirs. In fact, we thought that life in cricket land was just one long sweet song. And we would have kept on thinking it, but for a brutal revelation in a current monthly by one Royal Dixon, who says that the cricket does not chirp after he has acquired a mate—and for a good reason. His wife won't let him.

The minute she becomes a wife she rends her husband's wings and breaks his fiddle so as to put him definitely out of the running. That's what the authority on cricket chirping tells us.

Now, when we hear the noise on the hearth we've got to believe it is the old girl making mockery of the poor, demoted mate, with the kids chirping in their merry little ha-has. And so we say: "There goes another fond illusion!"

But can you read that extract on cricket domestic life without wondering if Darwin wasn't mistaken about what we are descended from? He said monkeys, we're sure. But that family resemblance to Maw and Paw Cricket certainly sets you to pondering. "The minute she becomes his wife she rends her husband's wings, etc."

We fell upon that disclosure while a letter from a Mrs. Cricket in real life awaited reply. Only Mrs. Cricket's real life mate isn't giving in to having his wings clipped without a struggle. He, as a merry bachelor, had an eye for the girls and apparently the sight isn't all gone out of it yet, from Mrs. C.'s report. Only it is a harmless eye. It asks only beauty to brighten it. Any passing pretty girl picture will do. Mr. C. has no desire to follow the girl or become even remotely involved. He just likes to say, "Isn't she pretty?" Mrs. C. takes that as a reflection on her own boasted charms.

Then, Paw Cricket of this human family about which we are now talking, would like to go out one evening a week. Maw thinks she ought to be sufficient for his every evening. And so because of these and other enumerated "vices" of Paw C. there's perpetual warfare in the menage. If Mrs. Cricket can only see herself as a wing-and-fiddle wrecker, there's still hope for a merry chirp or two left for her threatened mate.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Casual inspection would seem to indicate little relationship between the raising of Kentucky thoroughbred racing colts and the dairy industry, but the Holstein-Friesian thoroughbred association says that the milk from many cows in the bluegrass country is being used to produce sturdy limbs and sound bodies for some of the greatest racers of the present day.

"Breeders of race horses have become firmly convinced that milk is the best food for a young animal," says W. J. Harris of the Kentucky college of agriculture. Central Kentucky, called the hub of thoroughbred production, is said to be the center of the practice of feeding milk to colts after weaning time.

Many big breeders who may have from 25 to as many as 100 foals which they wish to raise to maturity, do not have a supply of milk enough for the entire crop. Colts considered backward in development are then selected for the milk ration, while the others are fed on hay and grain mixtures. The usual feed for the backward colt on milk diet is from one to one and one-half gallons a day.

U. S. BIRTH RATE FOR 1929 SHOWS SHARP DECREASE

Canvass Indicates Trend Toward Smaller Families

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Visits of the stork to earth seem to have decreased sharply during the last year, fewer babies having been born in all but four out of forty-three states from which statistics have been compiled by the census bureau.

The country-wide drop in births, indicating that the modern tendency is toward smaller families, is recorded in a report issued by the census today, presenting the figures on death and infant mortality for 1929 in the birth registration area.

Illinois Shows Decline.

During 1929 in the forty-three states there were 2,142,124 births, a decrease of 78,063 or 3.6 per cent from the number occurring in the same states in 1928. The only states reporting increases in births were Arizona, Michigan, Montana, and Tennessee. Florida registered the greatest decrease, with a loss of 9.8 per cent.

Illinois families which had 168,241 children born in 1928 had only 161,241 in 1929. Births in Indiana fell from 60,289 to 58,830; in Iowa from 43,778 to 42,127; and in Wisconsin from 57,298 to 55,553. Michigan fell from 97,797 to 99,135.

Chicago like virtually every other large city in the country with increased speed and cost of living apparently making babies prohibitive res[ulted in] loss in births. In 1928 the city had 59,917 babies born in Chicago [and] 1929 only 58,800, despite a 3 per cent increase in the total population.

Figures for Chicagoland.

Comparative birth figures for Chicago and larger towns in the Chicago metropolitan area follow:

	1928	1929
Berwyn	40	40
Blue Island	40	40
Chicago Heights	45	45
Cicero	72	72
Elgin	1.87	1.87
Evanston	14	14
Maywood	2.55	2.55
Oak Park	53	53
Waukegan	1.44	1.44

The number of deaths occurring in the 43 states in 1929 was 1,113,336, which is almost identical with the number occurring in the same states in 1928.

Deaths in Illinois decreased from 90,125 to 87,788; and in Wisconsin from 31,788 to 31,287.

The infant mortality rate for the entire registration area was 1.5 lower than the corresponding rate for 1928.

Chicago's infant mortality rate showed a sharp decrease from 1928 to 60.2 in 1929.

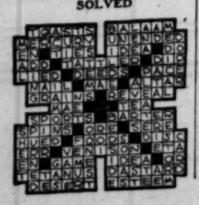
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: After the Storm

PURCHASE SIXTY FLAT BUILDING AT DRAKE-FRANKLIN

North Ill. Contracts Running Behind.

David Gowdy and John Duff have purchased the Franklin Manor apartments at the southeast corner of Franklin boulevard and Drake avenue from the Franklin Manor Building corporation for an undisclosed consideration. The structure is three stories high and contains sixty flats of three, four, and five rooms. It occupies a lot fronting 133 feet on the boulevard and 175 feet on Drake avenue.

In part payment the purchasers gave thirty-five lots in Elmhurst. The Ritchie Bond and Mortgage company represented the building corporation in yesterday's transaction, and Ira E. Honeywell was broker for the buyers. Harry A. Goldsmith was attorney for the seller and Frank T. Tollkuehn acted for the purchasers.

Building Drops Off.

The F. W. Dodge corporation reports that contracts let in northern Illinois for all types of new construction during the week from June 14 to 20 totaled $4,797,400. This brings the June total to $15,167,200, which was at the rate of $892,200 per business day. Last June the daily rate was $2,532,000. Contracts awarded in Chicago for the same week amounted to $2,505,700. They were classified as follows: Educational buildings, $1,427,200; commercial buildings, $520,500; residential buildings, $445,000, and all other nonresidential buildings, $113,000.

James McArdle sold the six flat building at 6845 Merrill avenue, lot 80x125 feet, to Margaret Meegan, taking in exchange the six apartments at the southwest corner of 55th street and Loomis avenue. John A. Funk & Co. were brokers.

Banker Buys Building.

William F. Carroll of Crown Point, Ind., has sold to George Lenz the six stores and twelve apartments at the northwest corner of 79th street and Stewart avenue, lot 133x96 feet, for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $65,000. Mr. Lenz is cashier of the 63d and Halsted State Savings bank.

The Daprato Statuary company has purchased from the Foreman State Trust and Savings bank, trustee, the property at 766 Adams street, which it has been occupying under lease. The ground fronts 100¾ feet on Adams street and 198 feet on the east line and 100 feet on the west line.

Michael Ryan, Fish Firm President, Sued by Wife

Michael J. Ryan, president of the Ryan Fish company, 55 West Wacker drive, yesterday was sued for separate maintenance in Circuit court by Mrs. Margaret Ryan, 3028 West 54th place. She charges drunkenness and misconduct.

HENRY JEWETT, NOTED ACTOR OF THE 90'S, IS DEAD

West Newton, Mass., June 24.—(AP)—Henry Jewett, actor, died today at his home, "The Branches." He was 68 years old.

Born in Australia in 1862 and before he was 20 years old he had played throughout Australia. His first appearance in the United States was in San Francisco in 1892, and the following season he became leading man for Julia Marlowe. During the season, 1894 to 1895, he was with Richard Mansfield, joining the company which was headed by Fanny Davenport the following year.

In succeeding years he played with Ada Rehan and Viola Allen.

Rites in England Today for Mrs. Colin Campbell

Santa Barbara, Cal., June 24.—[Special.]—Funeral services for Mrs. Colin Campbell, daughter of the late Levi Z. Leiter of Chicago and widow of a British army colonel, will be held in London, England, tomorrow according to cablegrams received at the Campbell ranch home near here. Mrs. Campbell died at her home in Broadstairs, England, last Sunday. It is not know here whether Mrs. Campbell's body will be brought to this country to rest beside the grave of Col. Campbell at the ranch or whether interment will take place in England.

Dr. William S. Bellows of Waukegan Dies Suddenly

Dr. William S. Bellows, 55 years old, Lake county physician for 28 years, died suddenly from heart disease yesterday at his home at 422 Water street, Waukegan. He was a member of th St. Therese hospital and the Victory Memorial hospital staffs in Waukegan.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

Chicago and vicinity—Increasing cloudiness and somewhat warmer Wednesday; followed by showers at night and possibly Thursday morning; moderate southeast winds Wednesday.

Illinois—Increasing cloudiness Wednesday, followed by showers at night in north and west portions; Thursday partly cloudy and somewhat cooler, probably showers in east and south portions.

Indiana—Fair, slightly warmer in north and central portions Wednesday; Thursday probably showers.

Wisconsin—Increasing cloudiness Wednesday, followed by showers in afternon or at night; Thursday generally fair, somewhat cooler in west portion.

GENERAL FORECAST.

The indications are for considerable cloudiness over the north central states Wednesday and Thursday with showers Wednesday from western Lake Superior south-southwestward over northwestern Missouri and northeastern Kansas, spreading eastward over much of the district on Thursday. Temperature changes will not be important.

ICELAND CHEERS AS RODNEY BRINGS BRITONS TO FETE

King and Queen Due to Arrive Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, June 24.—The British parliamentary delegation to Iceland's millenary parliament celebration arrived here today aboard the battleship Rodney. The big warship upon anchoring in the harbor of Reykjavik fired a 19 gun salute.

The delegation, consisting of three peers—Lord Marks, who accompanied Prime Minister MacDonald to America, Lords Newton and Lamington—and two members of the house of commons, Sir Robert Hamilton and R. J. Davies, was received by Iceland officials.

The Icelanders expressed their pleasure that Great Britain had sent one of her two most powerful dreadnaughts to Iceland for the millennium.

The French delegates also arrived in a warship, the cruiser Suffren. The Italians are expected tonight.

Tomorrow King Christian X. and Queen Alexandrine of Iceland and Denmark will arrive from Copenhagen in the Danish warship Niel Juel.

County folk continued to pour into this city today and the town is packed. Chief of Police Harold Jonssen, formerly a Chicago patrolman, but now chief of police has increased his force of 28 policemen by adding 40 special deputies, who will assist in patrolling the city.

Authorities are worried over the transportation from Reykjavik to Thingvellir, scene of the celebration, which opens Thursday. There are enough automobiles to carry 7,000 passengers daily, but many more visitors are expected, and even if the cars could carry them, the roads are too small. Most visitors will move to Thingvellir tomorrow night, to live in tents the rest of the week.

Now! the proven Timken Oil Burner for any size home—only complete with automatic controls.

In districts served by our factory branches, price includes complete installation of the burner. Elsewhere a moderate installation charge is made, according to local conditions.

4 out of every 5 homes report Timken Oil Heating no more expensive than hard coal

THE first thing to remember about this very popular Timken Oil Burner is that it has a heating capacity ample for homes of every size and of every type. It is the same identical Timken now being used successfully in thousands of homes.

An outstanding value

At its new low price, the Timken Oil Burner offers you an outstanding "value." It places oil heating equipment of known value, backed by one of the greatest engineering concerns of modern times, within reach of every home—and insures reliable automatic heating service at a remarkably low cost per year, and for years to come.

Amazing fuel economy

The Timken Oil Burner eliminates almost entirely the question of higher fuel cost. According to a recent countrywide canvass of Timken owners, 82.1% or 4 out of every 5 Timken heated homes are paying no more per year for fuel oil than they formerly paid for hard coal. In fact, 49.3% of owners say that it actually costs them less. And to this should be added the saving in the cost of janitor service—for firing, removing ashes, etc.

Unusually quiet and reliable

The Timken's remarkable efficiency is due to improved, simplified design. It has only one moving part. There are no mechanical complexities. Therefore, there is nothing to get out of order. Nothing to interfere with dependable service year after year. Nothing to require attention or give you the slightest concern whether you are at home or away in cold weather.

This same simplicity of design also makes possible the unusually quiet operation of the Timken. There is nothing to cause noise. Even if you have a warm air furnace you will not be annoyed by any unpleasant sound.

A small deposit now—nothing more until fall

Now is the best time of all the year to have a Timken installed. Not only because of the attractive $335.00 price, but because your household will not be inconvenienced. And you will have your Timken for cool summer days—for next fall and be ready for winter.

Only a small initial payment is required now. You may pay the balance in small monthly amounts at the start of the next heating season.

Why not settle your heating problems today for next winter and for years to come?

Be sure it is big enough

Please do not forget the importance of having sufficient heating capacity in the oil burner you select to insure winter comfort in your home. You can "get along" with a modern, small car purchased at a correspondingly small cost. But "low price" is liable to be a disastrous economy if it buys an oil burner that proves unequal to the job of keeping your home warm in severe weather, or turns out to be a "fuel hog."

See for yourself

Visit our showroom now, at the address given below. Inspect the Timken Oil Burner yourself. Ask for names of owners in this territory. Get their personal experiences and their opinions. And remember that the Timken at its low price of $335.00 is successfully heating thousands of homes of all sizes at amazingly low fuel cost—that it is sponsored by the great Timken organization. Timken Offers You These 7 Advantages

1 Low Purchase Price—available for the family of average income as well as the home of wealth.

2 Use Cheaper Grades of Oil—approved by Underwriters' Laboratories for use with either No. 1 or No. 2 Furnace Oil, either gas or electric ignition. In most localities the No. 2 oil is considerably cheaper than the No. 1.

3 Gas Pilot May Now Be Eliminated—for a moderate extra charge, the Timken burner can be equipped with electric ignition—the saving of gas will soon pay for the slight extra investment.

4 Fuel Economy—82.1% of users tell us the cost of fuel for the Timken burner is no greater than that of hard coal, and in many cases considerably less.

5 Hot Water Supply—if you have a steam or vapor heating plant, the Timken burner which heats your home can be arranged to supply domestic hot water, winter and summer, at a fuel cost considerably less than other automatic methods.

6 One Model for Any Size Home—the owner of the modest home can have the comforting assurance that he is getting exactly the same Timken burner as his more wealthy neighbor (although the latter may pay more for larger storage tank and additional accessories).

7 All installations are made by factory-trained men, either through a direct factory branch or through dealers who are required to take factory training before securing their franchise.

ODFREY LOSES ICENSE; FINED ,000 FOR FOUL

rnera, Managers Suspended.

Singer Waives Foul

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—The perplexing foul problem bobbed up again at the New York state athletic commission today when Al Singer, who bexes Sammy Mandell for the lightweight championship at the Polo grounds here July 17, asked that steps be taken to guard against an unsatisfactory ending. Singer offered to insert a clause in his contract specifying that either would accept victory through a low blow. He asked that the only punishment meted out for a low blow be loss of the round in which the punch was landed. The commission took the suggestion under advisement.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—Prize fighting in Philadelphia possesses a certain rugged charm. It is low and lowly and larcenous, and the chairman of the Pennsylvania prize fight commission, Mr. Frank Weiner, has a notion that it ever will be otherwise. Today he revoked the professional license of old George Godfrey, a fat, blue-gum Negro who fouled Primo Carnera in a bout that drew $30,000, fined Godfrey $5,000, or half his pay for the bout, and suspended the professional privileges of Primo's own company, including all his own managers and all prize fighters under contract to any of them.

These suspensions, however, were not along of any complicity in the foul, although Mr. Weiner was willing to be convinced that old George threw the low punch at a signal from Primo's corner or from his own. Old George is an obedient boy. He probably won't see much of the $5,000 awarded to him, because his manager, Mr. James Dougherty, has been saying that George is into him for a long bill of board and keep, but then George's wants are simple and a small bundle of $10 bills will do for him.

Duffy Whips Commissioner.

If the white folks told Old George to foul out for any subtle reason that may have occurred in the mysterious mental processes of prizefight managers, it wouldn't be his to reason why. But Mr. Weiner just doesn't know why Old George hit Primo those fouls, and having no evidence as to that, he couldn't very well suspend Primo and his crowd on any such account.

But during the evening, long after the prizefight it developed that Will Duffy, one of Primo's American managers, who keeps a night club on Broadway, beat up one of Mr. Weiner's deputy commissioners, one Francis Connelly, in a dispute over a routine matter. This Connelly was ordered to mind the dressing of a preliminary fighter named Jack Silvers, belonging to Mr. Duffy. The Silvers boy was to go in a six-round fight of no importance after the main event.

Mr. Connelly gave his testimony by telephone from his bed of pain. He had merely insisted that Silvers wear the prescribed type of body armor, as provided by the rules of the commission. Mr. Duffy is high strung, and he was greatly upset by the excitement of Primo's adventure with Old George. And so, it was alleged, Mr. Duffy hauled off and knocked him down and kicked him about the dressing room, assisted by Mr. Good Time Charlie Freedman, one of Primo's other managers, and when they had done kicking him they put him away in a small closet because he was becoming unsightly. Mr. Connelly's injuries were listed as abrasions of the upper lip, loosening of some teeth, and something wrong with one of his arms.

Customer Chides Weiner.

Dempsey Ponders Comeback as 35th Birthday Passes

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—William Harrison Dempsey passed the fifth milestone of his eventful life today showing unmistakable signs of returning to do something definite toward emerging from ring retirement. Dempsey always has had an eye to business. He retired from the ring years before, each time returning to collect.

"I would like to fight Primo Carnera," said Jack. "Such a battle should gross two million, and there are only two places where such a fight could be staged—Chicago and New York.

"Figure, I get offers every day, but if some one could promise three-quarters or even half a million as my end I might take a shot at it.

"All depends on whether I can get in shape. I wouldn't mind fighting him Schmeling, for that matter, if I could get in condition."

Shires Tells Solons a Few Plain Truths

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Members of congress today heard some plain words from a plain spoken man. He was Arthur (The Great) Shires.

Shires, erstwhile Chicago White Sox player and intermittent and vocal prize fighter, now first baseman with the Washington Senators, was guest at a luncheon given by the Texas house delegation in honor of four Texas players on the Washington team. The other Texans were Fred Marberry, Lloyd Brown, and Samuel West.

Called upon to make a speech, young Mr. Shires started with "I can tell you a few things whether you like them or not."

"Coming down to the capitol in the automobile some of the other boys seemed kinda nervous," he continued. "I told them not to worry because these representatives are just a big bunch of plow hands like we are, and used to have a ragged seat in their pants.'

"We know you representatives don't care what the people think about you except at election time. You are just like baseball players. We don't care what the public thinks except in the spring when a new contract is to be signed.

"Representatives and ball players can't satisfy everybody. You fellows get it around the cracker barrel in the small town like Italy and Beeville, Tex., and we get it in the papers. I've decided that you can't please everybody.

Shires declared that he was glad to meet Representative Hatton Sumners [Dem., Texas], because "he used to send us some of the congressional seeds that never came up." In his little home town of Italy, Tex., he said his parents used to make him plant the garden seeds with no results.

"Young man," Sumners replied, gravely, "you haven't the proper appreciation of the value of those worthless seeds to you. If it had not been for your getting tired of cultivating those seeds, you would be wearing out a poor man's breeches now, instead of being a great ball player."

ACTION ON STAGG PREP MEETS PUT OFF UNTIL FALL

Whether the University of Chicago will continue to conduct interscholastic basketball and track and field meets will not be determined before the opening of the fall quarter in October, Coach A. A. Stagg said last night.

"The subcommittee of the board of physical culture and athletics, which was appointed this spring by Vice President Frederic Woodward, is continuing its investigation," Coach Stagg said. "Many of the board members are out of the city and the committee can not be called together before the opening of the fall quarter."

Prof. Merle Coulter, Dr. Esmond R. Long, and Dean C. S. Boucher are members of the subcommittee.

HIGH FOOT TIES TRACK MARK IN HIBBARD VICTORY

BY FRENCH LANE.

High Foot, the Kentucky Derby future book favorite which failed at Churchill Downs a month ago, came back to the races and made good for his backers in the Hibbard handicap at Washington Park yesterday.

And as he scored his brilliant victory he tied the track record, showed his heels to the once highly regarded Tannery and six other good western 3 year olds and won in a way to indicate that he may after all have something to say about the 3 year old championship.

This wasn't an ordinary effort that High Foot turned in. He led all the way and cut out a terrific pace. At no stage of the struggle did Jockey Marcum give him a breathing spell. He ran the first quarter in :23 1-5. He had sped over six furlongs in 1:11 which is a fifth of second faster than the track record for the distance. He rounded out the mile in 1:37 2-5 to tie the record held by Misstep.

Too Much for Tannery.

When Tannery tried to keep pace for the first three-quarters of a mile High Foot whipped him so completely that he staggered and floundered in the stretch. Uncle Luther moved on past him to be second and in the final strides Culloden, from the Camden stable, caught him and dropped his nose in front for third money.

It was a determined challenge that Uncle Luther made in the final sixteenth but he was still a length back of the flying High Foot. Uncle Luther was just a nose ahead of Culloden when the official numbers went up.

High Foot was sporting the peach and green jacket of the Valley Lake stable which is the turf alias for Dick and Pat Nash of Chicago. It was the first good race he has run since he raced so impressively at New Orleans that he was made the medium of the greatest plunge of the winter in the Derby future book.

Tannery was the short priced favorite, High Foot paying $8.22 to win, $5.28 to place, and $6.40 to show. Uncle Luther paid $9.20 to place and $5.22 to show. Culloden was at $4.88 to show.

Will Meet Gallant Fox.

High Foot is not through with Gallant Fox by any means in the 3 year old championship chase. He will hook up with the Fox in the classic at Arlington. And, if he runs as he did yesterday, Gallant Fox is going to know he has been in a horse race. That goes for Whichone also.

High Foot is a rather frail chestnut and a son of Prince Pal out of the mare Belle Fair. He came out of the Hibbard in fine condition and will go immediately to Arlington to be pointed for the classic. High Foot has demonstrated that he runs his great races either over a lightning fast track or over a muddy oval.

Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable scored a double during the afternoon, Zailia, a daughter of Zev, winning the 2 year old maiden affair and Zida, another daughter of Zev, accounting for the Owens claiming purse at seven furlongs.

226 Golfers at Hullabaloo of Bob o' Link

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Two hundred and twenty-six golfers gathered at Bob o' Link yesterday for the first round of the annual Hullabaloo, which will continue this morning and afternoon and end tonight. Clubs from all corners of the Chicago district were represented, together with several from Canada, Pennsylvania, and other eastern sections.

Low net at the end of yesterday's 18 holes was held by A. J. McKay of Bob o' Link, whose handicap of 40 brought him from a gross of 93 to 63. There were 14 net scores of par 72 or under.

Burton Mudge of Knollwood and Ira L. Couch of Glen View tied for low gross with 74.

To perform this feat, Couch was forced to come home in 34, two strokes under par after having taken a 40 on the first nine. The climax came on the 18th green when his 30 foot putt for a tie found the cup. He was erratic on the 7th, 8th and 9th, but steadied as soon as he hit the turn and shot a par 5 on the tenth.

He followed this with an eagle 3, by getting on the green with a drive and an iron and sinking a 15 foot putt. He took a par 3 on the twelfth. On the next hole he laid his approach 2 inches from the pin, just missing another eagle.

Three putts gave him a 5 on the 15th but he got back to par on the next two. He three putted the 17th and made up for it with his 30 foot putt for a birdie on the last green.

To get his 74, Mudge played a steady, consistent game. Going out, he shot five holes in par, made two birdies, and was over par twice for a perfect score of 36. Coming home, he negotiated seven in par but got into trouble on the other two which brought his count to 38.

He made his birdies on the second and fifth, by sinking a 30 foot putt in the first case and an 18 footer in the second. His trouble was encountered on the 15th and 17th, where he hooked both his tee shots and was short with his second, taking fives.

Chet Williams of Bob o' Link was close behind Mudge and Couch with a 75. Frank Blossom of Shore Acres shot 76 while Art Sweet of Ridgemoor, and P. McNulty, unattached, each made 77. Leading net scores:

LOTT'S WIN OVER KINGSLEY MARKS WIMBLEDON PLAY

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, England, June 24.—George Lott of Chicago, playing on the center court at Wimbledon, showed the best tennis of the day by defeating C. H. Kingsley of Great Britain in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Lott never has played his best at Wimbledon but the Chicagoan today overcame one of Britain's ranking stars.

He was preceded by Helen Wills Moody who beat Fraulein H. Krahwinkel, Germany's third ranking woman star, 6-2, 6-1. The center stands were crowded throughout the afternoon while 66 men and women played out their rounds in the other 15 courts.

The second round of men's singles was finished at sun down. The only American failing to survive was E. O. Mather, an Oxford student, who fell before Bill Tilden in a monotonous match, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Lott's Service Wins.

Lott's service was more valuable than his drives and his lobs were equally effective against Kingsley, who repeatedly rushed the net, attempting to rake the match from the coals. Lott won the first game of the first set after trailing love—40 and then took the second from the service line. In this set he took every game he served but one.

In the fourth game of the second set Kingsley fell while trying to return a smash and Lott drove the ball into the net, declining to take advantage. In the ninth game in which Kingsley served and Lott was trailing, he too fell, giving the Briton a point. Instead of double faulting and resigning the point Kingsley served his hardest and Lott let the ball hit his racket and walked to the other side of the court, giving Kingsley the game by a point. Lott won the set by taking the next game.

In the final set, Lott took four straight games before the Briton was able to stop him. He won the last game and the match on service.

Win in Straight Sets.

All American men's singles were won in straight sets. Johnny Doeg of California beat A. L. Della Porta, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, having almost as easy a time as John Van Ryn, who beat another British player, J. L. Chamberlain, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Berkley Bell, the United States intercollegiate champion, vanquished the Czecho-Slovakian, R. Menzel, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, and Gregory Mangin defeated O. G. N. Turnbull, 6-2, 7-5, 6-0.

Wilmer Allison stood two games to five in a match with S. W. Harris of Great Britain in the second set but climbed to six all and won from that point. The score was 6-3, 8-6, 6-4.

E. D. Andrews of New Zealand repeated as the Wimbledon dark horse, defeating Jacques Brugnon, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3, 6-0. He beat Francis Hunter of the United States in the first round last year.

Other Americans who won were Elizabeth Ryan and Sarah Palfrey. Miss Ryan beat Miss H. M. Brooke of England, 6-2, 6-3, while Miss Palfrey turned back Miss B. Yorke of England, 6-1, 6-4.

KEEP CUBS IN RACE

These are six reasons why the Cubs are bounding along the National league pennant trail only two games behind the leading Robins. The team's pitching until recently has been unsteady, the infield has been hit by the loss of Hornsby and Bell, but these sluggers have kept the club in the race. English, who seems to have found his batting eye since he was transferred to third base, is the newest member of the Big Six.

Revolt Against Landis Looms as Dispute Goes to Court

Possibility of a revolt against the authority of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis loomed yesterday. The Milwaukee club of the American association filed suit in the federal court here to stop the commissioner from enforcing an order by which he directed the Milwaukee club to return a player to the St. Louis Browns.

The suit is the first directed against Landis since he was elected to office in 1920 and in some quarters is regarded as the initial move by the minors to break away from the agreement by which Landis is empowered to act as judge in their disputes. A meeting of the Class AA minors—American association, International, and Pacific Coast league—is to be held here in August, supposedly for the purpose of establishing a baseball government of their own.

Orders Bennett to St. Louis.

The player involved in the suit is Fred Bennett, now with Milwaukee. Landis ordered him to return to St. Louis on the ground that the athlete had been optioned out by the same club for a longer period than permitted by baseball law. As alternatives the Milwaukee club was told that either Bennett would have to be released outright or the option on his services transferred from the St. Louis Browns to some other major league club.

The Milwaukee club refused to accept Landis' orders and filed suit in the court of Judge George A. Carpenter. George Miller, representing the commissioner, assured the court yesterday that the order would be held in abeyence until a decision in the suit is reached. The case was continued indefinitely.

Ball Refuses to Sign.

Fifty per cent of the Milwaukee club is reported owned by Phil Ball, president of the St. Louis Browns. Ball threatened to go to court a year ago when Landis turned loose certain players on the charge they had been "covered up." The American league held a meeting to discuss Ball's contemplated move and his fellow magnates induced him to abandon his plan.

Ball is the only owner who, when Landis was placed in office, refused to attach his signature to a paper that prohibited the magnates from publicly criticizing the commissioner or summoning him to court over any decision he might hand down.

None of the baseball notables here offered to comment on the Milwaukee club's move.

CLAIMS LANDIS IS WRONG.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—(AP)—Miss Florence Killilea, part owner of the Milwaukee American association baseball club, tonight said suit was brought to stop the return of Red Bennett, Brewer outfielder, to the St. Louis Browns because Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis was "wrong in saying Bennett was optioned out twice."

Landis issued an order last week to return Bennett today on the grounds that Bennett was optioned twice and that his connection with the Brewers was not according to regulations.

Miss Killilea said the Milwaukee club considered Bennett's first connection with the Brewers as an outright sale.

Lou Nahin, vice president of the club, said the Brewers obtained Bennett from Tulsa in 1928 for $5,000 and a month later when they heard he was a poor defensive outfielder they sold him to Wichita Falls at a loss of $500.

"We didn't even give him a trial and we signed no contract with him. After a good year with Wichita Falls," he said, "Bennett was purchased by the Browns, who optioned him out to the Milwaukee club. If there's anything underhanded in that I hope we'll get the $500 back we lost on him."

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The champion Cubs and the erratic Phillies played a game of give and take yesterday at Wrigley field, with the Phils doing all of the giving and the Cubs practically all of the taking. As a result the Cubs took the second game of the series by a score of 6 to 1. The victors earned three of their runs by a legitimate attack in the third inning, but the other three were gifts which the generous Phillies presented to them in the eighth.

Along with their other troubles the Phils had to contendt with Pat Malone. The big fellow's luck wasn't of the best in the first inning, and the invaders picked up a run that probably caused them to think they were in for a profitable afternoon. After the opening chapter, however, Malone set 'em down with monotonous regularity his choicest demonstration coming in the third, when three batters succumbed on strikes. On the strength of the showing it is safe to declare that Malone finally is convinced the pennant race is under way.

Rout Elliott in Third.

Elliott was operating on the hill for the Phils when the games started, but he wasn't detained for long. A few harmless hits in the first two innings prepared him for the worst, which came in the third. Five of the first six Bruins plunked his offerings safely in this round and he didn't face any more. The change brought Lefty Smythe into service, and he did splendidly until the eighth, when his own errors, lack of control, and a blunder by Whitney gave the Cubs three runs without the aid of a hit.

Bob Osborn will work the final today, probably against Benge.

The run scored off Malone in the first round might have been avoided if Hartnett had hustled on a passed ball. Southern singled and Sherlock did the same on a short fly to center. O'Doul grounded into a forceout. Then Gabby let a pitch get away from him. He thought it was going to the stand and didn't go in pursuit. This gave Southern time to sneak home from third.

Blair Starts Rally.

Blair started the rumpus that became three runs in the Cubs' third. He singled to center and English sacrificed. Cuyler lined a one baser to right, Blair scoring. Wilson sent a double in the same direction, and Cuyler raced around to the plate. Hack tore home on a hit by Stephenson, but a good return throw would have nailed him. Then, when Gsimm singled, Elliott raised the white flag and Smythe stepped in to conclude the session with a double play.

Smythe's comics in the eighth opened with a pass to Hartnett. Beck bunted and would have been out but the pitcher heaved the ball into right field, Gabby scoring and Beck advancing to second. Malone bounced to Smythe, and he tried to nip Beck going to third, but Whitney dropped the ball. Blair forced Malone. English walked, filling the bags, and on Cuyler's tap Beck was out at the plate. Then Smythe thought he saw a chance to pick English off second, but he pegged to center field and thus let in the last two Cub runs.

Cubs Purchase Eddie Farrell from Cardinals

Dr. Eddie Farrell, who can operate as a second sacker, shortstop, or third baseman, was acquired by the Cubs yesterday from the St. Louis Cardinals at the waiver price and will don his new flannels for the first time today. McCarthy refused to waive on the player because of the Cubs' needs for an extra infielder until Hornsby recovers. Farrell and Outfielder Fisher went to the Cards this spring in the deal that moved Outfielder Roettger to the Giants.

Another deal made by the Cubs yesterday sent Bill McAfee, former University of Michigan pitcher, to the Reading team under option.

The Coe horses were in charge of Trainer Benny Creech and included Cardiso, Maya, Cesare, Black Majesty, Caesarion, Vanity, Conclave, Scots Grey, Gay Widower, Soarer, Masked Ball, Hilaria, Sweep Past and Jargon.

These thoroughbreds constitute the main division of the Coe stable. They are unloaded in good condition and are ready for a hard campaign here.

Caruso, a son of Polymelian-Sweet Music, defeated Gallant Fox in the United States Hotel stakes at Saratoga last August and will go after Gallant Fox again in the Arlington classic. Maya, Cesare and Black Majesty also are classic eligibles.

Racing Secretary Joe McLennon was advised yesterday that more than 250 other eastern horses also are en-route to Arlington and will be unloaded today and tomorrow.

Mrs. N. Fisher Wins in Parks Golf Tourney

Favorites in the women's city public parks tournament came through the first round yesterday with one exception. Mrs. Nellie Fisher of Lincoln park sprang a surprise to defeat a clubmate, Miss Marge Roesslin, 2 and 1.

Miss Edith Wallace qualified with 82 as compared to Miss Ann Conroy's 91, but it was only after a hard match that the former won, 1 up. The present champion, Mrs. Rose Marshall, had difficulty making her putter work accurately, but in spite of losing four holes on the green, she put out Mrs. M. Langer, Lincoln park, 4 and 2.

Mrs. Lillian Zech of Lincoln park defeated Mrs. Clara Morrison of Marquette, 6 and 5, and by so doing becomes a strong favorite to meet Mrs. Marshall in the finals. First round summaries:

Mrs. Lillian M. Zech, Lincoln, defeated Mrs. Clara Morrison, Marquette, 6 and 5.

Mrs. D. Cole, Edgebrook, defeated Mrs. R. A. Gibson, Jackson, 6 and 5.

Mrs. D. Fitzgerald, Marquette, defeated Mrs. E. W. Bumpus, Jackson, 4 and 3.

Notre Dame Golfer Shares Medal Honors

Oakmont, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—George T. Dunlap Jr. of Princeton holed an eight foot putt at the eighteenth green of the Oakmont Country club links to share the lead in the qualifying round of the intercollegiate championship with Lawrence Moller of Notre Dame in one of the most interesting days in collegiate golf history.

The long driving Moller, heading the Notre Dame team in its first appearance for the championship, had finished with a 77 for a 36 hole total of 153. Dunlap needed a 4 at the home hole to tie Moller, and although he sent his iron shot into a bunker at the left of the green, a beautiful recovery followed by a fine putt gave him a 4 for 75 and a tie.

Dunlap not only clung to a chance for the medal which he won undisputedly last year, but he also aided Princeton with his two round score of 153 as the Tigers won the team championship for the fourth consecutive year, having an aggregate for the four man team of 643. Yale was second with 648, while Harvard was third with 653, and Alabama fourth with 663.

Bishop Takes Lumbermen's Golf with 156

H. W. Bishop of Glen View won the Lumbermen's national golf championship yesterday at Acacia by shooting 156 for 36 holes. In the forenoon his 73 was only one over par, but he took an 83 in the afternoon.

Only about one-third of the contestants played 36 holes, the championship distance. Play for the W. J. Foye cup was match against par. The cup was won by Samuel B. Bosley of Chicago, who finished 4 down. This gave Bosley permanent possession of the cup, he having won a leg on it in 1925. The winners of the other major prizes follow:

George F. Eller, Milwaukee, 86, American Lumbermen's cup, low gross.

Tom Curlay, Chicago, 70—67—137, Boling Arthur Johnson cup, low net, 36 holes.

R. A. Lounsbury, Chicago, 96—24—72, Lumbermen's Club of Chicago cup, low net.

G. A. Hoene, Chicago, 99—27—72, Edward Hines trophy, low net for players 45 years of age and older.

H. P. Goertz, Chicago, 93—20—73, Chicago Retail Lumber Dealers' association trophy, low net.

F. M. Baker, Chicago, 88—16—72, Old Boys cup, open to members 50 years and older.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES MOVE LOWER AGAIN

Majestic Household Off 2½ Points.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Failure of Monday's rally to carry over into yesterday's trading was to most traders in La Salle street a disappointment and, as such things go, something of a surprise. Despite the opposition of market letter sentiment and speculators' hopes the market turned down again and finished the day moderately lower.

Losses incurred were small in themselves, but, coming at a time when the market has not recovered from previous hard knocks, they were deemed somewhat hard to take.

Stocks opened with some promise on the Chicago exchange, but sold off shortly after. Sales volume was down sharply. A good portion of the day's total transaction, which amounted to 225,000 shares, was completed during the first hour.

Narrow Movements.

Among the more stable issues the price movements were narrow. Middle West Utilities and Cities Service each moved within a one point margin and each finished at 27½, with losses of a fraction.

Majestic Household, which was out in front in point of volume, performed more spectacularly. Recovering around a point from its low for the day, the issue closed with a net loss of 2½ points. Transactions in Grigsby-Grunow, which amounted to about half of the total trades in Majestic, were made betwen 15⅜ and 16⅛. The final sale was made slightly above the low for the day.

Price changes in the investment trust shares, which enjoyed moderate activity, were not large. Burnham Trading, which has not been dealt in for several days, on transactions of a few hundred shares finished down around a point. Northwest Bancorporation registered a gain of 3½ points on light trade. Chicago corporation, Corporation Securities, and Manhattan Dearborn finished moderately lower.

Approve Stock Increase.

Among the miscellaneous shares, Hall Printing edged up a fraction on a few sales. Frank Warren, president of the printing concern, said yesterday, in announcing the regular dividend on the common stock, that, notwithstanding general business conditions, the company is doing a normal volume of business with satisfactory earnings.

Stockholders of the American Colortype company have approved the proposed increase in capital stock from 150,000 to 300,000 shares. Part of the capital provided will be used to acquire the American Art Works, Inc., of Coshocton, O.

HARLEY CLARKE NOW DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL TRUST

Harley L. Clarke, president of the Utilities Power and Light corporation, yesterday added to his imposing list of titles when he was elected a director of the Central Trust company. Mr. Clarke, besides being president of a host of utilities companies, recently became one of the most important figures in the motion picture industry when he became president of the Fox Film corporation.

Mr. Clarke's influence in the utilities field extends to England where the Utilities Power and Light controls the Greater London and Counties Trust, Ltd., which furnishes power and light to ninety-five cities and towns in Great Britain. Other companies of which he is president are the Interstate Power company, Central States Utilities corporation, Eastern New Jersey Power company and General Theaters Equipment, Inc.

Stockholders of the Northern Trust company yesterday ratified a proposal of the board of directors to increase the capital stock from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 and to offer the new shares at $300 each. Stockholders of record June 25 may subscribe for one new share for each two held. Subscription rights expire July 15. The stock yesterday was quoted at $725 bid, $735 asked.

CHICAGO CURB EXCHANGE STOCKS

An irregular session of the Chicago curb yesterday was featured by active trading in the common stock of Southern Union Gas following word that the first shipment of pipe had been received for the main line of Albuquerque and Santa Fe from the Kutzman field. Other gains were cut down by general liquidation in the final hour although Dixton held a one point gain.

FARM INCOME CUT BILLION BY LOWER PRICES

July Wheat Closes at 88⅜c Here.

(Grain quotations on page 29.)

American farmers face a prospective shrinkage of 1 billion 125 million dollars in income from this year's crops as compared with their crop income in 1929. This estimate was made yesterday and was based on the difference between present prices and those prevailing one year ago in grains, cotton, and live stock.

At closing time on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday July wheat, which sunk to 88⅜ cents, was 31⅜ cents lower than a year ago; corn, 17⅛ cents lower; oats, 8⅞ cents lower; barley, 6 cents lower, and rye, once a heavy demand by distilling interests, had lost 34½ cents. In New Orleans cotton was lower by $27.10 a bale.

Wheat Lowest Since 1914.

With wheat of all categories selling below $1 in every North American market, that staple stood at its lowest price since 1914-'15. Corn slumped to its lowest point since 1926, oats to its lowest since 1922.

Not since the financial depression of 1896 has rye touched the low price it reached yesterday. July rye was down to 44⅜ cents, a break of 61 cents from the high point of the season.

There was no sensational manifestation in yesterday's trading. It was a lack of a consequential support that brought prices down and brokers chimed that the break was due almost entirely to lack of support and not to aggressive selling.

Cause Is Discussed.

While the recent sensational decline in the grain market has been generally attributed to a worldwide economic condition, many operators claim that the entrance of the American farm board into the domestic market last fall has been a confidence destroying factor among both domestic and foreign buyers.

Speculators have sustained enormous losses as a result of the break of 55⅛ cents in wheat, 28.34 cents in corn, 16⅝ cents in oats and 61 cents in rye from the high points of the season, the farm board's critics point out. Press reports have suggested that the farm board and its subsidiaries, as well, have incurred heavy paper losses.

News reports have scarcely been a factor in the wheat market, the operators contend. For example, a report of deterioration yesterday in the Alberta crop of spring wheat was ignored.

Foreign Traders Not Buying.

With foreign traders showing little disposition to buy cash wheat, the already harvested crop in the southwest was pouring into elevators in increasing volume yesterday. Seven markets in Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas reported 911 cars received during the day.

Cutting of new winter wheat has begun in Nebraska and, with continued favorable weather, the operators expect that by July 4 the cutting will be general as far north as central Nebraska. The weather outlook for the southwest and Nebraska was generally fair, with not much change in temperature.

In New York, July sugar reached an all time low mark of 1¼ cents per pound. On the Chicago live stock market cattle were off $4 per 100 pounds as compared with a year ago; hogs were off $2.05, and lambs off $2.50.

ANACONDA MAY REDUCE DIVIDEND RATE THURSDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—Though it is almost certain that directors of Anaconda Copper Mining company, scheduled to meet Thursday, will vote to reduce the present annual dividend rate of $7 a share, the action of the stock today indicated nervousness as to whether a $3 or a $4 annual basis would meet the approval of directors.

In some quarters it was pointed out with a degree of certainty that the board would establish the latter figure. Shortly after the reduction in the price of copper to 14 cents a pound from the 18 cent level, at which it was pegged for a time, Chile Copper, controlled by Anaconda, reduced its annual dividend rate.

This was regarded as a forerunner for other dividend reductions, and it was thought unlikely that directors of Anaconda would continue the $7 rate. Later announcements by at least ten copper companies confirmed the predictions.

Seek to Reduce Amount of Annual Fire Losses

With nearly thirty million dollars worth of natural and created Illinois wealth lost by fire in 1929 as the leading argument for fire prevention, the insurance committee of the Illinois chamber of commerce has announced a state-wide program through more than 200 chambers of commerce to reduce this tremendous loss. An active campaign, educational and cooperative, will be carried on by the state chamber for some time prior to and during fire prevention week.

May Sales of Sheet Steel Are 204,589 Tons

New York, June 24.—(AP)—The National Association of Flat Rolled Steel Manufacturers reports that total sales of the sheet steel industry for May were 204,589 net tons. Total production was 274,220 net tons, or 73.3 per cent of capacity, and total shipments amounted to 266,434 net tons.

Hearst Makes Offer of Stock to Employes

That the Hearst publications are now financing among their employés was disclosed yesterday. In Chicago the following letter, signed by Homer Guck, the general manager of the Herald and Examiner, was circulated among the employés, and in it Mr. Guck denied that any pressure was being put on the employés to subscribe for the stock. Mr. Guck's letter follows:

"Dear Friend: Mr. Hearst is considering the issuance of stock in a proposed new corporation which will own many of his profitable enterprises. If he decides finally to issue the stock he will set aside a certain amount which will be offered to employés before any public offer is made.

For Employés and the Public.

"At the present time Mr. Hearst is the sole stockholder of all his enterprises. He has become convinced that there is a definite advantage to enterprises such as his in having the employés as well as the general public financially interested.

"The average net earnings of these properties for a period of four years has been $11,226,703.

"Under the proposed plan $50,000,000 par value preferred stock will be issued to employés and the public. Fifty million of nonpreference stock will be retained by Mr. Hearst.

"The preferred stock which is offered to you shall receive a 7 per cent dividend, which shall be cumulative before the nonpreference stock receives any return.

"After both classes of stock have participated to the extent of 7 per cent, the preferred stock shall have an additional maximum ratable participation of three per cent.

Deny Any Pressure.

"There is no obligation on the part of any employé to subscribe for stock.

"The stock will be offered to the public at par, $25 per share. It will be offered to employés at $24 per share. The stock issued to employés may be paid for in twenty-four monthly installments.

"There has been suggested a proposed maximum plan of subscription for employés as follows:

Class.	Salary.	Shares	Cost of stock
1	$1,500 and less	10	$ 240
2	Over 1,500 and not over $2,500	20	480
3	Over 2,500 and not over 4,000	40	960
4	Over 4,000 and not over 6,000	70	1,680
5	Over 6,000 and not over 10,000	130	3,120
6	Over 10,000 and not over 17,500	250	6,000
7	Over 17,500 and not over 25,000	450	10,800

"If you desire any further information or have any questions upon which you wish to be enlightened please consult me.

"Will you please indicate on the following blank your name, your department, and the number of shares you would like to secure?

"HOMER GUCK."

The blank for subscriptions was attached. The new company—Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.—was incorporated in Delaware on May 9.

The Present Securities.

In addition to the common stock, all held by Mr. Hearst, the following bond issues on Hearst properties and publications—totaling a little more than $60,000,000—are outstanding:

1. Hearst-Brisbane Properties, New York, first fee and leasehold 6s, due serially 1929 to 1942. Strauss offered $7,000,000 of these bonds in June, 1925. As of June 1, 1929, there were $6,825,000 of these bonds outstanding, and on June 1, 1930, there are to be $6,639,500 outstanding.

2. Hearst Magazines, Inc., serial debenture 6s, due serially 1929 to 1938. Halsey-Stuart offered $10,000,000 of these bonds in March, 1927. There are $8,000,000 of these bonds outstanding since March 1, 1930.

3. Hearst Publications, Inc., first and collateral trust serial 6½s, due 1929 to 1949. These bonds were offered in October, 1927, by a syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. There are $18,750,000 of these bonds outstanding.

Various Papers Bonded.

4. Detroit Times [Times Publishing company], Detroit, 6 per cent debentures, due serially September, 1931 to 1943. There are $2,500,000 of these bonds outstanding.

5. Bee-News Publishing company [Omaha] $2,500,000 6s, due 1931 to 1943; Halsey-Stuart; $2,500,000 outstanding.

6. New York Evening Journal, Inc., $10,150,000 first mortgage collateral trust 6½s, due $1,000,000 each, Dec. 1, 1929 to 1936, inclusive. There are $9,150,000 of these outstanding.

7. Evening American Publishing company [Chicago], $9,000,000 Chicago Evening American 6 per cent bonds, due July 1, 1939; $7,500,000 outstanding after July 1, 1930.

8. Illinois Publishing and Printing company [Chicago Herald and Examiner], $5,000,000 6½ per cent secured debentures, which are being offered now.

The last named issue of $5,000,000 on the Herald and Examiner was put out by Halsey, Stuart & Co. early in the spring.

RAIL EARNINGS REFLECT LEAN PERIOD IN MAY

Twelve Roads Show 27.9% Decline.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Another lean month for the railroads was indicated yesterday when the May earnings statements began to appear. However, the sad news was not unexpected, in view of the weekly freight traffic figures for that month. And the earnings figures for May made a better relative comparison with a year ago than was shown in April and March.

The first twelve carriers to report May earnings, including such big systems as the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific, showed a decline of 27.9 per cent in net operating income compared with May, 1929, the figures being $15,234,000 compared with $21,147,000. But their total of $11,758,000 for April was nearly 34 per cent under April, 1929, and March showed almost as large a comparative decline.

Gross revenues for May totaled $81,435,000, compared with $94,185,000 in May, 1929, a decline of 13.5 per cent. But, like net earnings, they improved over the $76,342,000 shown in April.

Cites Crop Outlook.

The Northern Pacific reported May net operating income of only $560,189, compared with $1,411,064 a year ago, while the Union Pacific had $1,411,329 compared with $2,439,134.

"There has been no improvement in business so far in June," President Charles Donnelly of the Northern Pacific said. "I look for a pickup in August, when crops begin to move. The crop outlook continues very good. We are spending a normal amount on maintenance."

President Carl R. Gray of the Union Pacific said current traffic is showing about the same relative decline from the corresponding periods of last year as was shown in the earlier months of 1930. Lumber, iron ore, and manufactured products are moving in smaller volume, while grain traffic has improved somewhat. C. E. Spens, vice president of the Burlington, said he expects no upturn in revenues until the new crops are harvested, and that the movement of wheat usually loosens up other kinds of traffic.

Reports Increase.

Contrary to the trend, the Chicago Great Western reported May net operating income of $152,514, a gain of $17,180, or 12.69 per cent over May, 1929. Efficiency and lower operating expenses offset decreased revenues.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended June 14 totaled 927,754 cars, a decrease of 7,893 cars from the

Trade Cycle Seen Penalty for Economic Democracy

BY SCRUTATOR.

The business cycle is one of the penalties paid for economic democracy.

If the prices of stocks, of bonds, of raw materials and consumer goods were regulable by a few highly intelligent men, if the quantity of each of these offered for sale could be controlled, there would be no great boom periods and no fits of dull depression every three years or so, with major depression at somewhat longer intervals.

The problem of the cycle is not difficult to outline. Prosperity for a whole people is real and apparent when everybody who can work and wants to work can find a job at good wages. The opposite of prosperity prevails when unemployment is markedly large. The problem itself resolves itself into the necessity of maintaining an even and high purchasing power for workers.

Freedom of Choice.

But economic democracy gives a populace complete freedom of choice as to how the individual shall spend what he earns. Exercise of this freedom acts to oppose the methods that usually are advocated as probably effective in ironing out the ups and downs of the recurrent cycles.

A suggested method is that manufacturers, instead of following the usual shutdown or reduction in forces, keep running their plants at usual capacity and store the goods until demand develops. Undoubtedly this will work if it could be certainly shown that the demand would develop. The much discussed action of the Procter & Gamble soap concern in guaranteeing practically full employment to wage earners is made possible by good management, but requires also a product subject to storage and for which the demand does not vary.

Obviously it would not be businesslike for a maker of women's hats to pile up headgear that could not be sold until a year had passed. A manufacturer of radio sets who tried to forecast how the sets he makes for the 1930-'31 season would sell in 1931-'32 would probably go broke. The element of time is as important in demand as in speculation.

The per capita use of soap and flour and sugar can be foretold with fair accuracy a year or two years ahead. Demand for any kind of styled goods is a mystery that far in future. That is why we have an overcapacity in manufacturing facilities, for average times. The management must be ready with its goods when people want them.

Lost Purchasing Power.

It is of course true that when it is discovered there is more on hand than can be readily absorbed the obvious remedy, layoff and economy, aggravates the situation. The American Federation of Labor estimates that a billion dollars of purchasing power was lost to American business in the first quarter of 1930 through unemployment.

Much as stability is to be desired, it cannot be had where the fluctuations of consumer taste govern. For this basic reason the best approach to minimizing the evil effects of the cycle is the promotion of permanent or semi-permanent improvements, the style appeal of which lasts through a number of cycles.

HUGE PACIFIC COAST UTILITY DEAL REPORTED

New York, June 24.—(AP)—The New York Herald Tribune says that on Aug. 6 stockholders of the North American company will approve a plan whereby three Pacific coast utilities will consolidate with North America in a $2,000,000,000 system.

The Pacific companies, with total assets of $1,054,000,000, are the Southern California Edison Company, Ltd., the Pacific Gas and Electric company, and the Pacific Lighting company.

Pacific Gas and Electric will first be acquired, the initial step in the planned acquisitions being an increase in North American common no par stock from 10,000,000 to 50,000,000.

R. C. A.-Victor to Take on About 7,000 Employes

New York, June 24.—(AP)—The R. C. A.-Victor corporation plans to add about 7,000 employés to its payrolls before July 1, according to reports from Philadelphia. About 20,000 employés will be needed by Aug. 1 to produce 9,000 complete radio sets daily, representing a new high peak in output.

New Tariff Brings Price Advance on Sole Leather

New York, June 24.—(AP)—A general advance of 2 cents a pound has been made in the price of sole leather following enactment of the new tariff, which places an import duty of 12½ cents on this grade.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—Publication of a batch of unfavorable railroad earnings reports for May inspired the bear element to launch a fresh attack on the stock market in the late dealings today. The selling reached rather formidable proportions in the last hour and left the list anywhere from 1 to 18 points below Monday's closing levels.

United States Steel closed at 152½, off 4 points; Consolidated Gas at 99⅝, off 6⅝; American Can at 110¼, off 5¾; New York Central at 152¼, off 6⅜; American Telephone at 203¼, off 5¼; Westinghouse at 127⅞, off 5⅛; General Electric at 64⅝, off 3⅜, and Worthington Pump at 116½, off 8½ points.

Fire At Rails.

The bears centered some of their heaviest fire against the rails and succeeded in battering virtually all the so-called investment issues of the group to new lows for the year. Southern Railway broke below par, selling at the lowest price since 1925, and Frisco sunk to the lowest level it has touched in four years. Among the leaders, Atchison closing at 199, was off 8¼, Erie at 37½ was off ⅝, Union Pacific at 205, off 2½, and Baltimore & Ohio at 98⅜, off 4⅞.

The twenty-five representative industrials figuring in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE averages showed an average decline of $9.65 a share on the day. The twenty-five railroads used in the same list were off $3.20 each, while fifty representative stocks chosen from Agriculture's NEW ALLY

ELECTRIC POWER is uniquely adapted to many kinds of farming. It can do the scattered jobs that no other agency except the human hand ever performed until electric power—mobile, divisible and subject to automatic control—became available.

Electric power can milk a cow, hatch a chick or grind feed for a pig as readily as it can drive a battleship or move millions in crowded subways.

Nature dispersed the farmer's tasks over broad acres, and in the home and barnyard his productive efforts are spread in time as well as space.

Mills and shops could always be placed near abundant and cheap power. Farms cannot be moved to power, and neither animals nor crops can be manufactured on an assembly line. Nevertheless, the American farm worker increased his output 47 per cent in the first quarter of this mechanized century, while the industrial worker scored a gain of 49 per cent.

American farmers have fed the towns, supplied the raw materials for manufacturing which gives employment to nearly half of those who sign industrial pay-rolls and devoted 50,000,000 acres to the production of exports.

If the farmer's efficiency did not match that of urban industry, the efforts of science, engineering and business leadership to better man's estate would be futile.

American agriculture has matched every productive feat of factory or railroad, excepting such as would require the farmer to move his job.

Electric power has initiated a trend toward technical equality between a large part of agriculture and manufacturing. Electric power has made it possible to place the factory nearer to the raw materials—to put the machine wherever man chooses to fabricate raw materials. At the same time, electric power has begun to perform many farm tasks.

The distributable power of the modern electric system and of the automobile and tractor began about 1910 to modify the structure and operations of both agriculture and manufacture. Agriculture shares in that technical revolution which is decentralizing factory industry.

Electric power brings to the farm a cheap, reliable and automatic substitute for human nerves and muscular power in that vast department of agricultural effort called "chores."

This kind of farm work, especially in animal husbandry, assures the best returns to the farm and the greatest benefits to the nation now, and to posterity. * * * *

Provision of power supply to small communities and to rural America on a scale equivalent to the service available in the great metropolitan centers is the achievement and responsibility of the Middle West Utilities System, a group of electric companies furnishing service to more than four thousand communities and to more than fifty thousand farms in thirty states.

The history of empowered agriculture in American industrial development is fully discussed in the booklet, "HARVESTS AND HIGHLINES," which the Middle West Utilities Company (20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois) will send upon request.

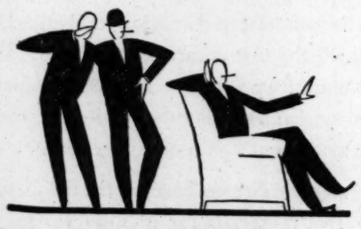
a tip for market-wise men



THIS is real "inside information." Not from somebody's brother-in-law's partner's office boy—but a "gilt-edged security"—$3 to $6 extra comfort, wear and style in every pair of Hassel's Shoes. Come to Dearborn and Van Buren and investigate for yourself. Hassel's Custom Grade Shoes that regularly sell from $8.50 to $16 are now reduced to $6.85, $7.85 and $9.85 during the twice-a-year sale. Double savings! Satisfaction guaranteed.

Butler Brothers.

I wish to receive a statement and other information about Butler Brothers stock. Do you consider it a safe investment?—T. W. H.

Butler Brothers, formerly a mail order wholesale house, has been expanding its operations by the acquisition of retail outlets. Scott Stores, Inc., was organized as a subsidiary last year to operate a retail store chain, and up to February, 1930, 48 such stores had been opened.

No statement of earnings later than that for the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, is available. Profits in that year were considerably below those of 1928. Earnings have decreased gradually since 1925.

Dividends on the common stock were discontinued after the quarterly payment of 30 cents in February, 1930, the president stating that in order to carry out the company's retail expansion program it seemed advisable to carry a larger proportion of earnings to surplus. No dividends are to be paid until after the close of 1930, at which time the company may pay a lump sum, the amount of which will be determined by earnings during the year.

There is only one class of stock and it is junior to $7,500,000 of 5 per cent debentures. Net profit last year was $1,442,453, equal to $1.27 per share on 1,128,110 no par shares, against $2,223,768, or $1.95 per share in 1928.

At the end of last year current assets were more than $27,000,000 and current liabilities were under $2,000,000. Profit and loss surplus was $7,297,282.

In view of the lower earnings, the omission of dividends, and the uncertain outcome of the company's expansion program the stock is regarded as a speculation at present.

National Leather.

Would like to know the rating of National Leather common. Also when the next dividend is due—W. J. G.

National Leather company's earnings have been unsatisfactory for several years. Dividends have been in arrears on the cumulative preferred stock since 1922 and no payments have been made on the common since 1920. Last year plants were operated under the rate of the two years preceding. The company experienced declining markets for its products and a heavy markdown of inventory was necessary at the end of last year. Results were particularly unsatisfactory in the patent leather division, in which the company has been a large producer. Net loss last year was $1,946,263, compared with net income of $108,701 in 1928. As of Dec. 27, 1929, profit and loss deficit was $4,385,880.

Both preferred and common are purely speculative.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Public offering is being made today at 100 and interest of $118,115,600 Cities Service company 5 per cent convertible debentures, due June 1, 1950, by a group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. in the west and Harris, Forbes & Co. in the east. The amount of the issue available for public subscription has been reduced by about $75,000,000, as over $45,000,000 of the debentures were subscribed for by stockholders. Between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 has been withdrawn from public offering by members of the original underwriting syndicate. Associated with Halsey, Stuart & Co. and Harris, Forbes & Co. in this offering are Harris Trust and Savings bank, Bonbright & Co., E. H. Rollins & Sons, A. B. Leach & Co., Central-Illinois company, Pearsons-Taft company, and Henry L. Doherty & Co.

Public offering is expected shortly by a syndicate headed by W. C. Langley & Co. of a new issue of 100,000 shares of no par $6 preference stock of the Philadelphia company. The proceeds will be used for investments in subsidiaries and for other corporate purposes.

The Safety State bank, Belmont avenue at Central, will celebrate its first year in business Saturday.

Under the present Federal Income Tax Law, dividends on this stock are exempt from the Normal Tax and therefore are entirely exempt from all Federal Income Taxes when such stock is held by an individual whose net income is $10,000 or less. Dividends when received by corporations are entirely exempt from all Federal Income Taxes. Under present laws, this stock is free of the Pennsylvania 4 mills tax. The Company will agree to refund, upon proper and timely application, Maryland securities tax not in excess of four and one-half mills per dollar per annum and Massachusetts income tax not in excess of six per cent per annum, to holders resident in those states.

APPLICATION WILL BE MADE TO LIST THIS $6 CUMULATIVE PREFERENCE STOCK ON THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

We summarize, in part, from a letter of Mr. Frank R. Phillips, Senior Vice-President of the Philadelphia Company, dated June 23, 1930, as follows:

Company: Philadelphia Company was organized in 1884 under the laws of Pennsylvania. It controls, through entire common stock ownership, Duquesne Light Company which does all the electric light and power business in the City of Pittsburgh and which supplies substantially all the electric light and power service in the surrounding boroughs and in the greater parts of Allegheny and Beaver counties, Pennsylvania, an area of approximately 1,000 square miles. It owns or controls through subsidiaries a gas distributing system in Pittsburgh and an extensive natural gas producing, transporting and distributing system in southwestern Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia and a substantial interest in the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company system, which systems supply the greater part of the gas consumed in Pittsburgh. The Company also controls, through stock ownership and long term leases, directly or indirectly, the electric railway system in Pittsburgh and vicinity, and owns or controls all of the stocks of subsidiaries engaged in operations supplemental to the public utility business. The population of the territory served by the Philadelphia Company system is over 1,740,000.

Capitalization: The outstanding capitalization of the Company, giving effect to the changes therein now planned, including the issuance of 100,000 shares of $6 Cumulative Preference Stock, is as follows:

RAIL INCOMES REFLECT LEAN PERIOD IN MAY

Twelve Roads Show 27.9% Decline.

preceding week and a reduction of 145,491 cars, or 13.3 per cent, from the same week in 1929.

Reports on operations of the steel industry this week show further slackening, but a recession of less than one per cent for the United States Steel corporation came as an agreeable surprise. The big leader still is running above 71 per cent, compared with about 72 per cent last week and 99 per cent a year ago. Independents now are around 61 per cent, compared with 64 per cent last week and 92 per cent a year ago. The present average for the whole industry is about 66 per cent, compared with just under 68 per cent last week and above 95 per cent a year ago.

Oil Output Rises.

The vagaries of petroleum production cropped out again last week. The daily average gross crude oil output increased 27,350 barrels to a total of 2,598,950 barrels a day, according to the American Petroleum Institute. In the preceding week a decline of 16,550 barrels a day occurred. Oklahoma was chiefly responsible for last week's upturn, with an increase of 23,900 barrels a day.

Considerable interest was aroused in Wall and La Salle streets yesterday by a forecast by Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, Chicago's largest bank.

"We will unquestionably have the usual fall upturn in business this year," he said, "but further than that it is practically impossible to predict the course of business volume and profits in the second half of the year, and until several important factors in the situation, such as crops and international relationships, become more clearly defined.

"The business situation has no definite trend with the exception of commodity prices, which are still declining. There will be no resumption of business in any comprehensive way until commodity prices strike bottom, and just when that will be depends on world-wide conditions and our rate of production."

NEBRASKA CROP REPORTS JOLT WHEAT PRICES

Reported northward spread of the 1930 wheat harvest into Nebraska gave a fresh jolt to the wheat market yesterday, knocking prices down 4c a bu. Predictions were current that a big movement of Nebraska wheat would soon develop, and fears were expressed that with no adequate outlet a material increase of the United States visible supply in the near future would result in elevator and railway congestion. Closing quotations were at the day's lowest level and were also under any records since 1914.

Wheat finished unsteady 3⅝@4c a bu below yesterday's close. Corn showed a 1@1⅜c net decline.

Fading way of active buying power here characterized the wheat market today, rather than any unusual pressure to sell. Undermining confidence of would be purchasers were indications that the marketing of newly harvested wheat in the southwest is not being restrained to any notable extent by talk that farmers are holding their wheat.

SMALL GAINS IN LARD

A break of 25 to 35 cents in hog prices affected lard values early yesterday, but offerings disappeared toward the close and the finish was at net gains of 2½ to 5c on lard, with bellies unchanged to 12½c higher. Liverpool lard was 6d lower. Exports of lard were 1,896,905 lbs. and bacon 606,000 lbs. Prices follow:

Bulk of sales, $12.45; average, $11.50.

Combined receipts at Chicago today, 8,000 cattle, 30,000 hogs and 10,000 sheep.

The hog market continued to break under low price levels were established yesterday. The extreme top was down 45c at $9.15, equaling the low since Jan. 15, 1929. Similar weights sold at $10.40 early last week. The general average declined 30c to 35c, which is only 10c above the low of 1929. There was little time to the trade in mid-session and the clearance was earlier than the preceding session. Only a few were estimated left at the close. Packers switched their orders to packing lambs, which are plentiful nearly $1.50 lower than early last week. Larger houses generally refused to pass $8.90 for best hogs and paid a total of 3,600. The five leading markets expect 61,000 today, down 12,500 a week ago.

Hog Futures Active.

Showing a comparatively slow and irregular opening yesterday, hog futures market reacted and closed steady to 10c higher than the day. July light opened at $9.30, advanced to $9.35 later. August sold at $9.40. September light opened slowly at $9.15 at the opening, but were in good demand at $9.20@9.25 later in the day.

Four car loads of September mediums sold directly before the close at $9.25, September heavy grades brought $9.20.

Unrestricted supplies halted the forward glide of cattle prices yesterday. Only 5,000 were unloaded on the market, and, for the first time in almost a month, some classes showed a slight improvement. However, accordingly to both buyers and sellers, the situation is in no condition to handle an increase in receipts.

Some dressed meat trade is carrying a surplus of beef accumulated during the last few weeks. Cows and heifers were slow, but prices were steady.

Calves were unchanged. There was little more action in the stocker and feeder division at the recent decline. Only weighty steers were absent yesterday, but choice 1,255 lb averages were obtained at $12.10. Yearlings were averaging 653 lbs sold at $10.00.

Native Lambs Decline.

After a slow and top-heavy opening yesterday, the market for native lambs slumped 25@50c and offerings were sorted more closely for culls and only buck lambs. A few "hand picked" natives reached $12.25, while bulk of closely sorted kinds sold at $12@12.50.

Western range lambs sold "straight" at $12@12.45 during the forenoon.

Both aged and yearling sheep were unchanged. Feeders were scarce, but sold slowly at weaker prices.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 22,000 hogs 10,000 sheep, against 9,558 cattle, 31,000 hogs and 14,330 sheep on the same Wednesday and 6,577 cattle, 30,000 hogs and 14,744 sheep a year ago.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter prices showed little change, while fresh eggs were easier. Cheese was steady to 1c higher with liberal receipts at a premium over Chicago. Receipts, 1 car by freight. Poultry was sold slowly, and prices were easy. Receipts, 146 cars, with 299 cars on team track.

NORTH SIDE MEN

Waiting list will soon be established for applicants seeking position with a large international organization. These lists already exist in many of the 46 countries in which we operate over 600 branch offices. We are just commencing operations in the United States, and our expansion program calls for about forty men in the Illinois territory alone.

These men will be assured of a splendid income and a remarkable future with a financially strong old company. Inasmuch as we are the only ones in our particular field, we cannot get experienced men, and the qualifications are loyalty, intelligence, and aggressiveness.

If you are selected you will be expected to start at once by attending factory branch school at our expense.

Personal interview today only from 9 to 12 and 2 to 5.
